
"War On Poverty": A Pious Fraud—The just enacted, so-called anti-poverty bill is one of the biggest hoaxes ever foisted on the people of this republic. The odd assortment of boondoggling provided by the bill will not solve the poverty problem. The program, costing $947,500,000—nearly a billion dollars—at the start and increasing every year will not end poverty or even make a dent in it, and none of its sponsors honestly expects it to. If the amount appropriated were divided equally among the 37,000,000 people the Administration says are poverty-stricken, each would get only $25.61—hardly enough to end anyone's poverty status.

"Who Could Be In Favor Of Poverty?"—The so-called anti-poverty bill was ramrodded through Congress with comparative ease, for, despite its imperfections, its demonstrated weaknesses, its wholesale wastefulness, some Members may have been fearful of being tagged as in favor of poverty—and that is what the demagogs counted on. Everyone is against poverty. To be against poverty is like taking a firm stand against man-eating sharks. No one could be opposed to a war on poverty provided of course it was a genuine campaign and not just an election-year gimmick. But a lot of people seem to sense that this "war" is a phony.

Figghting Poverty Is Not New—The Federal government in cooperation with States and local communities already has massive programs, involving the expenditures of billions of dollars, to aid the poor. Hearing the hymns of praise for this "new" program, one would never suspect that the Federal government already has two or three dozen antipoverty programs, running from school lunches to food stamps, from student loans to public works. Welfare, as an antidote to poverty, is already costing about 44 billion dollars a year, counting Federal, State and local expenditures. Of the total, the Federal government pays out more than 31 billion dollars annually. So you see, the effort to guard against poverty is not exactly picayune right now. Many of the programs are aimed at the same people which are supposed to be helped by the "new" program. The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare testified before a Congressional subcommittee that the Federal government already has "43" programs which have "a direct application to poverty."

Where Did All The Poverty Suddenly Come From?—Last year, the Administration did not come forward with a special antipoverty program. Year-before-last, no special antipoverty program! The year before that, no antipoverty program! This would indicate one of two things: either the antipoverty "war" is an election-year gimmick, a phony, or poverty has come upon the nation suddenly this year. If the latter, then what has the present Administration done or failed to do to bring on such widespead poverty? If economic despair now exists for 37,000,000 Americans, as is claimed, and the "new" antipoverty program is a "must", as is claimed, then what happened to the nation's great prosperity? Widespread poverty caused by widespread unemployment doesn't fit into the prosperity picture.

And what has the Administration done on behalf of the poor? It insisted upon a wheat program which shortly will make the cost of bread go up a penny a loaf. It insisted upon a coffee cartel which forced the price of coffee up 25%. It blocked efforts to repeal excise taxes—sales taxes—which hits the low income group the hardest. It has permitted the cost of living to reach the highest point in history,—and the cost of living is more important to the poor than it is to the well-to-do.

What's Wrong With The "Anti-poverty" Bill—The so-called anti-poverty bill is a hodgepodge of old ideas—some thoroughly discredited. Much of the bill is a revival of the leaf-raking days of the depression. About 70% of the bill is a rehash of legislative leftovers, previously turned down by Congress.

The most glaring defect is that the programs provided in the bill duplicate present Federal projects. We are now spending millions for job training in three separate programs: Vocational Education, Manpower Training, and Area Redevelopment. These should be consolidated and streamlined,—but No! this bill adds a fourth. The small business loan feature to stimulate employment, as provided in this bill, duplicates a function of the present Small Business Administration. The farm loan service as provided in this bill is already handled by the Farmers Home Administration. The "Job Corps" provision is an example of the waste and extravagance in the bill: it will cost $4,700 per year to support each enrollee.

One thing that I particularly object to about the bill is that not one cent of this many-sided bonanza is earmarked for those who need it most, the older people.

Another weakness of the bill is its provision for setting up a "poverty czar". The bill gives this "czar" sweeping and ill-defined powers which could easily be in conflict with existing programs.

Still another objectionable feature is that, under the provisions of the new bill, State and local ggovernments will be by-passed to a great extent. The legislation includes the too familiar concept of Federal power downgrading the principle of State and local participation in favor of control and direction from Washington.

The bill includes some worthwhile projects which, if singled out, I could support. However, all in all, the ill-defined programs, to be dictated by the whim and fancy of a "proverty czar," are almost heartbreaking to contemplate at a time when we should be making every dollar count. The bill attacks only the results, not the causes, of poverty. It passed without my vote.

A Constructive Program—An alternative to the Administration bill was a constructive 7-point plan proposed and expounded by the Minority members of the Joint Economic Committee. It was designed to attack the root causes of proverty, but we were outvoted by those who preferred a bonanza for boondoggling. I hold that we should sponsor practical Federal-State-local programs which will effectively treat the needs of the poor while resisting direct Federal handouts that erode away individual self-reliance and self-respect and perpetual dependency. At best, government can alleviate distress only temporarily. Any permanent solution must be through our economy.

American Way Of Combating Poverty—The free enterprise system has proved to be the way to fight poverty on a permanent basis. You see, it works like this: people, by the thousands, do without things they want, save their money, buy machines, hire men to run the machines, sell the products at a profit so they can buy more machines, and hire more men and sell more products and pay more wages and make more profit. Here is the one and only way to win the war everyone wants to win—the war on unemployment and poverty! Government nostrums have failed where they have been tried. Big Brother handouts and boondoggling are not the answer. Healthy business and industry is the answer. Let us quit badgering business and industry. Excessive taxation and government hostility toward business and industry helps kill the only thing which can provide jobs and decrease poverty. Government cannot create prosperity. Free enterprise can!

Beware.

Some people have been getting hurt when they ask for tiger paws.

Tiger paws are sold only at U.S. Royal tiger paw stores.
No place else.
We're that kind of store.
So if you buy a tire at another kind of store, you'll be buying an ordinary tire. Not tiger paws.
Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):
They were tested at 120 miles an hour for a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.
They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour for 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)
Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner as nimbly as tigers.
Want some?
Remember, we're an official U.S. Royal tiger paw store.
Any other kind of store can only give you "just as good."
And if there were tires just as good, they'd be tiger paws.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

During the past week the House of Representatvies passed a bill which would strip the Supreme Court or any Federal Court of powers to act in State reapportionment cases. This whole question of reapportionment is of vital concern to our District. As I have often noted the Sixth Congressional District is America in miniature. We have every kind of problem which confronts the entire nation.

We are a metropolitan district and we have city problems;

We are a rural district and we have farm problems;

We have the richest area in the country;

We also have areas which suffer from economic depression.

So, it is not unusual that the subject of debate in the House last week should be a matter of vital concern to the people of our District.

House Bill A Radical Solution

The proposal in Congress to take away from our Federal Courts the power to consider whether or not the people of America are properly represented in their State Legislatures and in the Congress is a very radical solution to a difficult problem. In the first place, the proposal—in the form of a bill introduced by Representative Tuck of Virginia—was brought to the Floor of the House under an unusual proceeding. The Rules Committee took it from the Judiciary Committee and advanced it to debate on the Floor without the opportunity for consideration by Committee Members and the benefits of a Committee report. I protested against this arbitrary and very unusual procedure.

As you will recall, the Rules Committee is more famous for slowing bills down than for speeding them up and, I believe, that in both cases the Rules Committee is wrong. There should be a reasonable opportunity for Members of Congress to vote on issues and this should come in the course of normal legislative procedure which includes Committee hearings and Committee reports.

Basic Issue—Rights of Citizens

When we had gone beyond the procedural point we were confronted with the very basic issues involved in the Tuck bill. I question whether it is proper for the Congress to take away from the Federal courts such a large and important area of jurisdiction. Not only do I question the policy and propriety of this move, but I question whether we, as Members of Congress, have the right to deprive the Courts and particularly the Supreme Court of passing upon the constitutionality of any question which deals with the rights of everyday American citizens. This is the important question that we were really involved in when you get beyond the lawyers' quibble. This does not mean that I do not recognize that we have a problem.

As many of you know, Senator Dirksen and Senator Mansfield have been laboring with the problem. They have been working with the members of the Justice Department Staff and seem to be approaching some sort of solution for the time being. I have not had an opportunity to study the Dirksen-Mansfield compromise in detail, but this seems to be pointing toward at least a breather—as columnist Walter Lippman noted.

Gives States The Chance To Re-Examine Own Systems

I think the States must have a chance to re-examine their own constitutional system. I believe, as stated in the Declaration of Independence, that the States should have a right to form the kind of governments that the people want. It is worth quoting the Declaration of Independence in this instance because after referring to the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, the Declaration said: "That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to affect their Safety and Happiness."

That quotation from the Declaration of Independence is, of course, not part of the organic law of our country. But it is part of our history and part of our tradition and it is worthy of being remembered.

Picture Out Of The Past

Oakland Citizens Got Their Feet Wet In 1912 Flood

Some people will do anything to get their pictures in the paper, but when this group posed knee deep in flood waters in 1912, they surely could not have known that the photograph would not be published until more than half a century later.

This scene, taken in July of 1912, shows one of the floods which inundated the Oakland business section twice in less than two weeks. Whether this was the first or second, is not known.

The view is northward up Second street. The building on the extreme left now houses Miller's Market; behind it is the Episcopal church property and across the street on the right is Hinebaugh's restaurant. The mystery is why the group should have posed so nonchalantly for the photographer, with the water swirling around them.

In the first 1912 flood, the water from Wilson Run reached a depth of 30 inches at the corner of Liberty and Green streets, and extended up to the corner of Second and Alder. All business places in this block were affected, and the water rose so rapidly, due to a heavy downpour of rain, that most merchants were unable to move their merchandise to places of safety.

The second flood, on July 24, 1912, was an aftermath of a cyclone which struck this section of the county. Wilson run again overflowed its banks, and again almost the same business places were flooded. But this time the merchants were prepared, and all floor goods were placed out of danger. Damage was less than one-fifth that of two weeks previously.

Such scenes should be a thing of the past, as well as a picture out of the past, with the completion of the dam on Wilson Run, largely on the Winters farm between Dennett Road and the Old Deer Park Road. Begun five weeks ago, it is one of several dams designed to remove danger of flood from the downtown section.

The Wilson Run Watershed association, responsible for the project, is composed of the Soil Conservation Service, the Federal government, the County Commissioners, the Mayor and Council of Oakland and all of the landowners whose property is affected. Construction work on the dam, as it appeared day before yesterday, is pictured on the front page of today's issue.

The photograph is used through the courtesy of Mary Browning, and the historical information was supplied by Henry Arnold.

To Complete Improvement In Crystal Spring Area

Members of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club are scheduled to complete the improvements in the Crystal Spring area near Mt. Lake Park, and on Monday, September 14, have arranged to have their dinner meeting there.

It is the aim of the club members to make this an attractive place for visitors and those who want to picnic there.

Several projects have been listed for the immediate future by Al Marucci, president. Plans have been formulated to fence the football field at Southern High school, which is to be completed by fall. Some of the money for this project was received through the operation of the snack stand during football games.

Marucci also appointed a committee to investigate the possibility of constructing a permanent building where the club's annual chicken barbecue may be held at the county fair. Rain during the club's dinner this year hindered attendance. While the final accounting has not been made, Marucci said the club would make a profit on the endeavor.

Money derived from this project as well as the Hallowe'en parade and celebration and other projects are used by the club for charitable work.

Case Is Postponed 2nd Time in Court

A motor vehicle case involving a collision between an automobile and a motorcycle was postponed for the second time, and now has been set for Wednesday, September 16.

The collision occurred Sunday, August 9, Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, heading east on Crook street, attempted to cross Third street when she was struck by a motorcycle, driven by William Oliver Martin, Bentleyville, Pa. Accompanying him was his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Arbelle Martin. Mrs. Martin sustained a broken arm.

Trooper Ronald Lewis issued a traffic violation ticket for Mrs. Baumgartner for failing to grant right of way. A hearing was scheduled before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney for Monday, August 17. It was later postponed until Monday, August 24.

The Martins drove to Oakland on August 24 from Bentleyville to be present as witnesses at the hearing, only to learn that the hearing had again been postponed through an agreement with Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney and W. Dwight Stover, attorney for Mrs. Baumgartner. But the magistrate, Trooper Lewis and the Martins had not been notified of the postponement, due to a misunderstanding, according to State's Attorney Thayer.

Accordingly it was reset for September 16.

Eight Other Cases

Eight other people were apprehended for alleged motor vehicle violations and were placed on file in the magistrate's office.

Richard Lee Mattingly, Oakland, failure to properly signal, entered a plea of not guilty but was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. The fine and costs were suspended.

James Robert Roslund, East Liverpool, O., pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to reduce speed to prevent collision but was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. The fine and costs were suspended.

Jackson Elwood Thomas, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to give way to the right for traffic to pass but was found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

Parke William Tressler, Oakland pleaded guilty to charges, on the first, failure to destroy expired temporary tags he was fined $15 and costs and given 15 days in jail in default of payment. On the second charge of an owner permitting a vehicle to be operated in violation, he received another fine of $15 and costs and an additional 15 days in jail in default of payment.

Gene Alton Llewellyn, Barton, also entered guilty pleas to two charges. On the first, exceeding 30 miles per hour in a restricted zone he was fined $10 and costs. On the second, that of failure to obey a summons to appear, he was fined an additional $10 and costs.

Paul Vernon Clary, Union Mills, Ind., forfeited collateral of $10 and costs on a charge of reckless driving. Clary collided with two parked automobiles on Oak street last Saturday night. The cars were owned by Denzil Hile and Louis Michael. No one was injured.

Earl William Railey, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with inadequate exhaust and was fined $5 and costs.

Craig Lee Sweitzer, Oakland, forfeited collateral of $10 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with expired registration plates.

No. 5320 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County.
Maryland

Order of Publication

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill recites that the marriage of the said parties was performed on the 4th day of August, 1945, at Oakland, Maryland; that the plaintiff is and has been a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, for more than one year; that the defendant's whereabouts is unknown; that no children have been born of this marriage; that the defendant without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff during the month of November, 1953, and has not lived nor cohabited since that time, and said separation is deliberate and final and beyond reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

Weese-Hershberger Nuptials Are Held

The United Church of Christ, Grantsville, was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon August 15th at 3 p. m. of Sandra Sue Hershberger, Grantsville, and Samuel Homes Weese, Morgantown, West Virginia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Weese, Morgantown. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hershberger, Grantsville.

Rev. Wm. Borch officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with baskets of white chryanthemums, carnations, gladioli, palms, ferns and lighted candelabra.

An organ recital by Mrs. Thomas Fife, Grantsville, preceded the service. She also accompanied Mrs. Olen Rembold, Springs, Pa., who sang O Perfect Love, O Promise Me, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white silk with hand embroidered flowers, accented with white pearl leaves. The bridal gown styled with a Sabrina neckline, had garnitures of hand embroidered flowers of tiny pearls throughout and at the wrists of the gown. A chapel train fell from a waistline bow, softened by a fingertip veil of Swedish illusion, held to a crown of crystals and white pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white stephanotis.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Nancy Hershberger, Grantsville. She was attired in a green satin floor length gown with a green satin rose with veil for head piece, carrying a bouquet of gold carnations.

Her bridesmaids were Bonnie Harman, Baltimore, and Donna Manzelli, Uniontown, Pa. They wore floor length gowns of gold, fashioned over the same lines as that of the maid of honor with rose, with veil as head pieces. They each carried a bouquet of green carnations.

Ring bearer for his sister was Johnny Hershberger.

For the occasion the mother of the bride was attired in a pastel pink sheath dress with matching jacket, and matching accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. The groom's mother wore a light blue dress and white accessories and had a corsage of a white orchid.

Dick Lundy, Idaho, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Don Wright, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Clyde Nixon, Philadelphia, Pa.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Antons, Big Savage Restaurant, Frostburg. A buffet luncheon was served to 185 guests. Roses were used in the decoration of the dining room.

The tiered wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Orpha Meyers and she also served the cake. Mrs. Pearl Stanton presided at the punch bowl.

Out of town guests were from Morgantown, Elkins, Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and Pittsburgh. Among the guests were Miss Patty Petty, Dean of Women, Dr. Hunter Davis, and Dr. and Mrs. Marshal, Board of Trustees Elkins, West Virginia, and General and Mrs. Wm. H. Powell, Alexandria, Virginia.

For traveling the bride chose a brown and white sheath dress with matching street length coat, and white accessories. They honeymooned at Cape Cod, Massachusetts and in New England States.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High, and of Davis and Elkins College. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and of the Women's Athletic association. She was employed as a technician in cancer research at University Hospital, Baltimore.

The groom is a graduate of the College of Commerce, West Virginia, where he obtained his master's degree in business administration. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity. He was a member of the faculty at Davis and Elkins college in the department of economics and business. He will attend school at University of Philadelphia, Penna., to obtain his Ph.D. degree.

The couple will reside in Philadelphia.

Heavy Bidding On Bloomington Dam

Considerable bidding interest has been shown for preliminary work on the proposed Bloomington dam project for which $350,000 in federal tax funds has been approved for planning.

At least 15 firms from Oklahoma to New York already have submitted bids for what the Army Corps of Engineers has advertised as foundation and boring exploration. The date for opening bids has been changed to September 16 at 3 p. m., at the army engineers district office in Baltimore.

The reservoir is to be located on the Potomac river above Bloomington, upstream from Barnum, W. Va., and extending farther upstream to near Kitzmiller.

No nearby firms are among the published list of 15 bidders.

Functions of the proposed multi-purpose dam will be flood control, an increased water supply and water quality control, with recreation as a side enterprise.

The project was authorized by the 1962 flood control act of Congress. Legislation provides that one-third of the cost for providing the dam must be paid by someone other than the federal government.

Efforts have been under way to have both West Virginia and Maryland become the local interest in the project's financing as it will be straddling both states.

The dam is designed to provide for the immediate and projected future requirements of the North Branch area to about the year 1990; prevent about 42 percent of the average annual flood damage along the North branch; provide additional water for the Washington metropolitan area.

The corps of engineers has stated that foundation preparation would be extensive and would require the removal of a considerable amount of overburden and unsuitable rock. It also stated that soil mantle near the site should provide ample material for embankment construction. Initial construction costs for the entire project have been estimated in excess of $50 million.

Thirteen Are Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police. Four of those killed were drivers; four were passengers; and five were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributingg factor in seven of the deaths; speed in six; and "driver error" was present in eight of the fatalities.

"No matter how many variables are involved in the highway fatality picture each week," commented Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the State Police, "it is almost a certainty that alcohol will be a principal contributing factor. Last week was no exception - alcohol played a substantial role in more than half of the deaths on Maryland highways.

"This is certainly a very serious problem, and, at the moment, we can't be very optimistic about any improvement in the situation. We have only two choices. We can complacently accept the situation as being one of the built-in hazards of highway travel OR we can go all-out in our efforts to see that effective measures are established to control the drinking driver. Which of the two choices are we going to take?"

Downhill Is Easier....

It was no doubt satisfying to President Johnson that two Texas newspapers rallied to his banner. Associated Press listed them as the Houston Post which has not approved a Democratic standard-bearer since FDR, and the Dallas Times-Herald which was in Nixon's corner in 1960.

The AP quotes an editorial in the Houston Post as saying: "The choice between the two Presidential candidates that the Nation will make in November is nothing less than a choice about the whole basic quality of our national life in the next four years. The choice is a clear one. The Post believes that President Lyndon Johnson is the best qualified to lead this country." We of course disagree.

We couldn't agree more that the choice involves "the whole basic quality of our national life in the next four years" —and perhaps much, much longer! Nor can there be any question that President Johnson is best qualified to lead the nation down the primrose path to paternalism, socialism, the police state, and that path of deficit spending. As he, himself, said at the White House last January 15: "We are going to try to take money that we think is unnecessarily being spent and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have nots' that need it so much."

In view of the continued deficit spending, expanding extravagance, further elevation of the debt ceiling, the billion

County Expected To Receive $567,946.77 During This Fiscal Year

Garrett county received $664,855.06 from the State Roads commission in the fiscal year which ended June 30 from the gasoline tax fund and the motor vehicle revenue fund.

This information was contained in a letter sent to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners by C. L. Wannen, comptroller of the State Roads commission. Some $561,466.54 came from the county's share of the gasoline tax fund and $103,388.52 representing the county's share of Motor Vehicle revenue fund.

In the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964, based on the 1965 fiscal digest, the revenues accruing to the county are expected to be $567,946.77 from the gasoline tax fund and $104,315.60 from the Motor Vehicle revenue fund, for a total of $672,262.37.

Mr. Wannen's letter provided a month by month estimate of what the county could expect from these two sources. The peak would be reached next April when $109,847.67 can be expected. March's total may reach $103,998.99. These two months are the period when most automobile and truck owners purchase new state license tags.

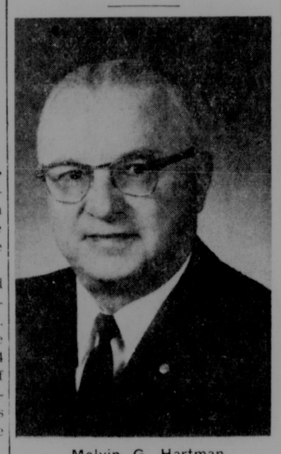
The monthly estimates:

July, $48,402.89; August, $49,411.28; September, $44,100.41; October, $39,461.80; November, $46,386.10; December, $40,940.78; January, $44,167.64; February $38,587.86; March, $103,998.99; April, $109,847.67; May, $59,898.58; June, $47,058.37.

To pay for the debt service for the fiscal year, the SRC will deduct $148,321.04. Forty percent is to be deducted in March, 1965, 40 percent in April, 1965, and 20 percent in May, 1965, on basis of revenues for those months.

Mr. Warren said he trusted this information would prove helpful to the commissioners in planning their county road work.

Rotary Governor To Visit Groups



Melvin G. Hartman

Melvin G. Hartman, governor of Rotary district 735, of Martinsburg, Pa., will pay his official visit to Garrett county clubs within the next three weeks. He will visit the Oakland club Friday, September 18, and will be the speaker at that session beginning at 6:15 o'clock.

He also will hold a club assembly of officers, directors, committee chairmen immediately following the regular meeting.

Accompanied by his wife he will visit various points of interest in the area during the day.

Mr. Hartman has been with the post office department since 1921, and postmaster at Martinsburg since 1938. From 1935 until 1940 he owned and published a weekly newspaper in Blair county. An active Rotarian since 1946 he served as president of the Martinsburg club 1950 and 1951 and held other positions. He has been active in civic and religious groups, is a member of several Masonic bodies and the United Church of Christ.

For the meeting this Friday, September 4, Sally Hoffman will give a resume of her trip to Austria this past summer. Ernest Gregg, chairman for September, will be in charge.

Last Friday James Rook, president of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, gave a report on the activities of that organization. He listed the new industries in which the chamber participated as Sterling Processing, Inc., Gordon Douglass Boat company, Harco Lumber company, Sher-wood Products, Sherman Enterprises, Sylvan Manufacturing, Inc., and Wood Products, Inc.

These new industries made 220 new jobs and the value of plant equipment at present is $1,110,000.

The Chamber now has available over 12 acres of land for expansion of present industries or location of new industries.

Episcopal Church Is Planning For New Building Program

Plans are now under way by St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Oakland to make use of the newly acquired property on Liberty street, and to continue with plans for remodeling the stone church.

The church recently took possession of the Bell property adjacent to the Old Stone church, and the officials plan to make use of the building until a more permanent parish house can be constructed.

St. Matthew's has appointed a building committee for remodeling the stone church, formerly known as the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church. It was deeded to the Episcopal congregation in December, 1962, but the building was abandoned, pending definite plans to restore it.

The Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, rector, said it also had been necessary to hold off remodeling until sufficient funds could be raised to do the necessary repair work.

James J. Chapman, Jr., Hagerstown architect, has been selected to draw up plans for the over-all church plant and plans have been

Don Reynolds Home Destroyed by Fire

The remodeled farm home of Don B. Reynolds, Silver Spring insurance man and real estate promoter in this county, was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday night about 10 o'clock. The home was located north of Gregg church, just off U. S. route 219.

Mr. Reynolds had been at his home earlier in the day, but at the time of the blaze, there was no one at home.

The Oakland firemen were called but the flames had enveloped the house completely before the truck made the twelve-mile run to the property. Mr. Reynolds had spent several thousand dollars in remodeling the building last year. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Another call, not previously reported, occurred on August 25, around 5:30 p. m., because of an overheated flue in a building occupied by Elmer Elliott and owned by Harvey Brothers, near the Oakland Boy Scout camp. There was no loss on the building.

Southern Has 1,244, Northern 820; Total Largest In Many Years

Garrett county public schools opened for the 1964-65 term with an enrollment of 5,032, the largest beginning enrollment in many years. The figure was 122 more than the first day last year. The figure last year for the first day was 107 over the previous opening day, indicating that the population in this area is definitely increasing.

The doors opened for a full day of instruction on Wednesday with no transportation difficulties and very little confusion, in spite of the increase in enrollment in a number of schools. Northern High had twenty more than on opening day last year.

Southern showed nine less, but there was a change in some seventh grade sections which made a big difference. Two more classrooms were added to the Dennett Road school this year, and 58 seventh grade students are attending there. They are being taught by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller. Mr. Miller, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan college, has been teaching at the University of Maryland. Mrs. Miller was graduated this past June from the University of Maryland.

Enrollment was up in nine schools, North Glade, Grantsville, Yoder, Bloomington, Swan Meadow, Red House, Center street, Loch Lynn, and Northern. Counting the seventh graders the enrollment also was up in Dennett Road school.

Englander Pharmacy Is Being Enlarged

Work began this week on enlargement of the Englander Pharmacy, corner of Second and Alder streets. Contractor is William A. Shirer, of Oakland.

The addition to the pharmacy will be 40 by 80 feet, one story, and will be brick veneer. The new section is expected to be completed by the first of the year. The area being used by the owner is now being used as a parking lot, and a terminal for the Morgantown-Cumberland bus line.

C. W. Englander, owner, said the present structure would be used exclusively for drugs and cosmetics, while the addition would be used for sundries, gift items and miscellaneous merchandise.

Also started this week was the demolition of the City Roller Mills on Green street, to make way for a drive-in bank facility for the Garrett National Bank in Oakland plus a customer parking lot.

A. Leo Helbig, former owner, closed out his stock of merchandise and concluded his business one day last week. The building had been a landmark in Oakland since 1894, having been constructed by George Mason and used as a feed mill before the turn of the century.

At the time of the purchase about the middle of July bank officials said they planned a fall opening of the branch facility.

Firemen Respond To A Strange Mission

Oakland firemen are called upon to do many things beside answer fire alarms, accidental drownings, and the like, but last Friday was the first time they had ever been called to water down hogs, to keep them from possible suffocation from the heat. But they carried out the mission successfully.

The entry on the fire record at the fire hall was one to arouse curiosity. The entry stated that there had been a call from the B. and O. station around 2:25 p. m., on Friday, August 28, asking if it would be possible to water down eight carload of hogs. The railroad official promised they would slow down the train considerably, and "would the department send a truck to the city parking lot and as the cars went by, spray the hogs with water". The railroad officials were fearful that the hogs were getting too hot and might suffocate.

Fire chief John Sharps and three other firemen obliged. They took the truck to the parking lot and as the train went slowly by they turned one spray of water on the upper tier of the cattle cars and another spray on the lower tier. Thus the eight carloads of hogs were "watered down" sufficiently to allow them to continue to eastern markets for eventual slaughter. At least they arrived in good condition.

Profile In Courage . . .

In the introduction to his book, "Profiles In Courage", John F. Kennedy wrote, "This is a book about that most admirable of human virtues—courage. 'Grace under pressure,' Ernest Hemingway defined it. And these are the stories of the pressures experienced by eight United States senators and the grace with which they endured them—the risks of their careers, the unpopularity of their courses, the defamation of their characters, and sometimes, but sadly only sometimes, the vindication of their reputations and their principles".

Each of Mr. Kennedy's heroes was a man whose "desire to win or maintain a reputation for integrity and courage was stronger than his desire to maintain his office—because his conscience, his personal standard of ethics, his integrity, or morality was stronger than the pressures of public disapproval—because his faith that his course was the best one, and would ultimately be vindicated, outweighed his fear of public reprisal."

So the great of the American past, from John Quincy Adams to Robert Taft, can now move over to make way for a newcomer. When Sen. Barry Goldwater stood in his loneliness to say that, for the sake of the Constitution and the consequences he feared would flow from the legislation, he could not in conscience vote for the civil rights bill, he was entitled to the admiration of even his enemies.

Here was a man who was within reaching distance of the Presidential nomination of his party. He put that stake and his own high hopes on the line without flinching. He gave his opponents the weapon for which they had been looking to attack his motives, his character, and his candidacy. He chose to live with himself and to honor his oath to support and defend the Constitution even if he risked the alienation of powerful voting groups and the displeasure of party colleagues whose political favor he could have had by easy submission to the majority.

He faced the consequences and accepted them. "If my vote is misconstrued," he said, "let it be, and let me suffer its consequences. Just let me be judged in this in the real concern I have voiced here and not by words that others may speak or by what others may say about what I think".

Even the most partisan and hostile critics of the senator did not question his sincerity or the depth of his conviction, for Goldwater's record on racial relations is too extended and too clear to permit any aspersions on his reasons for refusing to take the easy way out. He spoke with irony of "the sledgehammer political tactics" with which the legislation had been rammed thru "what was once considered to be the greatest deliberative body on earth," and he bluntly recited the evil fruits he foresaw from its enactment and future enforcement

Thus, he said, the legislation did violence to the Constitution, to the concept of 50 sovereign states, and to the reserved rights of those states and of the people. He predicted it would give rise to a mammoth federal police force, to an "informer" psychology which would turn neighbor against neighbor, worker against worker, and business man against business man. These, he said, were the hallmarks of the police state and landmarks in the destruction of a free society.

It is a strange coincidence that Sen. Goldwater's appraisal of the civil rights bill came at the very time that a leader in the rights movement was downgrading the legislation as a rubber stamp measure which would have little practical effect and would not satisfy the requirements of his following.

It is not the practice of this newspaper to get into Republican primary fights. It is our interest to present the picture. Today we are pleased to present the picture of a man who would rather be right than President—and could be both. —Chicago Tribune.

5,032 Enroll

ness for a smooth operation the first day.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said that possibly an additional 100 students would be enrolled by next week, which would put the total above 5,100.

The breakdown of enrollment at Southern high school showed 660 boys and 573 girls, plus an additional 17 who had entered later in the morning, and although on the total supplied by the superintendent's office, were not designated as to class or sex.

The seventh grade had 90 boys and 87 girls for 177; 8th, 121 boys and 103 girls for 224; 9th, 122 boys and 99 girls for 221; 10th, 126 boys and 82 girls for 208; 11th, 111 boys and 104 girls for 215; and 12th, 87 boys and 95 girls for 182; total 660 boys and 573 girls, for a total of 1,227, and the 17 additional students for a total of 1,244.

The breakdown at Northern High showed the following figures: 405 boys and 413 girls in the six grades.

St. Peter's parochial school does not open until next Wednesday and some 100 students are expected to be enrolled there.

Teets Gets Contract

Ray Teets garage was awarded the contract for providing seven new dump trucks for the County Roads department. The Oakland garage was low bidder among seven. The price was $5,949 per truck. Other bids and the bidders were Grantsville garage, $6,100; Motor Service, Grantsville, $6,244.20; Shaffer Ford Sales, Oakland, $6,195; Casselman Motor, Grantsville, $6,023.83; Ralph Pritts garage, Oakland, $6,039.95; Mt. Top Equipment, Deer Park, $5,959. The contract was awarded on August 31.

The roads department announced this week that because of an opportunity to use road equipment for private work within the past two weeks, some private driveways had been screened and oiled. The county is paid for the material, cluded three diveways in the Dennett Road area and six driveways at Golf Crest Manor.

Clayton Smith, assistant county roads engineer, said a resolution was passed this spring against doing any further road work for municipalities or private citizens because there was not enough time under a planned program of road maintenance for the county system. However, there happened to be a period when the road equipment was not being used, he said and it was made available to those who needed it at the time it was available.

mated cost of $30,000. Englander, with representatives of two bus lines, requested permission to "bag" two parking meters on Second street at the Englander parking lot, for use by the companies in loading and discharging passengers.

An experimental plan was approved, whereby the meters would be reserved for bus use during the time of their arrival and departure only.

Permission to use town equipment was approved for James Lewis, at his residence; Rolyans at the parking lot on Third street and Shaffer Ford sales on Third street.

In Days Past

By PAT SACHER

Twenty Years Ago

Garrett County's first case of infantile paralysis was fatal to Warren Myers, 19, of near Kitzmiller. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper C. Myers, had been ill less than a week when he died in a Morgantown, W. Va., hospital.

Wendell Umbel of near Friendsville was recognized for his outstanding F. F. A. work in high school and a farming program now in operation. The $100 prize for placing second in the State of Maryland was awarded by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., which conducted the contest.

Some 35,000 servicemen from Maryland had requested absentee ballots to be sent to them. Some 200 of these were from Garrett County.

M. C. Lohr won the medal for shooting the highest score in the W. Va. State Championship pistol contest. Mr. Lohr was a former resident of Deer Park.

Forty Years Ago

The alleged Bittinger outlaws were captured and taken to the Oakland jail. The men, who were from Pennsylvania, had been killing cattle and stealing items from residents around Bittinger for several weeks. Four of the five men were arrested after their car was spotted following a theft in a nearby farmhouse. The fifth man fled through the woods.

William Johnson, 60, of Bloomington, died as a result of injuries suffered when he was caught beneath an overturned car on the railroad of the General Construction Corporation at a point near Round Glade. Mr. Johnson was a worker on the railroad.

Ahead Of Last Year

Attendance for the eight plays at the summer theatre ran 656 ahead of last year, it was announced by Gene Yell, director.

The type of plays this year was mostly for the family and this was given as the main reason for the increase in attendance. Mr. Yell is already making plans for his return in 1965.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
PRESIDENT—NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Columnists such as Alsop, Lippman, Reston and others who customarily mark off the conservatives as not even there at all (only the extremists), must remain rather shaken after the Republican National Convention. Many of their readers still do not understand why the bulk of writers and commentators and pollsters who directed their barrage against Mr. Goldwater could have insisted that voters were not behind the conservative candidate, even though convention delegates were there because of primary victories in some instances. Wishful thinking, do you suppose?

Apparently these communicators are out of touch with the grassroots. Such observers are unaware that citizens have acquired a new ability to evaluate issues. We have been in the front lines in this business for nearly 30 years. At first, the public was genuinely receptive to the conservative plea. Many were amazed, yet appreciative, that anyone would have the gall to oppose the collectivization of America. The past few years have brought bitter attacks from the far left, but these have not stopped the great surge of re-education that is reviving America.

A good example of orientation in American principles is that being encouraged by the Public Affairs Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. One of the Chamber's recent "Here's How" reports describes the Valparaiso, Ind., Chamber of Commerce as having sponsored several series of training sessions in their area in a six-month period. On conclusion, 130 graduates of the 8-session series were honored at their annual dinner, and this led to formation of new groups throughout the community. No experts were called in. Everything was voluntary and local.

Their annual program explained it this way: "An economy is the sum total of the work and the will of the people in it. Unless Americans understand how our economy works and what it takes to make and keep it strong, stable and growing, we may not be able to meet the Communist challenge. If our free competitive enterprise system is weakened, our most effective weapon in the cold war is sabotaged, our biggest advantage is lost and the balance of world power may be tilted to the side of the Communists . . . "

Sometimes in the Chamber's public affairs program, as in Rapid City, S. D., an individual asks himself what he can do about it and answers his question with personal action. There George Moses, a tailor who is largely self-educated, got hold of Chamber of Commerce material and helped set up a speakers' bureau. He joined the Toastmasters to learn to speak, then went out and spoke to 100 audiences last year. He also has moderated courses on politics, economics and Communism for 119 consecutive weeks and is said to be going strong, intending to carry on indefinitely. This kind of dedication is giving the people a new look at public affairs.

The truth of the matter is that the principles of Americanism as opposed to Communism have been explored by so many at the grassroots that tremendous progress has been made in real citizenship education. Not every collectivist has been converted, to be sure, but the amazing progress that has been made is attested by the current resurgence of the conservative spirit in party councils. The next step, naturally, will be to take as much of this to the White House and to the Congress as possible.

submitted to the building committee. It has been estimated that the cost of refurbishing the old church will be around $35,000.

Mrs. Neil C. Fraley and Mrs. Robert Wooters were named to the building committee to represent the women of the parish. Vestry representatives are Dr. E. Irving Baumgartner and Emile L. Germain. Mr. Wooters was named to represent the rector. W. Kenneth Johns is treasurer of the building fund and Dr. Baumgartner is permanent chairman of the committee.

The parish Vestry is giving a complimentary dinner for adult members of the congregation Wednesday, September 23, at the Four Seasons dining room at the Will O' the Wisp motel, Deep Creek Lake, at which time the Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, D.D., bishop of the diocese of Maryland, will be present.

He will be in the parish for his annual visitation and to confirm a class of candidates to be presented by the rector. The service of confirmation will be at 6 o'clock.

During the dinner hour members of the parish and invited guests will hear of the rebuilding plans for the church and will also view the architect's drawings of the church and proposed parish house.

A prospectus is being prepared for subscribers to the building program. Mr. Walthall said he expected the program to cover a three-year period.

dollar futile war against poverty and the presently renewed drive for Medicare under additional social security taxes, it has been a good "try" indeed—and worthy, in the Administration view, of redoubled effort.

In the same dispatch, the AP notes that in Georgia, the Albany Herald has endorsed Senator Goldwater in these words: "We stand with Senator Goldwater because he rejects this philosophy of statism which stresses the transformation of established Constitutional concepts on the grounds that the needs of the masses of citizens in an atomic age require revolutionary change."

Likewise, and not surprisingly, the Chicago Tribune reaffirmed its July 12 editorial support of the Statesman from Arizona: "Nothing that happened at Atlantic City," said The Tribune, "has caused us to change our feelings of seven weeks ago."

Practically everything that has happened in the conduct of national affairs in the past four years—and longer—has brought fresh emphasis to the urgency of our need for a leader determined enough and courageous enough to undertake not merely the defense of Liberty, but its RESTORATION!

We most heartily agree with the Albany Herald and the Chicago Tribune. There will be many more on the Goldwater bandwagon before this campaign is over.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of William Earl (Billy) Fisher, who died two years ago, September 1, 1962.
Beyond that great horizon
In that beautiful home above
Lies a wonderful boy, who . . .
Loved all he knew . . .
Yes, all, and not a word could be rude.
Fussing over all that he did
Is one of the great memories yet
Showing only his best sides
He suffered in sickness most of his life, and Ending in our sorrow, he gained his greatest peace
Receiving his life in a new release.
Yes we loved him and now its quite lonely. No one could ever take his place, but we still have his wonderful memories, that some day we'd meet him over there.
Dearly missed by all his Family and Friends.

Who Are The Extremists?

By Tom Anderson

Barry Goldwater's voting record, according to some voting indexes, is more conservative than Senator Strom Thurmond's. And that's going some. How a man votes is what counts, not how he talks. We know Goldwater. Unlike the young bride who was complaining about her husband's drinking.

"But why did you marry him, if you knew he drank so much?" her mother asked.

"I didn't know he drank at all," she replied, "until he came home sober one night!"

There is a burgeoning grassroots rebellion in this country. Millions of awakened and alarmed Americans have now gone to work to save our Republic from becoming a Socialist-Union-Welfare dictatorship which is surrendering piecemeal to the communist-dominated United Nations. Neither Barry Goldwater nor the Republican Party can save our country. It will not be saved by one man or by one political party. It will be saved not from the top down but from the bottom up. It will be saved by the people. Goldwater is not the power-hungry leader trying to take over. He is the somewhat reluctant candidate impelled by his innate honesty, courage and patriotism to try to restore our constitutional Republic. Goldwater is a shock to the politicians and press mainly because his is The Honest Deal.

The peacemongers, who are surrendering us on the installment plan to the Communists, call Goldwater a trigger happy "Dr. Strangewater" who would bring on a nuclear holacaust. The sure way to bring on a nuclear war is to let the enemy know that we can't or won't fight one. Disarmament helped cause World Wars I and II. Disarmament brings war, not peace. Goldwater is for preparedness and peace.

The word "extremist" is much used by politicians whose theme song is "Down By The Old Mainstream." Most politicians are dedicated not to principles but to staying in, and they'll ride whatever wave will keep them afloat. To amoral Socialists, like Nelson Rockefeller, anyone who bucks the Establishment, even though extremely right, is an extremist. "The Right-Wing is dividing America," they scream. Of course. "There will be no conflict when all the world is communist," as the moderate Communist, Khrushchev, proclaims.

"The rightists have bred lawlessness in our nation," say the collectivists. No. But lawlessness has been bred by our Attorney General, who encourages civil rioting, and by leftists like Fulbright who deliberately undermine the Constitution. The prime goal of most conservatives is to preserve our constitutional government under God. It is not "lawlessness" to contest, by legal means, dictatorial government action.

In a society of cannibals, an extremist is a vegetarian, whereas a moderate advocates eating only certain people on certain occasions. In a society of atheists, a Christian is an extremist. And an agnostic is a moderate. Moderation is not a virtue when one is moderately wrong or moderately sinful. In Lincolnesque language Goldwater said in his acceptance speech: "Extremism in defense of liberty is no vice; moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue." Christ had this to say about "moderates" (middle-of-the-roaders), a religious type He denounced in extreme terms: "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth." (Rev. 3:15-16.)

The leaders who are deliberately undermining our Constitution, spending us into bankruptcy, fostering an all-powerful, centralist government and deliberately disarming us and merging us with history's most diabolical, anti-God conspiracy are guilty of extremism bordering on treason.

Water is great to swim in, fish in, and the perfect thing for washing the family car, but let's consider for a moment how important water is to your survival.

You can struggle along without food for weeks, but a few days without water and you have had it, as none of the body's work can do without it. In fact, unless the air sacs in our lungs are moist, we cannot even take necessary oxygen from the air. It is water which helps the kidneys to take wastes from the blood, and the intestines to eliminate food wastes.

LET'S REPEAL THE LAW OF GRAVITY

By Harry Browne

Editor, Freedom Magazine

"Friends, as your candidate for Congress, I must alert you to a serious situation. Over 100,000 people died in falls from high places last year.

"It has been proven conclusively that these deaths were caused by the law of gravity. This so-called law declares that human beings fall at high speed, causing death or injury when the fall is from a high place.

"My friends, an enlightened society can no longer tolerate such an anti-social law. There are human values involved. I promise you that, if elected, I will work to pass a bill calling for the repeal of the law of gravity!"

If you haven't heard a political candidate make such a promise yet this year, don't give up hope. For politicians have tried for years to overrule the laws of nature by passing futile man-made laws.

By passing economic laws and regulations, they have tried to change the very nature of human beings.

Look at the farm program, for example. In this area, the natural economic laws were working to increase food production, making it possible for more food to be produced by less farmers.

This was nature's way of saying that our standard of living was going up. Increased food production freed many farmers to leave their farms to work in industry, producing products and services for our benefit.

But this alarmed the politicians. They spoke of "human values" — and appeared shocked that less efficient farmers were being forced by competition to leave the farms. So they decided to overrule nature by offering to buy up the unsold produce of the less efficient farmers (with our money, of course.)

This didn't work. Farmers naturally produced more in order to get more subsidies. As the cost of subsidies went up, the politicians had to invoke strict controls of the amount that could be produced. As the subsidies and controls skyrocketed, the cost of the program reached a point where each American family now pays over $100 every year to support the program.

But the laws of nature continue to reign supreme. All the politician has accomplished by tampering with them is to deprive you and me of our hard-earned money — and to deprive us of the products and services those less-efficient farmers would have been producing in industry. "Human values" are taking a beating.

This is only one of thousands of examples. And yet it is still impossible to overrule nature. Man progresses by understanding nature better and using its law to his advantage. But he can't overrule those laws — no matter how much of a "majority" he may have on his side.

In a free society, nature's laws are left untouched — and men voluntarily work in accordance with human nature. They compete to render services to each other in order to reap the profits involved. This is nature's way — and the more we are aligned with it, the higher our standard of living.

But don't be surprised if, someday soon, some politician gets elected on a "repeal the law of gravity" platform. Practically every other anti-nature gimmick has been tried.

A fitting tribute to this politician would be to give him the privilege of being the first to jump off the Empire State Building, secure in the knowledge that he has repealed the law of gravity.

Then maybe he'll know how the farmer felt when nature's laws were repealed on his behalf.

KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY
ORCHARD INVADERS

Fruit trees stand rooted in the orchard weathering many elements throughout the year. Slow, soaking rains and the warm, summer sun are helpful, but there are other not-so-apparent factors that harm the life of a fruit tree—insect enemies.

These enemies slip in almost unnoticed at times, develop large populations and attack trees without warning. The oriental fruit moth, for instance, finds succulent, rapid-growing twigs of peach, plum, cherry and quince very much to its liking. The larva, which causes the damage, enters the tender twig near the base of young leaves and hollows out the stem. Later generations often move on to the fruit. Leaves on infested twigs wilt and the twig breaks. Visible and concealed injury results in gum-secreted, black-blotched fruit, generally rendering it unmarketable.

Another insect, the red-banded leaf roller, attacks a wide variety of fruit. In years of large populations, it may ruin 80 to 90 percent of an apple crop. Small apples have cavities eaten out of the side or center. At picking time, apples have deep, russeted, elongated scars. Foliage can be seriously injured, because the larvae of red-banded leaf roller skeletonize leaves close to the mid-ribs from the underside, folding and webbing them together. Second-brood leaf rollers even cut sections out of the fruit.

The apple rust mite, while not an insect, is also becoming an economically important pest. It is similar to the pear leaf blister mite and is often found on the underside of apple, pear, and prune leaves. Called a rust mite because its feeding gives foliage a rusty appearance, it also causes leaves to roll lengthwise, and the fruit may be attacked and become russeted. The apple rust mite is so small that it can scarcely be seen with the naked eye. Under a lens it is found to be shorter and more triangular than pear leaf blister mite and instead of producing blisters, it feeds on the leaf surface during the growing season and hibernates in the buds.

Many growers are turning to a safer carbamate pesticide, called Sevin, to control these and many other orchard invaders, including codling moth and San Jose scale, because it is an effective protectant and easy to apply. No protective clothing is necessary — just ordinary safety precautions. Fruit specialists also suggest good orchard sanitation to help control insects.

It will pay fruit growers to pause to read the label carefully when using Sevin or any other pesticide. They will get better and safer results every time.

Here's A Memory Aid You'll Never Forget!

Everyone who has visited the Beautiful Caverns of Luray, Virginia, knows that the two most numerous stone formations to be seen in this underground wonderland are known to geologists as stalactites and stalagmites. But which is which?

The attractive visitor in our photo has found a simple way to tell them apart: The "C" in stalaCtite reminds her that it hangs from the Ceiling . . . the "G" in stalaGmite means it rests on the Ground. It's that easy!

The stalactites and stalagmites in Luray Caverns continue to form at the very slow rate of 120 years to the cubic inch. The formation is known as Cave Onyx.

Property Rights . . .

By William D. Graff
Publisher, The American Standard

The well-intentioned moralists have drawn a dividing line between "property rights" and "moral rights" where no division, in fact, exists. The alternative to property ownership by the citizenship is ownership and control by the government—a condition which is condoned and desired by an exceedingly small percentage of the people.

The inherent morality of property ownership, per se, has seldom been seriously questioned except by the socialists, who would reduce everyone to the lowest common denominator.

Realizing the futility of ever persuading the American citizenry that government should own all property, a new dodge is now being adopted—that of sanctioning property ownership but taking away the owners control of his property. In effect, this renders ownership meaningless; for without sovereign control of what is owned, one may as well be renting or leasing. It matters not whether the property owner is Caucasion, Negro, or Oriental; or whether the property is a suit of clothing, an automobile, a home in a middle-class neighborhood or a swank apartmeat building. It is a strange bit of pseudo-logic to hint that morality decreases as holdings increase; or that ownership is amoral if it is more prevalent among the members of one particular race.

The individual is a sovereign human being in the eyes of the Creator; and that which he holds title to under his state's title laws is his to do with according to his own best judgment.

The sophistry that the control of one's own property is somehow amoral and must be dealt with by government is one of the commonest forms of reaction. Its proponents, while perhaps not harking back to the Neanderthal era, would have stopped the world and gotten off, possibly, at the time of the Caesars. Or they might have stayed on through the Jacobin era in France when property ownership was rewarded with a visit by the portable guillotine.

There should be no quarrel with the motives of the moralists. The integrity of their position should be respected. Yet one must regret the deficiency in their knowledge of the true American Revolution which produced, as one of its blessings, the right of the individual to own and control his own property.

If these moralists are truly seeking "progress and rights" for everyone, such can never be gained by surrendering the most fundamental right of all to the dictates of "society," as represented by those who are elected to govern. For as soon as the individual's economic self-determination is removed by law, he no longer has a foundation for any other rights, and the "state" reigns supreme. When the transformation is complete, those who imagined they were being "helped," find themselves to be cruelly deceived victims—along with everyone else.

This trumped up difference between morality and property rights, then, is the false premise which formed the crux of the controversy over "civil rights." I may have failed to look in the right places, but I have yet to see anyone penetrate to this heart of the matter. There still seems to be the fatal tendency on the part of emerging conservative intellectuals to be trapped in this quicksand of "liberal" semantics and false premises. The individualists are becoming far more articulate, but the necessity for probing for the Achilles heel of opposition arguments—and then exploiting it to the best advantage—is still a little used art.

Mercury Dips to 38

The thermometer dipped to 38 degrees this morning to come mighty close the frost line, and could have been lower in some areas of the county. This was the result of a cooling trend which was general over this entire area.

There was some rain during the week, but not enough to overcome the dry weather of the past two weeks.

A run-down of the week's weather showed Friday with cloud cover for most of the morning with thermometer up to 81 by noon.

Saturday began fairly warm with the mercury getting up to 77 by 10:30 with skies remaining only partially clear. Sunday was hot and mostly sunny with temperature at 82. Skies became overcast in the evening with an electrical storm at night. Monday continued cloudy and hot with mercury at 82 at 1:30. Tuesday was in the 50's with cloud cover and mercury getting up no more than 65. Wednesday was clear and warming with temperature getting up to 73. Wednesday night was clear and cool with mercury dropping to 38 degrees.

Northern High Plans 1st P-TA Meeting

Northern High school will have its Parent-Teacher association meeting Thursday, September 10, at 8 o'clock in the school cafeteria, it was announced by D. W. Klotz, president, who will be in charge of the business meeting.

James L. Reid, director of vocational education, State Department of Education, will talk to parents and teachers concerning the vocational education programs applicable under the state law.

Plans are being formulated for both Northern and Southern high schools by the Board of Education to build and equip three new vocational shops in each school.

Recently Mr. Reid was appointed director of the division of vocational education with duties which include supervision of all activities in the fields of home economics, trade, industrial and service occupations, distributive education, licensed practical nursing, technical education and agriculture. He is director of the newly created State Apprenticeship council.

A native of Indiana, he received his B.S. degree from Indiana State Teachers college, his master's from the University of Maryland, and taught in the public schools of Baltimore county for twelve years.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Article Features Sail-In Bank

Since the feature article in the magazine section of the Sunday Sun of August 30, concerning "The Only Sail-in Bank in Maryland," which is the branch of the First National Bank of Oakland, located at McHenry, officials have been receiving numerous inquiries, it was learned this week.

The feature showed motor boats approaching the dock and the summer visitors doing business within the bank itself. The bank was termed a most unusual one with about half its patrons coming by sail or motorboat. Bare feet and bathing suits are encouraged.

Because free checking accounts are maintained many vacationers continue to mail pay checks there after leaving, according to the story.

Some 588 persons lost their lives in the three-week war involving the fanatical Lumpa sect in Northern Rhodesia.

Three New Teachers At Northern High

Three new teachers have been selected at Northern High school to fill vacancies. They will take the places of Hoye Smith, who died early this year, Richard Stevenson who changed his residence, and John Reckner, who resigned as vocational agriculture instructor to accept the dealership of the International Harvester company.

Replacing them are Luther Parrack, Thomas Glotfelty and Miss Jacqueline Williams.

Parrack, graduate of Terra Alta High school, received his B.S. degree from West Virginia university in 1960. Majoring in American History Mr. Parrack obtained his master's degree in education this past summer. He will teach ninth grade English and World History. He resides in Oakland with his wife and child.

Glotfelty, a 1957 graduate of Southern High, was graduated from the University of Maryland agriculture department in 1962. He has served as manager for Eastern States in Oakland and will teach vocational agriculture to grade 9 and all senior high students. He resides in Oakland.

Miss Williams, installed as an extra under a state teaching program, had her home in Baltimore where she was graduated from Eastern High school. She is a graduate of Frostburg State college, 1964, and will teach courses in seventh grade mathematics and one in business arithmetic.

Changes In Classes

Several new classes have been added at Northern. The eighth grade has been divided into five homeroom sections.

Homeroom 8-A will have French classes bi-weekly. 9-A will also have French I. Students will attend five class sections of French and home economics or Vo-Ag. over a two-week period. Having the schedules arranged in this manner meets the standards set by the Board of Education.

Seventeen sophomore boys will receive metal shop this year. This class is being tried on an experimental basis.

Because this year's graduating class is so large there are four senior homerooms. Two classes of Sr. Science will also be offered. They will be taught by Mr. Keplinger and Mr. Strauss.

Senior Sandy Humberson will be taking drafting. She is the first girl to ever receive drafting instructions here at Northern.

Barnes-Nace Wedding Is Held

Miss Cynthia Withington Nace and Elwood Eugene Barnes were united in marriage Saturday, July 11, at one o'clock in the afternoon. The Reverend Lawrence Sherwood performed the double ring ceremony in St. Paul's Methodist church, Oaklaad.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Nace, of Oakland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Barnes, of Taneytown, Md.

A program of organ music was presented by Mrs. Merritt Feather. Vocal music was presented by Miss Martha Ann Simmons of Altavista, Va., who sang "Sheep May Safely Graze," Bach, and "Prayer Perfect," Speaks. The congregational hymn was "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee." For the processional Mrs. Feather played "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major," Purcell, and for the recessional, "Wedding March," Mendelssohn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk peau de soie accented with Alencon lace. The gown featured a scooped neckline, elbow-length sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a pill box crown.

Miss Martha Ann Simmons was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Martha Wassum, Marion, Va., and Mrs. William D. Nace, Alexandria, Va., sister-in-law of the bride. Flower girl was Miss Julie Nace, Camp Hill, Pa., cousin of the bride. They wore floor-length dresses of white embroidered batiste with matching picture hats and carried baskets of painted daisies.

John Bane, of Arlington, Va., was best man. Ushers were Eric Doescher, Columbus, Ohio; Jim Bryant, Frederick; David Nace, Elkridge, and Tom Nace, Oakland.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in Fellowship hall at the church. Serving were Mrs. Forrest Moyer, Rockville; Mrs. Lynn Mitchell, Huntingdon, Pa.; Mrs. Thomas Anderson, Petersburg, Pa., all aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Hoffman, Oakland.

Mrs. Barnes is a graduate of Southern High school and Radford college. She will teach this fall in Frederick. The bridegroom is a graduate of Frederick High school and is presently a student at the University of Maryland, where he is also employed. The couple will make their home at 4206 Knox Road, College Park

Illustrator Charlie Murray Featured In Newspaper

Sp-4 Charles Murray has returned to his base at Fort Benning, Georgia, spending a furlough at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Murray and a sister, Nancy, in Grantsville. The following was written about Charlie in "The Bayonet", a paper published in Georgia, entitled: "Aviation's Illustrator Gets Laugh From Job".

There lives in the Headquarters Detachment of the 2nd Aviation Battalion a short, slightly introverted young man by the name of Charles Murray. Charles lives in a world of his own surrounded by a myriad of colors splashed across the walls and the floor of his small domain. A short walk brings Charlie to his studio on the fourth floor where he is met by his five or six constant companions, the grey and white pigeons that rest on the window sill to watch Charlie at his work. With an unbelievable great sense of humor, he will laugh or satirize something only remotely funny. If the comedian's audience was made up of all Charlie Murrays, he'd make a million. "I've had an interest in art ever since I was little," says the five-foot, one inch Marylander. Despite his height, he at one time painted the large bill boards seen on the highways across the country. His first real job came when he was a junior in high school in Grantsville. As an illustrator and shop foreman for Tri-State in Cumberland, he gained a lot of knowledge in the field. At one time he was enrolled in the Pittsburgh Art Institute but found that commericial art was his forte and not commericial advertising. Convinced that on the job training was for him Charlie set out to find a good job. He went to work for Tri-State and later for the Queen City Neon as a sign designer. Working for someone else reduces one's chance for advancement, so illustrator Murray opened his own studio and began painting his own commissions. In nine months he will return to Grantsville to pick up the brushes and canvas where he left them. For the remainder of his two years of service he will continue to be the illustrator for the 2nd Aviation Battalion. Charlie's signs have undoubtedly made the appearance of the battalion one of the most envied on the reservation. He says of the field of illustrating, "It's wide open and the outlook is promising for the ambitious young man".

Gormania Presbyterian, the Rev. John Hungerland, pastor. Sunday School, 10 a. m.; Worship Service, 6:15 p. m.

Corinth Methodist, Worship, 1st Sunday, 11 a. m.; 3rd Sunday, 7:30 p. m

They're newcomers. They moved into the neighborhood just last week, and this is their first Sunday in our church.

Very soon they'll be making friends, and joining in many worthwhile church activities. Mr. Jones may develop his talent for organization, or fund-raising, or youth leadership. His wife may find her place in one of the busy organizations for women, or discover that she loves to teach. The children will settle happily into Sunday School classes suited to their age group.

Above all, this young family will share in the secure feeling of Christian fellowship and spiritual well-being that comes from serving God and His Church. They will be better people, better neighbors and better citizens because of their decision to put God's work first.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Heroes
Lesson for September 6, 1964

Background Scripture: Judges 1 through 8.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 80:1-6, 14-19.

MANKIND has three ideals which cannot harmonize with one another. So says a philosopher. The three ideals are: the hero, the artist, the saint. What makes a proper hero doesn't make a proper saint or a proper artist.

Dr. Foreman

What is good behavior for the saint may not be such for the artist . . . and so on. Men of any one type are likely to shock and repel men of other types. We see this today in the uneasy relations between military men and "egg-heads," between athletes and Phi Beta Kappas. We can find it in the Bible too. One strange part of the Bible is the book of the Judges, in which there are stories so disgusting and terrible that they never yet have been used as Sunday school lessons.

Heroes

The word "judges" as used in the book of the Old Testament by that name does not have its usual meaning either in Hebrew or in English. It is used to refer to certain men, usually counted as twelve in number, who raised armies, carried out assassinations, or in other ways, always by the use of violence, came to the rescue of the Israelites and set them free once more. The judges were all military heroes and honored as such. They were heroes, not saints, and cannot be measured by the yardstick of a saint.

Courage

Yet these men, from the greatest to the least of them, were instruments of God in the world and were used by the Spirit of God to work out his good purposes. They were not such men as all Christians ought to be; but they were men with some qualities which all Christians might well imitate. One of these qualities was courage. No man without courage can be a hero. We may expect that a hero will be not only moderately brave, as most human beings are, but (as we put it today) brave "above and beyond the line of duty." We can think of Ehud, going on his mission of death quietly in the very midst of his country's enemies; of Gideon, watching his little army melt away—two out of three of them admitting they were scared, and going home!—of Shamgar, doing great exploits with no weapon but a stick to prod oxen with; of Deborah, a military chief of staff, taking the lead only because she could find no man to do it; Samson, full of good possibilities even if he never used them, certainly no coward in the face of lions or men. One and all they were men who dared to do what other men feared to attempt.

Faith

Centuries later, the writer of the Letter to the Hebrews, in reflecting on these very men and naming some of them, thinks chiefly not of their courage but of their faith. By faith they won their battles. Now the Old Testament does not give details about most of the judges, but where it does give details they are a little surprising. Faith is so often confused with a list of propositions we are asked or commanded to believe, that we don't always recognize faith of the kind these Hebrew heroes had. Theirs was an active faith, the faith of fighters and doers, not thinkers. Not that God has no need for thinkers; but when Israel needed a war of liberation, as they so often did, they were not to be saved by scribes and professors, but by men with weapons in their hands, not afraid to use them. This kind of faith does have some "belief-about" in it but also "belief-in." Men of fighting faith believe in something and some one; their faith is a challenge and a summons, not a meekly recited creed. What those heroes believed in was freedom; they fought, every one of them, to set their people free. The Who was the Lord of Hosts (meaning Lord of Armies). They did their great exploits as champions of the Almighty.

Warning: the only place you can buy tiger paws is in a tiger paw store.

We know. We're an official U.S. Royal tiger paw store.

Any other kind of dealer might sell you something "just as good."

"Just as good," that is, until you notice that your new tires are'nt living up to the claims made for them.

Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):

They were tested at 120 miles an hour. For a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.

They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour. For 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)

Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner...like tigers.

Want 'em?

Remember, we're an official U.S. Royal tiger paw store.

Any other kind of store can only give you "just as good."

And if there were tires just as good, they'd be tiger paws. Wouldn't they? U.S. Royal

Fish Game Leader To Retire Jan. 1st

Ernest A. Vaughn announced last week he would retire next January 1 as director of Maryland's Game and Inland Fish department.

Vaughn, who will be 65 in September, has been in the state service since 1935 when he joined the game department as a regional warden for the lower Eastern shore. He became state game warden in charge of the department in 1945. The title was changed to director the following year.

The commission will name a successor later this year. Vaughn will remain on duty until mid-November when he will take 45 days of unused leave.

During his tenure the agency has expanded from 50 employes serving and regulating 119,688 licensed hunters and fishermen to 114 personnel for 369,673 licensed sportsmen.

The budget, based entirely on state license fees and fines and federal aid received from an excise tax on sporting equipment, has grown from $262,525 in 1945 to $1.5 million in the current year. Vaughn also was instrumental in acquiring additional acreage for public shooting grounds since 1945.

An unidentified man leaped to his death from the Golden Gate bridge, becoming the 271st suicide victim from there.

Seek Destruction of X-33 Water Proofer

Help in removing from the market "x-33 water repellent", a flammable masonry water proofer, was being sought this week by local health authorities. The material has caused three deaths and over 30 injuries through flash explosions.

Some shipments of the product may still be in possession of hardware stores, lumber yards, filling stations, auto supply houses, grocery stores, drug stores, feed and grain dealers, etc.

It was recommended that all stocks of the product in a misbranded condition be destroyed under supervision of local fire authorities.

The product produced under a different formula since July, 1963, is not as flammable as the older product, but labels on cans do not indicate which product is which, according to the Food and Drug administration.

Grows Giant Tomato

Mrs. James Shaffer, at Swanton, didn't nave her tomatoes at the Garrett county fair, but she is now exhibiting one that may take some kind of prize as the largest in its class.

She picked a tomato this week that weighed two pounds and two ounces. It is a beefsteak variety.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 88. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., SEPTEMBER 10, 1964 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 28.

Vital to Register . . . .

There ought to be some way to impress upon citizens the importance of being eligible to vote, but if there is, it just hasn't been found. The only way this newspaper knows is by repetition, so once more we want to say it, and say it with emphasis, with capital letters, with underlined words, and in any other way possible for the printed word — be sure you are registered.

The county's registration as of last April 18 was 9597. We are certain there should be at least one or two thousand additional names eligible to be placed on the voting books. Many names have been eliminated for not having voted in the past five years, who must re-register to become eligible to cast their ballot.

Tuesday, September 22, at 4 o'clock p. m., is the deadline for registration if a person expects to vote in the November election. Persons who have lived in the county six months and in the state for one year are eligible. Those who will be twenty-one years old by election time, may register and become eligible. So get to the Court house and register before September 22.

We have repeated from year to year a citizen's responsibility to cast his ballot. For some reason or other Republicans are more dilatory than Democrats about this voting matter and it takes a lot to stir those who are GOP inclined. You have heard it before—the way to elect unqualified people is for those who know better to sit quietly by and do nothing—they don't boost their man, and won't go to the polls except when paid to do so.

We feel strongly that Barry Goldwater is the better man and should be elected. However, we urge a large registration of both Democrats and Republicans so that when election day comes, the majority of the candidate may be such that there is no doubt of how America leans. Democrats, Republicans and Independents can all vote for the man who wants this country financially sound and run by constitutional methods.

4 Charges Lodged Against Doctor

Dr. Baumgartner Scheduled To Be Tried Sept. 18

Four charges, one a state warrant and three motor vehicle violations, were lodged against Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, of Oakland, Tuesday night after the physician had struck a parked automobile in front of Gregory's restaurant in Mt. Lake Park about 11 p. m.

The Oakland physician enroute to his home in Oakland rammed the automobile that had been occupied a few moments before by Miss Lois Bell, of Oakland. Trooper Robert Cave investigated the accident and placed the following charges against the man:

Driving while under the influence of liquor;
Reckless driving;
Failure to show registration;
Disorderly conduct.

The latter charge specifically stated that the doctor "did act in a disorderly manner to the disturbance of the public peace by making loud and unseemly noises, profanely cursing and swearing and using obscene language in a public street within hearing of other persons."

A hearing was scheduled for Wednesday morning but was post-

Conviction For Mail Brings Man Reward

Aid given by a local resident which resulted in the apprehension of a juvenile delinquent for theft of mail, brought a $25 reward to the man in addition to a letter of appreciation.

Scott E. Sisler, route 1, Oakland, received the reward and the letter from H. B. Montague, chief postal inspector, Washington, D. C., which reads in part:

"The postal inspection service appreciates the help you gave which resulted in the apprehension of a juvenile delinquent for theft of mail. We are pleased to send you this check for services rendered."

The man was informed that any citizen was eligible for a similar reward and up to as much as $250 for information which leads to the arrest and conviction of any person tampering with mail or U. S. government property such as mail boxes, etc.

District Camporee For Boy Scouts Set For Swallow Falls

The District scout camporee for Deep Creek District scouts will be held at the Swallow Falls camping area in the state park on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 25, 26 and 27.

Only registered members of currently chartered troops may participate. At least one adult must camp with and remain with the unit at all times.

Scoring will be on a patrol basis, and there are 36 scoring items. Arrangements are being made for religious services on Sunday.

Blue ribbons are to be awarded to those gaining 30 through 36 points, with red ribbons for those gaining 23 through 29 points, and yellow ribbons for below 23 points.

The camporee is sanctioned by Potomac Council of Boy Scouts, of which Deep Creek district is a part.

Seek 100 Pts. Blood Here On Wednesday

The Johnstown unit of the American Red Cross blood donor center will be at the fire hall in Oakland next Wednesday, September 16, from 12 to 6 o'clock. The quota will be 100 pints, the same as it has been for some time.

Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the Garrett county chapter, remarked that this "seems very little for residents of the Oakland area to meet three times a year." She said the demand for blood and blood products continues and that the Red Cross blood program was here to stay.

She explained that one pint of blood donated by a person can mean the difference between life and death for someone else. She said, "We pride ourselves on being 'red blooded Americans.' It is hoped many will prove the color of their blood by coming in next Wednesday to contribute a pint." Walk-ins are welcomed and an appointment is not necessary.

This is a community project and deserves cooperation, she concluded. Citizens between the ages of 21 and 60 may contribute.

The usual staff of workers will be on hand to assist the unit, canteen workers, nurses, doctors, and aides of various kinds.

ALL DRESSED IN COSTUME—Sally Hoffman, right, dressed in a costume which she wore at various times while traveling in Austria this summer, is seen talking to Ron McDaniel prior to the regular meeting of the Oakland Rotary club last Friday. Miss Hoffman spoke to the Rotary club about her trip to that country for eight weeks as a part of an "Experiment in International Living." She told about the Austrian home where she stayed, about her "parents" with whom she lived and explained what it was like to have an entirely different life in another country on this person to person program. She also showed slides of her travels while there. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman, she was one of some 2,000 persons who visited in 35 countries under this same program this summer. She will attend Thiel college this year.

Keyser Man Held For Assault On Oakland Police

State's Attorney Asks Jury Trial For Resisting Arrest

A Mineral county man, after allegedly beating up on an Oakland policeman, will have his case tried before a circuit court jury at the September term. State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer asked for the jury trial just as a hearing was scheduled yesterday afternoon in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney.

Paul W. Dixon, of Keyser, W. Va., has been charged with resisting arrest and also assault and battery upon a police officer, following an alleged fight early Saturday morning on Oak street, near Fourth.

The police officer, Hobart Shillingburg said he was in the act of placing the man under arrest for reckless driving on the streets of Oakland, when the officer said the man grabbed him around the neck and started to grapple with him. Shillingburg said he managed to get out his blackjack and began hitting the man, who then got the blackjack away from Shillingburg and began to beat him. The man, over 6 feet 3 inches and weighing over 250 pounds, had Shillingburg on the ground and was continuing to beat him when a crowd began to gather. Charles Ashby called the sheriff and Emmett Beane and Eddie Lewis endeavored to get Dixon away from the officer.

At that time the latter's companion approached in his car. Dixon got in and they started for home. Shillingburg fired three shots at the automobile. One of the bullets ricocheted and went through the radiator of the water department's pick-up truck parked in front of the home of Denzil Hile, assistant water superintendent. Shillingburg, said he thought one of the bullets had entered the West Virginia auto.

In a consultation later with West Virginia troopers, Deputy Sheriff Wayne Wilt said that Dixon had agreed to appear in Oakland when called, and did so yesterday in company with two attorneys from Mineral county.

Check Passer Makes Good on Ones Passed

Paul A. Liller, of the Red Oak area of the county, was given a hearing on five charges of having passed worthless checks. In the case brought by M. L. Willard he was tried before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, found guilty, and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended upon condition he make restitution of the worthless checks which he had written.

The man not only paid the one of $10 against Mr. Willard, but he paid those of John Kurilla, for $10; for Juanita Bosley, $10, for John Criss, $5; for Carl E. Whorton, $6.50. The checks had been drawn on the Garrett National Bank.

Magistrate Maroney said the man also had several other charges against him which he promised to pay before the opening of the criminal court on Monday.

Other Cases Heard

The magistrate had several other cases this week.

Russell Welch was charged by Patricia Welch with being drunk and disorderly on September 6 at her home on Fingerboard road. He entered a plea of not guilty but was found guilty and sentenced to spend 30 days in the county jail. The sentence was suspended upon condition he remain of good behavior.

James Riggleman was charged by Ervin Kitzmiller with destruction of property under his care. At a trial September 4 he pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs but the fine and costs were suspended upon condition he replace the property destroyed. At the same morning Eddie House was tried on a similar charge but was found not guilty.

Two Deep Creek Lake infractions were also listed in the magistrate's office. Solomon Parsons, Jr., forfeited collateral of $10 and costs for towing a skier without an observer. William Cassidy forfeited a like fine and costs on the same charge.

Ronald G. Wilson forfeited collateral of $20 and costs on a charge of fishing without a license. The charge was preferred by Game Warden Leo Friend.

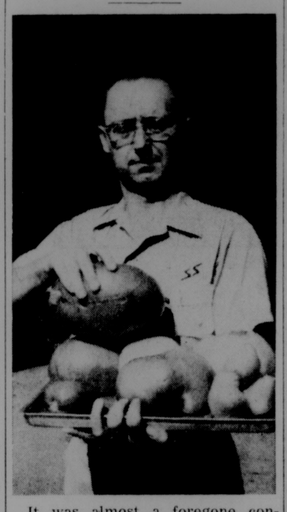
Tomatoes Continue To Grow In Size



It was almost a foregone conclusion that the mere mention of large tomatoes would bring further samples and larger ones.

Last week The Republican told of a tomato weighing two pounds, 2 ounces, which had been grown by Mrs. James Shaffer, Swanton.

Three persons have appeared with tomatoes to top it. First came Mrs. Paul A. Miller, of Deer Park who had a beefsteak tomato weighing just three pounds, and being 20 inches in circumference.

Then came another beefsteak variety, grown by Mrs. Jesse Harsh, route 1, Oakland, weighing 3¾ pounds. It is shown in the accompanying photo and is held by her husband. Yesterday Z. L. Mellott brought in the nicest looking tomato of the lot, but this weighed a mere two pounds and nine ounces. It was grown by Mrs. Tom Johnson, west of Oakland, from seeds furnished by Mr. Mellott.

A Deer Park man was hospitalized Tuesday night with a head wound, after he had been allegedly struck over the head with a whisky bottle after intruding into a couple's home.

It was being claimed that Kemp entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hardesty, become abusive, when Mrs. Hardesty struck him with a piece of kitchen equipment. When this appeared to do no good she allegedly took a partially empty bottle of whisky from Kemp's pocket and struck him on the head.

An ambulance was called and the man was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital where he had his wound dressed. He is still a patient.

Plan 2 Autumn Glory Excursions For Oct. 4, 11

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will operate its 13th annual Autumn Glory Festival excursions for fall foliage sightseers, through the mountains of Western Maryland on two Sundays next month, October 4 and October 11.

Because of the popularity of the fall excursions, the railroad has scheduled two trips this year to accommodate all the Baltimore area residents who have expressed a desire to make the sightseeing journeys. In past years, when only one train was operated, many passengers had to be turned away because of limited seating capacity.

Special reduced-fare tickets for the excursions are now on sale at the B & O's ticket offices in Baltimore and Washington.

It is expected that more than 1600 nature lovers, camera enthusiasts and railfans will ride the B & O specials for the day-long trips through the picturesque Potomac River Valley and the Deep Creek Lake area of this county. The train will pass many scenic and historic points, including Harpers Ferry.

Following arrival of the train at Oakland, the sightseers will be taken on a 30-mile bus tour to Deep Creek Lake, Deep Creek State Park and Swallow Falls Park, site of the highest waterfall in Maryland. The route will follow color-

Efforts Renewed To Open Mining Operation In Area

Seek Meeting With Board Of Public Works For Approval

Renewed efforts are being made by local coal operators to open up a large mine near the Western Maryland railroad, on Lost Land Run, it was learned this week.

Thus far the result has been no different from early in January when a futile attempt was made to purchase or secure a lease on some 400 feet of state owned land, at present under the jurisdiction of the Department of Forests and Parks, so the owners would have access into the property.

Last January Carl A. Schell, director of the Bureau of Mines advised that in his opinion, "with proper management and supervision, necessary openings into the coal bed in question could be made with minimum damage to the surface area." He pointed out that streams in the vicinity of the mine already have pollution from other mining activities. The objection of the Board of Forests and Parks seems to be because of pollution.

The coal land in question is owned by Charles Harvey and Walter W. Dawson, both of Oakland. Owners had anticipated opening a deep mine to obtain coal from some one thousand acres which might employ as many as 30 men directly, in addition to truck drivers and other indirect employes.

Blucher Allison, of near Fort Pendleton, chief mining engineer for the Omar Mining company in West Virginia, said he became interested in the development

Search Continuing For Missing Woman

An intensive search for Mrs. Verta Elizabeth Durst, 38-year-old county woman of near Keyser Ridge is continuing under direction of State Trooper L. E. Dunton who says the woman has been missing from her home since August 29.

Last seen at about 8 p. m., on the day she was reported missing, it is believed she is wandering about in a dazed condition. Trooper Dunton bases that belief on reports from people who have claimed to have seen her in wooded regions around the Grantsville area.

Search parties have been organized following every report but none has been successful in locating the woman, the mother of six children. She is the wife of Wilbert Durst.

The most recent large party was called together Monday with some 400 persons responding to the search call. On that day two young girls who had gone berry-picking reported having seen a woman answering Mrs. Durst's description. The girls told Trooper Dunton she appeared "wild and crazy looking", with an abrasion under an eye. The woman failed to answer questions put by the two girls. The woman "just stared," the girls said.

The only traces of Mrs. Durst are footprints that correspond to her shoe size. The trooper said he had put in from 10 to 16 hours a day in running down leads and guiding search parties.

The search has extended into Pennsylvania where there are several abandoned coal mines just across the county line. A farmer reported one of his cows had been milked dry for the past few days when he brought in his herd for milking.

Deaf Man Perfects Midget Transistor Hearing Aid

If you can hear people talk and can't make out the words clearly, then this will be your answer. An extremely small hearing aid using a tiny, energized unit, has been perfected by a man who himself is hard of hearing and has been for over 10 years. With his new aid, even whispers are crystal clear. If interested it is suggested you write HEARING, 32 E. 9th St., Erie, Pa. You will receive full information at no cost or obligation whatsoever.—Adv.

Brooder House Burns

A brooder house on the farm of Simon Swartzentruber, near Gortner was completely destroyed by fire Monday evening about 10:45. The probable cause was listed as spontaneous combustion from a composite of fertilizer, with ashes dumped on the pile being a contributing factor. The building was a total loss.

John Yoder was occupant of the farm. The Oakland firemen were called and traveled some four miles or more to the scene. The farm is located on the Mason School House road.

WFRB Radio Aids In Traffic Problems

Radio Station WFRB in Frostburg was credited by State Police Monday with a valuable assist in the handling of Labor Day week-end traffic in Western Maryland.

WFRB stationed mobile broadcast units on Fairview mountain in Maryland and Summit mountain in Pennsylvania, and had a third mobile unit traveling between the two points. Traffic tie-ups and accidents were reported over WFRB from the mobile units to motorists, along with advice on how to avoid trouble spots. Motorists were invited to tune in to WFRB for traffic information for their next 150 miles.

A clerk at the Cumberland State Police barracks, Donald Pack, said the traffic information broadcasts apparently had been helpful. Pack also said the Cumberland barracks had gotten very few calls from motorists inquiring about the traffic situation and he said this was unusual for the Labor Day week-end.

Dr. John S. Young, 44, of Denver, was named as 1963 "Physician of the Year."

Two Ohioans were killed in a head-on collision on the Pa. Turnpike.

Henry Tice herd was second. Tice has 23 grade Holsteins producing an average of 1345 pounds of milk and 50.5 pounds of fat. Harry Hummel had third high herd with 3-grade Holsteins producing an average of 1201 pounds of milk and 48 pounds of fat. Robert O. Glotfelty, with 33 grade Holsteins was fourth with 1270 pounds of milk and 47.7 pounds of fat. Simon J. Tice had fifth high herd of 27 cross breed cows producing an average of 1150 pounds of milk and 47.7 pounds of fat.

Top cow was Pearl, grade Holstein of Oren Bender, producing 2170 pounds of milk and 102 pounds of fat. Second high was Donna, grade Holstein of Robert Glotfelty with 2010 pounds of milk and 101 pounds of fat. Third high was Eva, grade Ayrshire of Raymond Schrock with 2380 pounds of milk and 98 pounds of fat. Fourth was Julie, grade Holstein of Merle Garletts that produced 2330 pounds of milk and 96 pounds of fat. Martha, grade Holstein of Henry Tice, was fifth with 2170 pounds of milk and 95 pounds of fat.

Oren Bender's cow completed a new all-time county fat record for 365 days, showing a record of 23,110 pounds of milk with 989 pounds of butterfat. She is Sandy Zeus Burke Champion 4626852, and was sired by Winterthur Zeus Burke Champion 1024856.

Humphrey of the ADA...

By Thurman Sensing
Executive Vice President
SOUTHERN STATES
INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL

In choosing Hubert Humphrey as his running mate in the election, President Lyndon B. Johnson has clearly indicated what he wants to make of the Democratic Party of the United States. If Mr. Johnson had wanted to maintain a balance in the party and in the top national offices, he could have chosen a staunch anti-communist such as Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut or he could have chosen someone like Senator Richard Russell of Georgia who stands for the tradition of states rights which once was the tradition of the Democratic Party, though it is no longer.

But the selection of Senator Humphrey of Minnesota makes plain all that the "great society" of which Mr. Johnson speaks is nothing but the program envisioned by the radical Americans for Democratic Action. Senator Humphrey was one of the founders of the ADA, and he is today deeply involved in all its activities. This summer, for instance, his speaking engagements were planned by the ADA.

Now, the ADA is dedicated to undoing the federal design for America that was the handiwork of the Founding Fathers. It aims at a welfare state that is run by a tightly centralized national government with strong police powers to enforce its will. To find Senator Humphrey's view, however, it is not necessary to search out the manifestos of the ADA. No politician in modern America has talked more than Senator Humphrey about how he would share America's wealth with other nations and how he would engineer change inside this nation. His name is on most of the principal items of ultra-liberal legislation that have been offered in the U. S. Senate.

For example, he was one of the authors of Medicare, which would go far toward creating the kind of medical mess in this country that has been the result of socialized medicine in Great Britain. Senator Humphrey also is one of the authors of the Food For Peace Plan, whereby the United States would give away its harvests to aid nations that hold us in contempt.

The sad part of the Humphrey story is that he unquestionably believes in what he is doing. He is an inveterate optimist and a convinced believer in the measures he supports. This is remarkable, for Congress is full of "liberal" cynics and hypocrites who simply believe it is smart politics to vote the giveaway, share-the-country line.

Senator Humphrey, it seems, genuinely believes that it is better to give away America then to defend out national substance or strength. He is all for the "peace" cause, which is natural because standing for U. S. interests in a hard struggle is contrary to the essential softness of the man. But it is frightening to think of such a man, the very embodiment of "liberal" softness, being only a heartbeat away from the Presidency. He rates 100% liberal (socialist) in all ratings. What would happen to the United States if Senator Humphrey had to make the big tough decisions instead of simply presiding over the U. S. Senate or cutting ribbons at bridge openings?

That Mr. Johnson would impose on his party and on the nation a running mate who is so obviously lacking in the stern stuff of statesmanship is deeply shocking. What he does, in effect, is risk the future of the American people. A Johnson victory, with such a running mate, would expose the nation to the danger of leadership that is dedicated to letting every nation on earth—and all the most irresponsible elements within—regard this rich republic as a grab bag.

Another Hearing the 18th

Another hearing is now set also for the 18th which will involve Mrs. Baumgartner. She had a hearing set for September 16, which was the second time there had been a postponement in a motor vehicle case involving an automobile and a motorcycle. The collision occurred originally Sunday, August 9. Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, heading east on Crook street, attempted to cross Third street when she was struck by a motorcycle driven by William Oliver Martin, Bentleyville, Pa. Accompanying him was his wife, Mrs. Dorothy A. Martin. Mrs. Martin sustained a broken arm.

Trooper Ronald Lewis issued a traffic violation ticket for Mrs. Baumgartner for failing to grant right of way. The hearing was set for August 17. It was later postponed to August 24, then again postponed to September 16. Mrs. Baumgartner had her attorney ask for another postponement so she could assist as a nurse at the bloodmobile visit here next Wednesday.

Efforts Renewed

earlier in the year. He said the piece of ground necessary for use in reaching the mine entrance, and which is owned by the state agency, is not virgin timber land but has been used previously for the same purpose it would be used for in this operation.

Mr. Allison, who attempted to secure an audience with the head of the Department of State Forests and Parks, said he was turned down "in such a rude manner as to make a taxpayer wonder if it is actually worth the effort to try to stay in a state where apparently courtesy has not been learned by some."

He pointed out that if the operation were allowed to flourish it would provide an income well above the national overage for 30 or more men which in terms of dollars would be around $150,000 per year in wages alone.

In addition, he added, the mining costs would pour an additional $450,00 per year into the financial stream of the county and surrounding area.

There would be work at the property for around 20 years, and his thought would be seek miners 40 to 50 years old with 20 years or so of experience to be the core of the work force and to train younger men in roof control, safety, and good mining practices.

Mr. Allison said the operation, if allowed to move into the area, would have the latest in modern equipment, and would be known as the Marie Mining company.

Mr. Harvey, one of the owners, said this week that Mr. Carl Schell was seeking an appointment with the Board of Public Works in an effort to get an O. K. for a lease so that work could be started. He said should permission be given the mining company would move into the area immediately and that actual operations could start within two months.

At one time Mr. Harvey said his firm had a ten year lease with the state agency, then this was reduced to a year at a time, and finally the agency refused to renew the lease.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
Searcy, Arkansas

For some weeks ahead our nation will be considering its future. Personalities and parties will clash, charges and counter charges will fly, and words by the millions will be thrust upon the public consciousness. Enduring all this, we must look for the issues and the ideas rather than get sidetracked with superficialities, to see if we can discover meaning that will give insight and direct our actions as responsible citizens. America is going to need, if it ever has, a well-informed electorate this November.

Both camps of partisan disputants are going to try to make the opposition look bad. Each side will try to show that whatever is wrong with America is to be laid at the doorstep of the other. At the same time, each side will assume as much credit as possible for the good things that are enjoyed by the U. S. A. All this is expected. Some of it will make sense and some will not.

This, of course, will not be the whole story. Free and open debate, even with exaggeration, is useful when nearly everyone is making observations and evaluations. This stocktaking that comes every four years is essential to our kind of "democratic republicanism." It is an inventory, of sorts, to help us see what we are, what's ahead, and where to go. In the process, lest we become pessimistic while considering what's wrong with America, we must not forget that a great deal is right with our nation. We have a greatness to cherish and preserve as well as big challenges to face.

Before we buy any of the catchwords being offered in this political year, we ought to ask what the programs embraced will do to the America we already have. Do the programs offered for such future greatness build upon American principles? The promise of "The Great Society" being held out by President Johnson suggests that the American Way is not enough. The necessity for change, some argue, justifies gigantic effort toward some new Utopia, such as that dreamed of by Karl Marx and other authoritarians.

In foreign policy areas, we are told that if we take a strong stand against Communism our friends and allies will not like us. Yet, the only time in the present decade that the nations of the free world have rallied unanimously behind us was when President Kennedy told off Khrushchev in the Cuba affair. Then when we relaxed that firm grip, resuming the old non-interference policy, a Soviet fortress was created in our hemisphere that has enslaved its free people and infiltrated the rest of the hemisphere. Weakness produced a bigger problem than we had before.

Admiral Arleigh Burke was recently asked about America's weaknesses. He answered that our people seem unaware of their own apathy, that we are reluctant to face problems that are difficult to solve. He was critical of our apparent lack of moral courage to stand on principles, or even to have strong principles. He scored our unwillingness to compete or to get involved in unpleasant situations, as well as our grasp for the easy, quick way out. These are not weaknesses inherent in the American character, but they do show that we have not had our best interests at heart and have been reluctant to lead the free world. Nothing is wrong with America that sound policy and principled leadership cannot cure.

trate Robert M. Maroney also yesterday afternoon, two women from the Dry Fork section, Mrs. Mimma Wilfong and Gloria Wilfong, entered pleas of not guilty to shoplifting at the same store. Assistant manager Frank Bolyard, testified he had watched the women take some minor items and followed them out of the store.

Magistrate Maroney found them both guilty, fined them $15 and costs each, and when it was learned they had no money he suspended sentence upon promise of good behavior, but cautioned them about being in town for any such future activities Bolyard said they had been on the lookout for some women who had been known to have stolen some dresses at a previous time.

Letter to the Editor

Garrett County Republican,
Dear Sirs,

In August I visited my brother in Loch Lynn, I asked him to drive me over to Crystal Spring. I was shocked to see the condition of the roads. Why do not the local people care enough about the old landmark to see that some thing is done to care for it and preserve it for the future. I am an old lady and when I was a little girl I used to go there just to drink from that spring. In those days the roads were kept up, and flowers grew all around the spring.

I do hope the extension of the old Mountain Lake Park hotel will be painted and kept in good condition. It is Garrett county's oldest building and it should be kept in the old tradition.

I enjoyed my visit. It was such a pleasure to see all the places I knew as a girl, and to see so many folks I have not seen in many, many years. I have always loved the mountains of Maryland. It was the place of my birth, but I missed seeing the faces that were so familiar to me as a child. Please help to preserve the old landmarks for the future generations.

Must say also your paper in my father's house was a welcome guest as far back as I can remember; also my brother gets your paper and I really enjoyed reading it while I was there. Thank you.

I remain sincerely,
Mary Kifer

Hippocrates, the greatest of all physicians, was the first to separate medicine from religion and the first to differentiate diseases. Before his time all sickness was but one great disease, and no heed was given to varying symptoms.

Hippocrates' methods were largely based upon direct observations and logical interpretation, and after his time such accuracy of observation was not to serve medicine again for eighteen centuries.

Democrats Elect Board of Directors

The adoption of a constitution and by-laws and the election of a board of directors was held at a meeting of the Young Democrat club of the county at the Accident Fire hall last Friday evening with Lawrence Groer presiding. Approximately 80 persons attended.

The constitution and by-laws were approved by members and they elected Mrs. Barbara VanSickle, William Bever, Melvin Schwing and Meese Spiker as members of the board of directors.

Planning to attend the Young Democrat convention at Gaithersburg Friday and Saturday include Mr. and Mrs. Groer, Mr. and Mrs. Spiker, Miss Margaret Layman and Mrs. Beatrice Opel.

Speakers, introduced by Clinton Englander, were John Sullivan, Frostburg; Andrew Lewis and Michael Linder, Cumberland. A social hour followed at Seggie's Tavern where Hanson cookies and coffee were served.

Another meeting is scheduled for Friday, Octobber 2, at Oakland.

Wheat Program Sign-Up Is Under Way

The sign-up for the 1965 Wheat Program is now under way at the ASCS County office, Arthur G. Fitzwater, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, said today. The sign-up period will continue through October 2.

Operation of the 1965 Program generally will be about the same as for 1964, but some provisions have been modified. The program is again entirely voluntary and offers farmers a number of choices, he said.

Program provisions include price support loans averaging $1.25 per bushel nationally (about $1.37 per bushel in Garrett county) on the participating farm's wheat production, domestic marketing certificates worth 75 cents a bushel on as much as 45 percent, and export marketing certificates worth 30 cents a bushel on as much as 35 percent, of the normal production of the farms wheat allotment. Payments for diverting wheat from production are based on one-half the county price support loan rate and the normal yield for the farm. They average $17.12 per acre for Garrett county.

New program provisions for 1965 include the opportunity for growers taking part in both the wheat and feed grain programs to substitute wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat, and the establishment of an oats-rye base for a farm if this is requested. Growers who wish further information about these or other provisions of the 1956 program may obtain details at the ASCS County office.

The American Way

A WONDERFUL LIST OF ENEMIES

By Tom Anderson

The optimists are studying Russian, the pessimists are studying Chinese and the realists are studying Goldwater. It's Barry-Picking Time! "But I'm worried about Goldwater's foreign policy," some brainwashed people say. First, foreign policy and domestic policy can't be put in separate vacuums. Second, the press has deliberately lied about Goldwater being "trigger-happy". (He did not advocate defoliating the Vietnam forest.) It boils down, eventually, to courage and morality. I believe that Senator Goldwater is a courageous, humble and honest man. I do not think Lyndon Johnson is. Johnson has always been a power-hungry opportunist.

Killer Khrushchev said in a 1960 speech: "Your grandchildren in America will live under Communism, and this will be done not by us but by the workers—the toiling peasantry and the toiling intelligentsia of the United States." By "toiling peasantry," the Comrat meant mainly the Negroes. The "subjugated" and "deprived" American Negro owns more homes, more cars, more TV sets and more college degrees than all the other Negroes in the world combined. Aside from the "Civil Rights" struggle, which the Communists have infiltrated and taken over, the Communists haven't made much progress with the "toiling peasantry" of America. It's the "toiling intelligensia" — people like Adlai Stevenson, Milton Eisenhower and William Fulbright — who are the worse menace to America.

Who's Responsible?

The "liberals," the pacifists, the communist "peace lovers" and "moderates" now talk of Armageddon, the last war mentioned in the Bible when all are destroyed. Who brought us to the brink of Armageddon, if that is where we are? Was it Goldwater? Or Senator Taft? Or Strom Thurmond? The "liberals" remind me of the boy who murdered his mother and father and then threw himself on the mercy of the court because he was an orphan. The pinks who delivered us to the brink now tell us, "Better Red than Dead." Better sink than pink. Pinks are people who're too yellow to be Red. We will not be attacked if we stay strong. If we continue disarming we will inevitably be attacked, from without and from within. The Chinese have a saying, "Where there is no power, there is no peace."

Who's Opposed?

The communist and socialist press in America and throughout the world are raging against Goldwater. Every Communist is against Goldwater. Virtually every union leader is against Goldwater. Practically every misled Negro is against Goldwater. Most of the big city press, the TV and radio commentators are against Goldwater. Most of the foreign socialist press is against Goldwater. Most of the foreign enemies who are receiving billions of foreign aid from us so they'll love us are against Goldwater. Life, Time, Look, Post, "Newsweek" and the communist Worker are against Goldwater. Nelson Rockefeller, Adlai Stevenson, Alger Hiss, Walt Rostow, Chester Bowles, Averill Harriman, Gus Hall, Sammy Davis, Jr., Bobby Kennedy, Walter Reuther, Soapy Williams, NAACP, the Council on Foreign Relations, the American Civil Liberties Union, CORE and the ADA are against Goldwater. What a wonderful list of enemies!

Hot Days and Cool Nights Are Pattern

Hot days and cool nights were the pattern for the past week's weather with the temperature yesterday reaching a high mark of 91 degrees in Oakland. At the official weather station at Weber's the mercury reached just 90 degrees. At one other time, in 1941, it had reached 90 on that day. At one time in September the temperature had reached 97 but it was later in the month, according to Logan Weber.

Rainfall for August was somewhat under the average, the records showed, with absolutely no rain during September up to this day. Fields were dry, streams were very low, with a number of them dry.

There was the same report for each day since last Thursday, and that was clear, with temperatures in the 40's or early 50's in early morning, hitting the 80's and 90's before the end of the day.

Pay Without Work...

The City of New York is already spending $781.2 million a year to help the city's poor. This is about one-quarter of the total expense of the city government.

President Johnson is asking $1 billion with which to combat poverty. If more than three-quarters of $1 billion will not make a dent on poverty in New York City, surely $1 billion will have little effect on the nation as a whole. The obvious conclusion is that spending money is not the way to relieve poverty. The high taxes exacted in the attempt to relieve poverty, create more poverty.

In the next column of the paper from which the above figures are quoted is an account of the plea being made by a large group of distinguished citizens that "every American should be guaranteed an adequate income as a matter of right whether he works or not." Who will choose to work if he can have a guaranteed income without working? The workers whose incomes are taxed to supply incomes for non-workers will more and more be reduced to the poverty line. Something far more fundamental than taking money from some and giving it to others is needed for the cure of poverty.

Our taxi driver this morning gave us a hint of one thing that would help. He told us of a friend who was an unskilled worker in the building trade. This man is paid about $125 per week. When the cold weather comes in the fall he leaves his job and draws $50 per week unemployment relief until good weather the following spring. He could work but he does not choose to do so. Fifty dollars tax free he thinks is better than continuing to earn $125, pay taxes on it and endure the cold weather. The high taxes resulting from the fact that large numbers of people have found ways of living without work is one of the principal causes of poverty.

Moreover, the American people should look squarely at the possibilities before them if they embark upon a program of paying everyone "an adequate income... whether he works or not." The moment that is done the freedom of the individual is lost. When government pays us all whether we work or not, in order to find the money with which to do it, it will have to compel everyone to work. There is no such thing as something for nothing and in order that everybody will be paid, government will have to compel everybody to work. From that time on each citizen will do as government directs. We will have become slaves to the state.

To avoid that terrible condition, we must learn again to be fair, honest, just, generous, to refrain from coveting and stealing, and to be self-reliant and willing to assume responsibility for ourselves. When the featherbedding, footdragging, cheating and payment for work not done and dishonest claims for relief are eliminated, taxes will be much lower. When people are rewarded in proportion to their efforts and are sure of being able to enjoy all they are willing to work and produce, effort will be intensified and an abundant production of wealth will relieve the poverty that afflicts perhaps a quarter of our population.

Southern High school's Highlanders lost their opening football game to Moorefield's Yellowjackets last Saturday afternoon at Moorefield. The final score was 19 to 6.

The Jackets didn't do well on the statistics sheet, being outgained 116 yards to 50 yards from the line of scrimmage, but capitalized on two big breaks to take the edge in the scoring column.

Leroy Redman was the opportunist, for Moorefield, running an intercepted pass back for 30 yards and a touchdown in the first quarter and electrifying the crowd by returning the kickoff 75 yards to start off the second half of play.

Southern resorted to the same type of tactics to hang its six points on the board, quarterback Charley Davis intercepting a pass on the Moorefield 19 yard line and galloping into the end zone in the game.

The only touchdown from the line of scrimmage was the Jackets' first score early in the initial period. John Fields, senior transfer student from Romney, found daylight around his left end for 18 yards and a tally.

Tries for two extra points failed because of bad snaps from center. On the big play of the game Redman took the kickoff on the 25 yard stripe and started to run the ball down the middle. Finding a traffic jam there he cut quickly to his left, aided by a couple of good blocks and dashed for the end zone. The snap on the point after touchdown attempt was once again high but this time Fields picked it up and lugged it across the goal-line stripe for the score.

The second game for the Highlanders will be this Friday evening, September 11, on the home field under the lights.

The Northern Huskies will open their season on Friday afternoon against Valley High of Lonaconing, at Lonaconing.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Spokesman for God

Lesson for September 13, 1964

Background Scripture: I Samuel 1 through 7.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 11:1-7.

WHAT DOES the word "prophet" bring to mind? Fortune-teller, tea-leaf reader, weather predicter, "Old Man Mose?" One meaning of "prophet," to be sure, is a man who can tell you today what is to happen tomorrow. In the Bible this is sometimes the meaning of the word. Most prophets went in for prediction some of the time, and most prophets' predictions sounded most unlikely to those who first heard them; but they came true. Indeed, according to Deuteronomy 18, one test of an alleged or self-styled prophet is the same as for a true one: Does what he foretells come true? If it does not, he is no true prophet. If it does, he is.

Dr. Foreman

Exception to the rule

As a general rule, a prophet's contemporaries do not recognize him as such. Since most "prophets" are fakes, people suppose the true prophet is a faker too. Jesus said a prophet is not without honor except in his own country. Familiarity breeds contempt, the proverb says. How can an ordinary man we see every day be a prophet? Now Samuel, whose story is in the Old Testament, was an exception to this rule. In his own day, in his own country, his own people did recognize and honor him. Samuel was a man of many affairs and many talents. He was a soldier, revivalist, judge, historian, kingmaker. But he is best known as prophet. He had an extraordinary life. Every one knows the story of how his mother prayed for a child, and how this child was promised to the Lord before he was born. Well known too is the story of his life in the shrine at Shiloh as a kind of apprentice priest; and how he first became a sensation by his denouncing High Priest Eli, the aged, respectable and venerable Eli, head (if we may put it that way) of the State Church. What most people don't know is the rest of the story. Did his later life prove a failure? Was he a wonder-child, fading into obscurity after his one outburst?

Leader of man

By no means. That incident at Shiloh was just the start. Measured by immediate results, Samuel was perhaps the most successful prophet who ever lived. The people listened. When he led a revival, there were many conversions; when he led an army, the army won. When he selected a king, the people elected Samuel's man. As long as the king followed Samuel's guidance, he was a success . . . but that's another story. The point is, Samuel was a true leader; he was believed, obeyed, followed. His judgments were accepted as God's judgments. His decisions and his commands were obeyed just as if God had been literally speaking with Samuel's mouth.

No man lives forever

Samuel's successes as a military man did not make him a warmonger. His own battles were fought to set free his people from foreign domination; his aim was justice and peace. And justice and peace the Hebrews had for a generation.

And then what? Something slipped, everything seemed to slip. Not until the time of Solomon was there such a peace as in Samuel's time, and Solomon's peace, not being founded on justice, did not endure. There is a point here sometimes forgotten. No man lives forever; and no matter how good, brave, smart and successful a great man may be, sooner or later "his place knows him no more." Even a man who lives close to God must go the way of all flesh. We make a mistake if we think any man however good and great can arrange things so that the evils he has successfully fought will never return. The Philistines, the enemies of Israel, never came back in Samuel's time. But in later days they were even more troublesome than ever before. So unless there are successors to great men, the great man's good may die with him.

"The great use of a life is to spend it for something that outlasts it."
—The Weekly Underwriter

This was the spirit of the men depicted in the old woodcut shown above as they traveled by foot, oxcart, and horse in 1848 to the old Academy in Brookeville. They were attending a Board of Directors' meeting of The Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery County, Maryland.

It is this same spirit, enlivened by over a century of fulfillment, that continues to make this company the reliable community institution it is . . . serving Maryland since 1848 . . .

EACH NEW DRUG COSTS ABOUT $4,000,000.00

Between discovery of a new drug in a laboratory the time needed to prove safety and benefits is over five years. Reliable statistics show that only one new drug is useful for every 2500 substances studied. Four million dollars, the average cost of developing each drug discovery, is a lot of money. But, new drugs are greatly responsible for the fact that since 1937 the death rate has so greatly decreased. Countless millions living today would be dead if the 1937 death rate had continued. A useful new drug is always a blessing.

Warning: the only place you can buy tiger paws is in a tiger paw store.

We know. We're an official U.S. Royal tiger paw store.

Any other kind of dealer might sell you something "just as good."

"Just as good," that is, until you notice that your new tires are'nt living up to the claims made for them.

Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):

They were tested at 120 miles an hour. For a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.

They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour. For 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)

Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner...like tigers.

Want 'em?

Remember, we're an official U.S. Royal tiger paw store.

Any other kind of store can only give you "just as good."

Science Sessions Set For Local Teachers

Science teachers from Allegany and Garrett counties will participate in a series of "Sessions With Scientists" conducted by the Maryland Academy of Sciences at the Beall High School, Frostburg, beginning September 30.

The program, arranged by the Academy at the request of the Maryland Department of Education, involves visits by scientists to evening meetings with teachers in different parts of the State to discuss such subjects as genetics, cyrogencies, electronics, oceanography, astronomy and water supply and pollution.

The sessions, according to Mrs. Edith B. Whiteford, the Academy's coordinator of educational activities, affords science teachers an opportunity to become familiar with background information in the sciences and to have contact with scientists who are actively engaged in research or teaching.

The material presented by the visiting lecturers encompasses content information rather than techniques of instruction.

The Academy plans sessions on September 30, October 7 and 20, and November 4, 11 and 18. The meetings will run from 7:30 to 9 P. M. and specific topics and speakers are to be announced.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools for Allegany county, and Albert R. Ringer, supervisor of high schools for Garrett county, are the local coordinators.

"The Uncommon Man"—A few days ago we observed the 90th birthday of Herbert Hoover, a man whose life stands as in inspiration to the Uncommon Americans of tomorrow. Mr. Hoover once wrote a magazine article on "The Uncommon Man." I'd like to quote one brief excerpt.

"Most people hold fast to an essential fact in American life: We believe in equal opportunity for all, but we also know that this includes the opportunity to rise to leadership. In other words—to be uncommon. I have never met a father and mother who did not want their children to grow up to be uncommon men and women. May it always be so. For the future of America rests not in mediocrity, but in the constant renewal of leadership in every phase of our national life."

Wheat Deal: Aiding The Enemy—According to the latest figures available, the wheat-for-Russia sale has already cost our taxpayers $42,951,414.15 in export subsidies alone. The American taxpayers find themselves in the strange position of building up a regime dedicated to our destruction. I worked and voted with other Senators against the wheat deal, but we were outvoted by a narrow margin by supporters of the Administration.

The Administration's intentions in the U. S.—Soviet wheat deal have been questionable from the start. Adorned with outright fabrication from the beginning, this wheat deal has been about as phony a caper as any the Administration has attempted to pull on the people. First, it was supposed to be a deal where we got gold and they got wheat. That turned out to be false. We received no gold. As a matter of fact, we were called on to extend credit to Communist countries—to give Communists credit with our money to buy our produce. Administration spokesmen in Congress insisted on giving the President authority to extend such credit.

In addition, the Administration reneged on shipping the wheat in U. S. vessels. At first, it was pledged that at least 50% of it would be shipped on U. S. bottoms. Then the percentage shrunk, and finally foreign ships doing business with Castro were taken off the State Department black list and allowed to haul the U. S. wheat to Russia. Thus was completed a turnabout of rare proportions, cancelling out anything resembling a firm stand on Cuban trade by our allies.

And observe Soviet duplicity. Under the terms of the export licenses granted for the Soviet wheat shipments, none of the grain may be shipped outside Russia without U. S. approval. Yet, according to a news item on July 20, the skipper and the chief officer of a U. S. merchant ship in the Black Sea port of Novorossick said they had seen American wheat being loaded onto a Soviet freighter for shipment to Cuba. This makes a mockery of our ban against trading with Cuba. It also raises the question: Are the Soviets hoodwinking the Administration in double-dealing or is the Administration fully aware of what is going on and doing nothing about it in an effort to keep the Communists from "rocking the boat" in an election year?

Justice Department Attack On Hagerstown—A consolidation of companies which would have greatly benefited the economy of Hagerstown, Maryland, has been blocked by the Justice Department in Washington. This block in the dam the Administration is attempting to erect against the competitive stream of American business was in the form of an injunction against the consolidation of Chrysler Corporation and Mack Trucks, Inc., the headquarters of which is in Hagerstown. The two companies, faced with the prospect of a long court fight and a slim chance of winning against the powerful Administration forces, threw in the sponge. The Justice Department said that the consolidaton would probably result in a lessening of competition, but those who are familiar with the situation say that the merger would in fact enhance competition. The Justice Department action was based on Section 7 of the Clayton Act which the Administration interprets as giving it a roving commission to move against any consolidation that happens to catch its eye, and monopoly has become anything the Justice Department says it is. As a matter of fact, the Chrysler-Mack proposal was a business natural that might well have given General Motors, the colossus of the industry, a run for its money. Chrysler, for the most part, is in the light truck market, while Mack concentrates on heavy duty jobs. They compete in different segments of the industry, and an amalgam, far from eliminating Mack as a factor in the trade, would have made a new combination that could have sharpened competition all the way up and down the line. The Chrysler-Mack merger would make sense, and certainly it would have benefited Hagerstown. Here we have an example of the Administration's attitude toward business and industry. Speaking generally, the economic forces which lead to amalgamation can be desirable and often lead to economic and efficient operation.

We Get A Sub Named "Francis Scott Key"—Last week Secretary of the Navy Nitze informed me that he had decided favorably on my request that the new nuclear submarine be named "Francis Scott Key", in honor of the writer of our National Anthem. I had called the Secretary's attention to the fact that Francis Scott Key had penned the words of the Star Spangled Banner during a naval battle, the heroic defense of Baltimore City at Fort McHenry, and that this year marked the 150th anniversary of that occasion, and that it seemed particularly appropriate that one of the great new polaris vessels be named for this beloved American, who incidentally was a native of Maryland. The Secretary agreed with me, as evidenced by his decision. Secretary Nitze said that nuclear submarine SSBM 657, the keel of which is to be laid on October 10, would be christened the "Francis Scott Key" in compliance with my request.

Olympic Games At Tokyo—In October, the Olympic Games will be held in Tokyo, Japan. Even though we send amateurs to compete against professionals of other countries, notably Russia, we are expecting great things from our American team. Both the men's and the women's track team are especially good this year. One of our Frederick, Maryland, girls made the women's track team after strenuous competition—Miss Debbie Thompson. Debbie and her coach, Jack Griffin, also of Frederick, honored me by calling at my office last week. Mr. Griffin will serve as assistant coach to the American team at Tokyo. A new U. S. satellite, Syncom III, is now being jockeyed in the sky to a position where it can relay TV pictures from the Olympic Games. Syncom is to be nudged to where it will remain directly above a given point on the earth, the spot where the Equator crosses the International Dateline. The project is not primarily connected with the Olympic Games, but the occasion offers a dramatic opportunity to the space scientists to test their ability to jockey an orbiting satellite into a pinpoint position.

Another Economic "Expert" Heard From—A man lived by the side of the road. For his livelihood he sold hamburgers and weenies. He was hard of hearing, and so he had no radio. He also had trouble with his eyes, and so he did not look at TV or read the newspapers. However, his hamburgers and weenies were wonderful, and he did a landoffice business. At the peak of the season, his son came home from college, where he had studied economics, and was shocked to hear that his father had ordered a bigger stove and a cash register to take care of the thriving business. "Pop", cried the son, "haven't you heard? The country is in a serious recession. Things are going to pot!" The father reasoned, "My son is an economic expert. He knows what's what," and so, the father cancelled the order for the new equipment, took down his electric sign, and fired his cook. His business fell off 50 percent in two weeks. "You sure were correct," the father told his son. "We're in a recession all right. And just think, I'd never have known it if you hadn't told me!"

Colaw Outstanding In WVU Scrimmage

Ron Colaw, Oakland, and Tom Yeater were outstanding backfield men in scrimmage sessions at Jackson's Mill where the West Virginia football squad is in training.

Colaw was credited with turning in the better performance. He hit through the middle time after time, picking up 15 yards in some carries. Yeater appeared in better shape than in 1963 and is running harder and faster.

Quarterback Eddie Pastilong piloted a team to two touchdowns in a Saturday scrimmage. Pastilong had six of 11 passes in the session and won a 14-8 victory over the opposing team.

Frankly, we got the idea from Germany. To improve on it we got the materials, engineering, and labor from America.

There are thirteen reasons why the Dodge A100 Compact van is a better buy:

1. More power. 2. More durability. 3. Bigger payload. 4. Bigger brakes. 5. More comfortable seats. 6. More insulation. 7. Larger wheels. 8. More accessible service. 9. Better corrosion protection. 10. Tougher transmission. 11. Larger fuel tank. 12. A 5-year/50,000 mile warranty*. 13. The heater works!

Are these unsubstantiated claims of superiority? You can get all the proof from any one of the Dodge Boys. Stop in today.

*Here's how Dodge Truck's 5-year/50,000-mile Engine and Drive Train Warranty protects you: Chrysler Corporation warrants for 5 years or 50,000 miles or 1500 hours of operation, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business gasoline and Perkins diesel engines (i.e., block, head(s), and internal parts), intake manifold, water pump, flywheel, flywheel housing, clutch housing, torque converter, transmission (i.e., case and internal parts, excluding manual clutch), transfer case and all internal parts, drive shafts, center bearings, universal joints, driving axles and differentials, and drive wheel bearings of its new Dodge trucks, provided the owner has (1) the engine oil changed and universal joints (except sealed-type) lubricated every 2 months or 2000 miles, whichever comes first, (2) the engine oil filter replaced and the carburetor air filter cleaned every second oil change and dry-type carburetor air filter element replaced every 32,000 miles, (3) the closed crankcase vent system cleaned and serviced every 6000 miles, and (4) the transmission, transfer case, driving axle and sealed-type universal joint lubricants changed every 20,000 miles. The foregoing services must be performed more often when reasonably required due to severe dust or regular "stop and go" operation. Every 6 months the owner must furnish to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service and request the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the truck's then current mileage.

TOWN BENEFACTOR Kenneth W. Pollock (right) of Fort Scott, Kan., emerges from the basement fallout shelter area of the city building where extra ventilating equipment (see vents in background) made it possible to protect about 1,000 persons—many more than could be accommodated otherwise. Using data on the best available local shelter areas in existing structures provided by the Defense Department's National Fallout Shelter Survey, Pollock has spent about $18,000 so far to improve shelters for 6,600, and will go to $50,000 if necessary to improve fallout shelters for the town's 10,000 inhabitants. Money for the project comes from the charity fund of Key Work Clothes, Inc., a local firm which Pollock heads. (Photo by Bill Snead, Topeka Capital-Journal)

WHAT IS FREEDOM

By Harry Browne

Editor, Freedom Magazine

There are many people working on behalf of what they call "freedom" today. There are those who advocate the freedom to be able to enter transactions without the consent of the other party involved. And there are those who advocate the freedom to put in jail those who disagree, etc.

Perhaps the common definition of many of those who call for freedom is that: "Freedom is the right of everyone to do what I think best".

At the same time, there are those who reject any notions of controlling the acts of others, but simply ask for freedom for anyone. Strangely, these people are often accused of wanting to impose their will over others.

Joseph Galambos has defined freedom to mean that condition of society in which every individual has 100 percent control over his own life and property, but no coercive control over others.

It would seem implausible to question the morality of such a definition. For it does grant to each the right to run his own life, but not the lives of others.

Benefits

What would such a society be like? It would mean that each man would have the incentive to produce much more — because he would be assured that he could keep what he earns. Obviously, the total wealth of the nation would thereby be greater.

It would mean that "do-gooders" and "reformers" would be powerless to impose their plans and theories upon others. Instead, they would be required to sell their ideas on their merits alone.

It would mean that all forms of charity would be voluntary. And so real need would have to exist, before contributions would be made. Today, government-imposed share-the-wealth plans are substituted for charity—and create a spirit of "getting" instead of "giving."

It would mean that each man would know that his own home and property were truly his castle — free from the arbitrary whims of bureaucrats.

Men would be required to produce goods and services that others need and want — in order to accumulate riches. There would be no handout programs, no politically-inspired contracts to divert resources and energy away from productive uses.

Choice

Such a condition of freedom would have another unique feature. It would mean that those who preferred socialism would have the right to sell themselves into slavery, if they voluntarily chose to do so. However, they would not have the power to take with them those who prefer freedom. Today, a "majority" of the voters can impose any kind of socialistic program upon all.

What it amounts to is simply that everyone would have the right to pursue the kind of life he desires, to practice the economic theories in which he believes, to work or not to work as he sees fit. But no one would have a claim upon the life and property of another.

A society in which each individual has 100 percent control of his own life and property is the ideal society — and there is no reason to believe it is unobtainable.

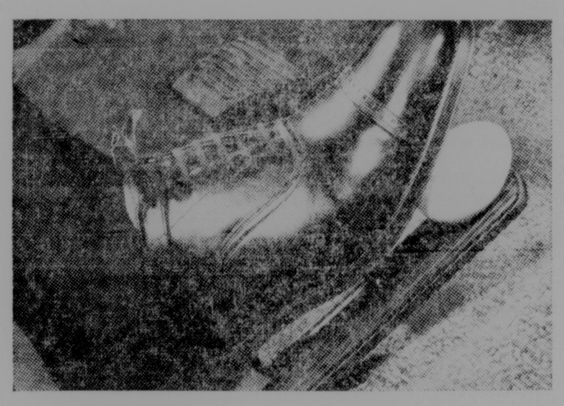
How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful



Drive as if there were an egg between your foot and the accelerator and you'll save gasoline. Shell tells why and gives five other tips that will help you squeeze more miles out of every gallon.

THE WAY you drive has a lot to do with the mileage you get. One important thing to remember is this: use a light, steady touch on the accelerator—almost as if there were an egg between your foot and the pedal. That doesn't mean you have to poke along. It simply means you avoid stomping needlessly on the accelerator in such a way that you force-feed the engine, wasting gasoline.

Don't race your engine when you're standing still. It wastes fuel.

Don't indulge in jackrabbit starts. They hold automatic transmissions in a lower gear longer, make engines run faster and squander fuel.

Don't drive at excessive speeds. The faster you go, the poorer your mileage. Your car will go as much as 10 percent farther on each gallon when driven at 60 miles per hour instead of 70.

So much for some things you shouldn't do. Now, for some things you should do.

1. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. You'll be able to pace yourself with the other cars, avoid excessive slowing down and speeding up, and keep a smooth, even pressure on the accelerator. Mileage will improve.

2. Get these fuel-saving engine adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you may be paying for it in wasted gasoline. Have it set properly. Have the compression checked for power-wasting valve and ring conditions.

Here are other essential adjustments:

A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Dirty or incorrectly adjusted spark plugs can steal up to a full mile from every gallon of gasoline your car burns. Use Super Shell gasoline with famous TCP* additive to give spark-plugs longer life.

B. Adjust carburetor for correct air-fuel mixture and proper idle speed.

C. Have automatic choke checked for correct operation.

D. Make sure your air filter is clean and replace it if necessary.

E. Have your fuel lines checked periodically to make sure they're not leaking.

3. Check tire pressure—regularly. Keep tires properly inflated. Underinflated tires increase friction, cut mileage.

4. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for brake drag the next time you're in for lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it not only with extra brake wear, but with extra gasoline.

5. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car. Especially if you pay their gasoline bills. The closer you and your family follow these tips, the better your mileage will be.

To start off right, fill up with Super Shell gasoline. It contains a mileage ingredient called Platformate to help you get good mileage. Fill up at the clean, white Super Shell pump.

*Trademark for Shell's gasoline additive for motion control. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2692212.

SHELL DEALERS DE-BUNK A MYTH ABOUT CAR CARE

It's a myth that there's no point in using a premium gasoline if regular is recommended for your car

It's true that engines built for regular gasoline usually will run fine on regular for thousands of miles. But after a while, deposits can bake on combustion chamber walls. Result: octane requirements go up. The engine may knock. You hear telltale "pinging." If this happens, the engine can't deliver top performance without the extra octane quality of a premium grade fuel.

That's the real lowdown. You can count on your Shell dealer for straight facts and honest work. See him regularly.

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Conference Report Moves Environmental Health Center Outside D. C. Area

The Public Health Service, the people of Maryland, and indeed, all of the people of the United States are the victims today of one of the most unfortunate parliamentary practices which has evolved in the Congress of the United States. A good example of this practice occurred last week when the Committee of Conference of the two Houses on H. R. 10809 presented its report.

For a long time the Congress has been debating the establishment of a central Enviromental Health Facility. This would be a research center for studying all aspects of modern environment—the effect of city living—traffic, chimney and industrial fumes—concentration of population—all the things which affect human living—in order to assess the impact of environmental factors on public health.

Outside D. C. by 50-Mile Radius

The Conference Committee Report submitted to the Congress recommended that this facility not be located within a radius of 50 miles of the District of Columbia. The actual compromise appropriation measure does not mention the Environmental Center by name. This created a situation where the House and Senate were voting on a bill to provide funds for the Environmental Center, but only in the Committee's "aside"— only in the Committee's remarks contained in the Report—was there the prohibition against the location in the Washington Metropolitan area. Thus there was no realistic opportunity to isolate this issue so that the Members might work their will on the Floor of the House or the Senate. While the words of a Committee Report are not binding upon the Executive Branch of the Government, it has become customary and traditional that they are so influential they virtually have the effect of law. In my opinion this is a wrong way to legislate.

Authorities in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had strongly recommended that the Environmental Health Facility should be located in the Washington area. This was not a recommendation because they were interested in enlarging the number of government facilities in this area. It was a recommendation made on the merits and the facts.

If this kind of facility is to be useful the scientists who are engaged in research must have an opportunity to be in constant touch with their counterparts in the Department of Labor, the Department of Agriculture, with the Doctors who are doing research at the National Institutes of Health, Walter Reed Army Medical Center, the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, and many other government and academic facilities located in Washington.

Intent of Constitution Frustrated

With this comment, which is included in the Conference Committee Report, indicating that this facility should not be located within 50 miles of the District of Columbia, the question is raised as to whether or not the Department of Health, Education and Welfare can follow its own best judgment on this question. I believe this kind of comment—this indirect direction by a Congressional Committee—is not based on merit but is more likely based on the parochial considerations of some Members.

I believe that when the Constitution directed there should be a Federal City to serve as a National Capital it was intended that all of the governmental institutions necessary to government should be located there when that was feasible and desirable. I also believe that by the use of the Conference Committee Report, the Members of the Conference Committee are frustrating the intent of the Constitution.

Replica Of Fort McHenry Flag For Francis Scott Key Grave

To honor the composer of our National Anthem, I have introduced a bill in the House of Representatives which provides that a replica of the America flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes which flew over Fort McHenry on September 14, 1814, may be flown over the grave of Francis Scott Key, in his honor and in honor of the immortal composition which that flag inspired.

LBJ's Choice

Who would have dreamed four years ago that talkative, bouncy, round-faced Hubert Horatio Humphrey, so thoroughly trounced by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential primaries, would be the 1964 Democrat vice presidential nominee?

With the selection of Humphrey as his running-mate, the President leaves no room for doubt about his Administration's thorough commitment to the ultra liberal programs and policies endorsed by the far-left Americans for Democratic Action

For Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who helped found the ADA, has one of the most extreme left-wing voting records in the U. S. Senate. Americans for Constitutional Action, which rates Senators on their support of principles of limited government, sound money, and individual rights, rated Sen. Humphrey's voting record for the first session of the 87th Congress as a big fat zero! His cumulative ACA rating for all his years in the Senate is one per cent. The Americans for Democratic Action, on the other hand, rated him 94 percent liberal for the same period.

Humphrey's record is one of incessant backing of budget-busting spending programs, and legislation giving more and more authority to Federal bureaucrats and less and less autonomy to states and communities. His support of all-out disarmament in the face of Soviet threats, and his "faith" in the negotiated promises of our enemies, spell out accommodation and weakness in foreign policy. In fact, close examination reveals hardly any differences between what Sen. Humphrey espouses and what has been supported for decades by the Socialist Party.

The Senator who boasted of having talked to Khrushchev for 8½ hours is no longer to be taken lightly. "Old, reliable, available Hubert," as he has characterized himself, is finally on the national ticket. Truly, the 1964 presidential election offers a real choice to the electorate.

Goldwater Favors More Freedom For Nation's Hamstrung Farmers

GOP Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater lashed out at the Johnson Administration's farm policies in a statement last week, pledging that a Goldwater Administration would work to extend opportunities for American farmers, "never to restrict them."

Sen. Goldwater proposed a system of voluntary price supports, and "intensive efforts" toward developing "greater and more meaningful industrial uses of agricultural products."

"Scientific research should be stimulated toward the permanent expansion of market opportunities for American foods and fibers," the Republican Presidential hopeful said.

Attacks LBJ Programs

Singling out for attack the Administration's policy of dumping feed grains at low prices in 1961 and 1962, contributing to the overproduction of livestock and a consequent decline in livestock prices, Sen. Goldwater said that he was "deeply appreciative" of the farmers' problems.

Challenges Wheat Deal

Calling the Johnson "wheat certificate" program a "nightmare under massive mismanagement of the Johnson-Freeman Administration," Sen. Goldwater pledged to carry out the 1964 Republican Platform's promise to repeal the wheat certificate plan, and substitute a wheat program that would be acceptable to American farmers.

Speaking for himself and for the 1964 Republican Platform, Sen. Goldwater said "We will resist all efforts to make the farmer dependent for his economic survival upon either compensatory payments by the Federal government or upon the whim of the Secretary of Agriculture."

"I can't get my brother's pants over his shoes!"

The young man had a problem.

He was quite serious about it as he dialed the telephone operator.

"What's wrong?" she asked.

"Nobody's home and I can't get my brother's pants on over his shoes!"

"Why don't you try taking off his shoes and then putting on his pants?" the operator gently suggested.

There was a long pause, some heavy breathing, then finally, "Gee, that works swell! Thanks."

This little story is true. And it tells something of the spirit that thousands of telephone people bring along with them to their work each day.

We just try to be helpful. We don't always succeed—but we try.

Lesson in Socialism . . . .

A teacher in the public schools found the socialist-communist idea of taking "from each according to his ability and giving to each according to his need" as being accepted without question by many students. He made an effort to point out the fallacy in this theory by the following:

When one of the brighter or harder-working pupils made a grade of 95 on a test he would suggest that he take away 20 points and give them to a student who made only 55 points. Thus each would contribute according to his ability and—since both would have a passing mark—each would receive according to his need.

By juggling the grades of all the other students in this fashion, the result would be a "common ownership" grade between 75 and 80—the minimum needed for passing, or for survival. Then he would speculate with the pupils as to the probable results if he actually used the socialistic theory for grading papers.

First, the highly productive pupils would soon lose all incentive for producing. Why strive to make a high grade if part of it is taken from you by authority and given to someone else?

Next, the less productive pupils would for a time be relieved of the necessity to study or to produce. The system would continue until the high producers had sunk or had

Registration Of Voter Deadline Is Next Tuesday

Citizens Must Be Registered To Vote In November

Citizens were advised for the final time that next Tuesday, September 22 at 4 p. m., would be the deadline to register for the general election on Tuesday, November 3.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors, gave out these easy rules to follow:

Any young citizen of the county who will have reached his or her 21st birthday on or before November 3 may register before the deadline and vote on November 3.

Any person moving to this county from within the sixth congressional district, may register immediately after moving to this county. Other counties in the district are Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery.

All applications for absentee ballots must be in the office by October 14. All service men have an extension of five extra days.

All persons having received notification of district changes, should mail their form to the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections on or before the 22nd day of September.

Persons knowing themselves to be registered in the wrong district should come to the office and sign a form making the change.

Names of persons are removed from the registration books when no vote is cast for five years, in which case reregistration is necessary.

Miss Rowan said the office would be open from 9 to 4 on normal days, and that it also would be open during the noon hour for those who are working and find it inconvenient or impossible to get there during regular hours.

One change was noted in places for voting in November. All voters in district No. 7 will vote in the Court House lobby or Rotunda, as was the case until a few years ago. In the primary the voters of district 7 voted in the parochial school hall. Previously they also had voted in the office of the Board of Supervisors, in the basement of the court house.

Appeal Case To Be Tried on Tuesday

A case remanded to the Garrett County Circuit Court for a rehearing will be held Tuesday morning at 9:15 with Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton, Cumberland, presiding.

The case is that of Earl Reuben Franklin, who in April of 1958 received a 10-year sentence for burglary and two years for jail break. He was one of three men who burglarized the Fox Hardware store in Friendsville in July, 1957, and took money and a large quantity of U. S. Savings bonds.

Franklin had taken his case to the U. S. District court at Baltimore on a habeas corpus petition but lost out. Later the Maryland Court of Appeals heard his plea that his court-appointed councel not been given enough time to prepare the defense. The Court of Appeals remanded the matter to the Circuit court here.

The late Judge Neil C. Fraley was the presiding judge in Franklin's trial. Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill has disqualified himself as in the 1958 proceedings he assisted former State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt in prosecuting the case.

Answer Three Alarms

Oakland firemen answered three alarms within a twenty-four hour period, with none of the three being of much consequence.

The first call was the result of a grass fire at the home of Mrs. Rose White, Pennington street, on Sunday afternoon about three o'clock. The second call come shortly after midnight Monday morning. A broken electric line had fallen against a tree limb, causing it to blaze, in Mt. Lake Park.

The third call came near 1 o'clock Monday as the result of a flue fire in the farm home of J. B. Beekman, on the Jasper Riley road, about three miles from Oakland, in the Pleasant Valley section. There was no damage.

Gas Co. Opens Case For Rate Increase

Columbia Gas of Maryland yesterday opened its case for increased rates that would affect 21,500 customers in Allegany and Garrett counties. The move came before a Public Service Commission hearing in Baltimore.

Columbia's gas rate increase would raise costs for a typical home-heating customer an average of about $1.48 a month. A non-heating customer's costs would go up 32 cents a month.

The increase affects residential, commercial, industrial and municipal customers in two counties.

Columbia's June request was the first bid for higher rates since March 18, 1960. The company has been operating since December 15, 1960 on a schedule of rates set in response to that request, according to C. A. Massa, vice president, who represented Columbia at today's hearing.

The rate bid would add $323,000 to Columbia's annual revenues and leave the company with $165,000 of that after taxes.

Fire Destroys Farm Machinery Shed

A machinery shed on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Turney, about two miles west of Oakland on the Fingerboad road, was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon about 1:20. Some farm machinery in the building, owned by Jackson Thomas, was also destroyed.

Ernest Welch, driving along the road, noticed the fire and called the Oakland fire department. The shed was a total loss by the time firemen arrived on the scene. Firemen kept the blaze from spreading. Loss was estimated at $500 on the building and $500 on the machinery. The cause of the blaze was not definitely determined, but firemen said it could have been from spontaneous combustion.

The blaze revived and began to burn later yesterday afternoon and firemen were again called to the scene, but there was no additional damage.

Oakland firemen also were called Tuesday evening around 8:30 when it was discovered an automobile was on fire on the Red Run road. It was a 1961 Rambler owned by Elmer Niner. The cause was said to be defective wiring.

Has Head Injury

Hervey Jackson Baker, resident of Hopemont, W. Va., sustained a possible fractured skull yesterday when an automobile on which he was working fell from some blocks on which it was perched, pinning him beneath it.

The mishap occurred at the home of Red Guthrie on the Crellin-Turner Douglas road. He was rushed to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and later transferred to the West Virginia university medical center in Morgantown.

There was no report on his condition today.

Missing Woman, 38, Found Dead Monday

The partially decomposed body of Mrs. Verta A. Durst, 38, who had been missing from her home near Keyser Ridge since August 29, was located in a wooded area Monday evening about one half mile from her home.

Authorities reported the body was found in a tangle of tall weeds in a wooded area near "Devil's Half Acre" located three miles from the intersection of U. S. routes 40 and 219.

Tfc. L. E. Dunton of the state police who was in charge of a series of search parties, said Fred Oester, 14, a neighbor of the Dursts, on Monday had detected an odor a half mile from the Durst home. He notified the women's husband, Wilbert Durst, a construction worker, and the two went to the spot and found the body of Mrs. Durst.

Dr. James Feaster, Oakland, deputy state medical examiner, who went to the scene, ordered the body removed to the Newman Funeral home in Grantsville where an autopsy was performed.

The mother of six children was reported to have walked out of her home at 8 p. m., August 29 with a quantity of sleeping pills. Trooper Dunton said that during the investigation her husband was questioned and exonerated in the woman's disappearance.

Authorities were continuing their investigation.

Funeral services for the woman were scheduled Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock in the Grantsville cemetery with Rev. David Fetter officiating. A memorial service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Jennings Lutheran church by Rev. Mr. Fetter.

A native of the Grantsville area she was born August 25, 1926, a daughter of Norman and Minnie Poleman Baker. Besides her parents, she is survived by her husband; three sons, Kenneth, David and Donald; and three daughters, Carolyn, Dianna and Vickie Durst, all at home; a brother, Floyd Baker, Grantsville; and a sister, Miss Leota Baker, also Grantsville. She had been a member of the New Germany Reformed church.

Mystery of Little Yellow Box Solved

The mystery of the little yellow box was solved this week, and apparently no one was the worse for the experience.

It all started when a truck of the Schlumberger Well Survey company, heading toward Oakland from West Virginia, dropped the round box, about 8 inches in height, at Red House.

A little later another trucker drove by, saw the object, put it in his truck and continued on his way. In the meantime the loss was discovered and word went out over the air that the yellow box contained radio active matter.

The trucker who had picked up the package, then disposed of it near the Youghiogheny river at Crellin. Another person called the sheriff and informed him where he could retrieve it, which Sheriff James Frantz did, and returned it to the company. The lock on the cylinder had been broken but apparently the radio-active substance was still intact.

Jailed in Default Of Assessed Fine

Richard Dale Pough, of Kitzmiller, was given a hearing in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Saturday, August 15, on a charge of being drunk along the public streets in Kitzmiller. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and costs. In default of payment of fine he was sent to the county jail for 10 days.

Calvin Love entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of non-support of his wife, Helen Love, and minor children, when given a hearing on Thursday September 10, but was found guilty and sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction. He entered an appeal so his case will go to the Circuit court.

Elmer Fike, Baltimore, also entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of non support of a minor child but was found guilty. The charge was brought by Jane Fike. He was ordered to pay $12 per week for support beginning September 19.

A hearing is set for September 22 before Magistrate Marone to hear the case against Robert Kemp, who is charged by Mrs. Janet Hardesty with being drunk and disorderly. Kemp was hospitalized last week with a head wound after he had been allegedly struck over the head with a whisky bottle.

In the civil docket this week was a case brought by Kathleen Bobo against Mrs. Karen Offutt for non payment of domestic wages. Magistrate Maroney returned a judgment of $60 in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant has thirty days to pray an appeal.

There are docket entries for three persons charged with passing worthless checks, who have not as yet been apprehended.

Robt. Topscher Dies From Stab Wound

A young soldier, 23, whose parents owned property in the Red Run area of Deep Creek Lake, died as the result of a stab wound in the neck from an unknown assailant last Friday in Pittsburgh.

He was identified as Robert Topscher, who was stationed with a military police unit in Germany and who had returned to this country on furlough to attend the funeral of his father in recent days.

Apparently robbery was the motive as his pockets were turned inside out. He was discovered in an unconscious condition and taken to a hospital where he lived for a few hours but never regained consciousness.

His parents' cottage was adjacent to that of Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Gibson. He had visited at the cottage at various times.

Police are investigating but they have no leads.

September Grand Jurors Return Five Indictments

Make Recommendations On Forestry Camps, Liquor Dispensary, Etc.

The September Term grand jurors completed their labors Tuesday afternoon after being in session for two days. They returned five indictments after examining 18 witnesses.

The indictments included one against Ralph Edgel Coleman on sodomy; one against Earl Henry Moats on forgery, and two against Carl Frederick Hinebaugh, Deer Park, for manslaughter by automobile, in the death of two persons, Frank Allen McGinnis and Robin Lynn McGinnis. The other indictment was not on the open docket because the warrant had not been served.

Moats is charged with having the name of Ward Moats as an endorser on a promissory note of $535.58 made out to the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

The manslaughter charges grew out of a three-car collision on state route 135 near Deer Park. The two killed were aged 16 and 8, adopted children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. McGinnis, McCoole. Hinebaugh operated the automobile which struck the one in which the McGinnis family was riding.

Coleman at present is confined in the Patuxent institution. Three persons were involved in the crime committed against a juvenile jail inmate in July of this year. Two waived right to indictment and were given ten-year prison sentences. Coleman refused to waive his right to indictment so he was not tried before Judge Hamill at that time but was ordered to Patuxent for psychiatric examination to determine whether or not he was a defective delinquent.

In the report of the grand jury

Architect's sketch of the Fort Martin Power Station, being built on the Monongahela River below Morgantown, W. Va., as it will look after two units are completed. The first unit now being constructed by Monongahela Power Company and the Potomac Edison Company, operating companies of the Allegheny Power System, will have a capacity of 540,000 kilowatts and is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1965. The second unit still is in the planning stages. Ground breaking ceremonies for the first unit took place September 11.

Power Companies To Invest Two Billion Dollars by Year 1970

The investor-owned electric industry is backing up its faith in the future of Appalachia with an investment of more than $2 billion through 1970, J. Lee Rice, Jr., president of Allegheny Power System, Inc., told a ground-breaking audience in Morgantown Friday, Sept. 11.

Part of that investment, he said, will be for new steam electric power plants now under construction or planned. Those plants will represent new capacity of 7,000,000 kilowatts and will burn around 28,000,000 tons of Appalachia coal per year.

The occasion was the breaking of ground for the new Fort Martin power generating station now being built on the Monongahela River just south of the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line.

Two of the Allegheny Power System companies are building the first generating unit which will cost $53.5 million and will have a generating capability of 540,000 kilowatts. They are Monongahela Power Company and the Potomac Edison Company. A third member of the system, West Penn Power Company, also is joining with the others in the building of an extra high voltage transmission system that will be tied in with the Fort Martin station.

Rice pointed out that the Allegheny companies alone will spend nearly $350 million on new construction in the coal fields of West Virginia and western Pennsylvania and adjoining Maryland. That expenditure will be for a two-unit station at Fort Martin, the second unit expected to be approximately the size of the one now under construction and scheduled for completion in 1967. "By 1970", he said, "our power plants will be burning over nine million tons of coal each year which even under modern mining methods will mean steady employment for some 2,500 miners."

The first Fort Martin unit, largest ever installed in the Allegheny system, will be a mine-mouth plant. The major portion of its coal supply will come from coal preparation plants located on the river just above the generating station. The two-unit plant when completed will burn 3,000,000 tons of coal annually, providing employment for close to 500 men.

It will be served by cooling towers 370 feet high and by stacks reaching 550 feet skyward.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

By Rev. Henry Lee
Corinth Methodist Charge

"The good seed are the children of the kingdom: but the tares are the children of the wicked one." —(Matthew 13:38.)

We hear much talk today concerning the "Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man." We are correct, however, only when we speak of the "Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of Christians." The Bible teaches that there are really two brotherhoods.

The Scriptures divide all men into two groups: the brotherhood of the saved or the brotherhood of the lost; the fellowship of the pierced hand or the fellowship of the cloven hoof; sons of God or sons of Satan. The only way one can enter either family is to be born into it. And how does this take place?

How does one join the fatherhood of Satan? By doing nothing. This is man's birthright. The Bible tells us that this is our inheritance.

It tells us that we were born in sin. "Behold, I was shapen in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me." (Psalm 51: 5) Man is born with this inherent tendency to sin and, "All have sinned, and some short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23) As long as man does nothing about it he remains a member of Satan's family. This is precisely where the teaching of the Fatherhood of God for all men is so dangerous. It is Satan's trick, for as long as the unregenerate person feels he is a child of God he will not take the one step which can make him a true child of God, regeneration. But, thank God, who through Christ "made a way where there is no way!" A way into the family of God.

We can be born again; this time into the family of God. Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." (That is if we would be children of God.) He says, "Don't marvel at this...Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Through faith in Jesus Christ we can be born again and this is "the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father." (Romans 8:15). By faith in Jesus Christ we become children of God, heirs of everlasting life, and joint heirs with Christ. Then, "Once born, die twice, twice born die once," has no fear for us. Then and only then are we children of God.

Every reader will be once born or twice born. Whose child are you? A child of God through Jesus Christ or a child of Satan through your birthright You can be a child of God if you will: 1) acknowledge your sin, 2) believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as your one sufficient Saviour, and 3) confess Him before men. If you are not God's child, become His child now and remember, "Once born die twice, twice born die once."

Edward F. Wood, 53, correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died on July 31 in Washington, D. C.

Temperature Dips To 23 Early Monday

The season's first killing frost on Monday morning did just that very effectively with a temperature reading of 23 degrees.

The dry weather of the past week or more had shriveled much of the crops and flowers but the low temperature of Monday morning put the finishing touches on a good portion of articles that were not well covered or well protected.

The entire county was white with frost not only on Monday morning but also on Tuesday, but temperature was not so emphatic on Tuesday, dropping to the top 20's.

Most gardens were wiped out and the corn was hurt. Growth of corn in the highlands had been slow and farmers had hoped for some rain and the frost to hold off for a better yield. Many dairy farmers already had stored their third hay crop for the season, but pasture had been short for days.

The growing season in this county is normally about 120 days, from May 20 to around September 27.

There has been no rain since the first of September with the exception of a very light sprinkle on Saturday. The balance of the days have been mostly clear and hot, with temperature near the frost line every morning.

The mercury actually got up to 91 degrees last Thursday. Other top temperatures were 81 on Friday, 67 on Monday, 70 on Tuesday, 77 on Wednesday. This morning started in top 30's with hazy skies but these cleared by 10 o'clock and temperature was up again to 74.

Lesson in Socialism . . .

been driven down to the level of the low producers. At that point, in order to survive, the authority would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers.

The instructor would then turn the discussion to ideas of freedom and enterprise—the market economy—where each person has freedom of choice and is responsible for his own decisions and welfare. Most of the pupils then understood what was meant when it was explained that socialism—even in a democracy—would eventually result in a living death for all except the "authorities" and a few of their favorite lackeys.

Notice the similarity in what President Johnson said at the White House last January 15: "We are going to try to take money that WE think is unnecessarily being spent and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have nots' that need it so much." That is socialism right down to the core. Surely that is not what our citizens want.

Grand Jurors

its members made a number of recommendations for repairs to the court house, jail and sheriff's residence.

This jury, as the one before it, repeated the assertion that the present system of keeping inventory at the liquor dispensaries was not adequate and that no one was responsibel for management, and that the storage space was inadequate. The jurors recommended appointment of a general manager for Oakland and Grantsville dispensaries and also an assistant manager with the right of the general manager to hire and fire and to purchase all inventory and to be responsible to the liquor control board.

In regard to forestry camps it noted that camp 3 could stand a better house cleaning.

The jury declared that private paving by the roads department had been investigated and that a satisfactory explanation had been received. Paul DeWitt, county roads engineer was commended for the excellent condition of the county roads garage. Those at Garrett County Memorial hospital also were commended. There were some recommendations for improvement at the roads garage at Grantsville. These are listed in detail in the report which follows. William E. Hesen served as foreman of the grand jury with James V. Ashby and Cecil W. Schroyer as clerks.

To The Honorable, The Judges of The Circuit Court For Garrett County, Maryland:

The Grand Jury for Garrett County, in session for the September Term, 1964, deliberated for two (2) days—namely September 14th and 15th, respectfully submits the following report:

We have examined 18 witnesses and have returned True Bills of Indictment in 5 cases and no True Bills of Indictment in 4 cases.

After receiving the charge delivered to the September Term, 1964, Grand Jury by his Honor Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, and after our retirement to the Grand Jury room we organized our body with the appointment of James V. Ashby and Cecil W. Schroyer as Clerks, and Ogilvie Halsey as door keeper.

We were cognizant of the Court's instructions with reference to possible violations of any of the criminal laws, outlining our authority and making clear our duty. In our deliberations we diligently endeavored to examine the facts in each particular case and act upon the facts impartially and fairly as required. In Days Past

Twenty Years Ago

William Hastings, 40, of McHenry, was seriously burned at the Power House of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, where he received first and second degree burns. He was burned in the face and his clothing caught on fire while he was working near one of the generators at the time of an undetermined electric spark.

A runaway team caused the death of John Walter Beckman, 60, of Swanton. Mr. Beckman and his son were working with a drill, when the drill became unfastened in some manner. Mr. Beckman was in front and had raised the tongue of the drill when one of the horses became frightened. The drill wrecked and he was thrown through a fence before one of the horses fell on him.

Churches were making plans for a union church service to be held on V-Day. Services were to be conducted shortly after the announcement of the cessation of hostilities in Europe.

Forty Years Ago

An artificial gas plant for the Oakland area was being planned. The erection of the plant would cost an estimated $500,000, as proposed by the West Virginia and Maryland Gas Company and the Northern Natural Gas Company and was to be located on its pipe line near the coal fields in West Virginia.

William E. Wass and Edward Willtrout were arrested for possessing a still. Both were Garrett County residents, the former a farmer and a candidate at the Republican primary election for the nomination of Sheriff of the county. Both were arrested by the General Prohibition officer, William R. Harvey and they were alleged to have owned an old-fashioned 75-gallon still, three barrels of mash and a half pint of liquor.

Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments" was to be shown in Cumberland at the Maryland Theatre. Some 5,000 people and 5,000 animals were in the performance. "A mighty spectacle of ancient and modern days from Jeanie Macpherson's story with orchestra of twenty," was the description given the movie.

YOUR Pharmacist Message

By Robt. E. "Bob" Proudfoot, R.ph.

Mankind's movement into an era of automation brings to mind that the most fully automatic mechanism of all—the human body—has been around since long before the first automatic transmission or electronic garage door.

The body is a constant beehive of activity over much of which the individual has no control. The internal organs operate automatically, blood circulates through the veins and food is digested and pushed along the alimentary canal. Even some of the skeletal muscles function without conscious effort, the diaphragm and rib muscles used in breathing.

As is true of any mechanism the human body breaks down from time to time. At such time, when prescribed medication is required, remember Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy. Foster Parent Need To Be Stressed By Planning Group

The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare, in endeavoring to show the need for foster parents, and in an effort to solve the program has named a Foster Parents' Planning committee in this county.

It named Clarence A. Penman, local attorney, as chairman, and Mrs. Kathryn S. Helbig, child welfare worker for the county welfare board, as co-chairman.

Asked to serve on this committee are Mrs. Ivin Feld, Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, Miss Ethel Grove, Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Merle Frantz, Rev. Fr. Joseph Krach, Rev. Shelby Walthall, Thomas Butscher, William Platter, Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, George Hanst, A. B. Dean, Rev. Robert Roberts.

A meeting is scheduled Tuesday, September 22, at 8 p. m., in the Welfare building, Green street, Oakland.

Mr. Penman said the need for foster parents becomes greater each year. He said the Welfare department through its child welfare and foster care programs had been instrumental in saving many children from needless hardships, but that their efforts were limited to the number of foster homes available.

He hopes that the activities of the committee may persuade many couples to become foster parents, to give children who have been deprived of a home of their own, a home where there is love and affection.

Alva Yoder Dies In Flaming Wreckage

Word has been received here of the death of Alva Yoder, 39, of Long Island, Va. He met his death in a flaming wreck on U. S. Route 501, 25 miles from his home on August 19th when a jeep station wagon and an International truck which Yoder was driving rammed head on, on a sweeping curve. Yoder was pinned in the cab and could'n't move when it ignited. It took the Rescue Squad and Halifax Fire Dept. personnel a half hour to remove his pinned body from behind the steeling wheel. His companion Ernest Yoder, 39, of Rustburg, suffered fractured ribs and a fractured hip. He was taken to Lynchburg General Hospital. He also was soaked with gasoline and his clothing caught fire but flames were extinguished by rolling the injured man over in the highway.

The driver of the jeep, Robert J. Hedrick, 18 of Oxford, N. C., was killed instantly.

The crash occurred about 5:30 p. m., on August 19th.

Yoders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Yoder of Springs, Pa., were in Kolona, Iowa, at the time.

Yoder was born February 1st, 1925, at Thomas, Oklahoma. He was married to Iva Maust (who survives) the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Maust, Meyersdale, Pa., on December 30, 1951. He leaves 7 children, Rebecca, David, Ruth, Anna Marie, Esther Jane, Lois Darlene, and Mary Ellen. Chestnuts Produced In Cumberland Area

A service station owner near Cumberland in Wildcat Hollow, has three chestnut trees which may prove to be resistant to the blight which wiped out this hardwood more than 30 years ago throughout the nation.

Bernie Paxton, who received the rootings 18 years ago from Garrett county, reported that the three trees this year produced two bushels of nuts for the largest crop in the eight years they have been producing.

Mr. Paxton said the roots had been treated and the three trees were part of an experiment being tried by the University of Maryland.

W. A. C. Irwin, district forester, said that when the groves of chestnuts were obliterated by blight starting about 1930 the roots which were left retained the ability to grow. These new growths usually last 10 or 12 years and sometimes attain a height up to 30 to 40 feet. They even produce nuts but soon they die off. Mr. Paxton's trees show no sign of being infected and provide a faint glimmer of hope that someday the majestic chestnut tree may be revived.

Various agencies have attempted to produce blight-resistant chestnut trees through hybrids of Asiatic trees, and native tree roots.

Jesse Diller, at the University of Maryland, is using the hybridization approach. He annually collects nuts from trees throughout the United States and redistributes them in different areas in hope they may attain blight-resistant qualities.

The Asiatic chestnut produces good nuts but the timber is not as good in quality as the American variety was. Mr. Irwin said there was a grove of chestnuts on Piney mountain in this county which has been producing nuts in recent years, but the hope that they will continue beyond the 10-12 year period is not promising.

President Johnson recentiy signed a bill authorizing $5.2 billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Local 4-H Clubs To Observe Club Week

"Four-H Learning for Living" will be the general theme of National 4-H Club Week and county clubs will participate.

County clubs will make window displays and booths and will place them in schools, garages, stores and bank windows.

Each display will be judged and receive a ribbon. From the displays a champion and a runner-up will be selected.

The County Council has planned an outing for Sunday, September 27, to be held at the Bittinger 4-H Center. All parents and friends of 4-H are asked to bring a picnic lunch and have an afternoon of fun and entertainment. The outing will close with a campfire consisting of adult braves and squaws.

A major local and national aim this year will be to recognize the 50th Anniversary of the Cooperative Extension Service, of which the 4-H youth program is a significant part. In 1914, when the Smith-Lever act authorized the Extension Service, the same federal legislation provided funds for 4-H Club Work. For this reason, 4-H also celebrates a Golden Anniversary.

Western Maryland Proposed For Environmental Center

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has recommended Western Maryland to the Surgeon General as an ideal location for the proposed Environmental Health Facility.

In his remarks on the Floor of the House of Representatives September 3, Mr. Mathias took issue with the Conference Committee Report on the locaction of the facility. The Report recommended that the Environmental Health Center should not be located within a radius of 50 miles of the District of Columbia.

"If this kind of facility is to be useful" Mathias said, "the scientists who are engaged in research must have an opportunity to be in constant touch with their counterparts in the Department of Labor, the Department of Agriculture, with the Doctors who are doing research at the National Institute of Health, Walter Reed Army Medical Center, the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, and many other government and academic facilities located in Washington."

In a letter addressed to Dr. Luther L. Terry, Surgeon General, Public Health Service (Washington, D. C.), Mr. Mathias expressed his disappointment in the Conference Committee's recommendation. He suggests, however, that since other locations are being considered, Western Maryland affords superior opportunities for such an establishment.

Overnight Trail Ride Is Well Attended

Approximately seventy-five members of the Garrett County Horsemen's association participated in an overnight Trail Ride Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6. Participants with 26 horses assembled at the farm of Dorsey Ashby Jr., Saturday at noon.

The ride Saturday covered about six miles of the surrounding Crellin area and along the Youghiogheny river banks.

The evening meal was prepared over charcoal and wood fires. There were hot dogs, roasted corn and marshmallows.

Sunday morning began early on the mountain, about an hour before dawn.

It was every man for himself for breakfast. Food ranged from eggs and sausage to hard boiled eggs and hamburgers.

Rev. James Remley of the Mountain Lake Park Methodist Church lead the organization in morning worship. Rev. Remley spoke of labor and also of the meaning of nature to humanity. His knowledge of horses added a spark to the cool morning's sermon.

After services the riders saddled and started on the ride that lasted from 9:30 until 1:00. When the weary horsemen rode back into camp, those that had stayed behind prepared the noon meal.

After a meal of hamburgers, baked potatoes, baked beans and apple sauce horsemen began to pack and ready their horses for the trip home.

20 Persons Killed On State Highways

Twenty persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Seven of those killed were drivers; seven were passengers; and six were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in eight of the deaths; speed in twelve; and "driver error" was present in sixteen of the fatalities.

"Last week the continuing slaughter on Maryland highways took twenty more lives," commented Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, "and too many of these deaths were caused, as in the past, by the fatal factor of alcohol combined with speed.

"If one week with a high fatality rate was the exception it would still be a very serious problem. But such is not the case. Week after week there is a deadly repetition of the pattern.

"Unfortunately there is no way to remedy the tragic situation which has existed in the past," Colonel Jarman continued, "but we do have the opportunity to profit from it. We can certainly see to it that some sensible, realistic measures are established to control the operator under the influence of alcohol—the driver who willfully ignores his responsibility for maintaining highway safety. But we can't shift all of the blame for existing conditions to the shoulders of the drinking driver. He is wrong, of course, but each of us shares equally in the responsibility if we permit the situation to continue without going all-out in our efforts to correct it."

Name Mine Inspector

Mr. Hovanec will inspect all mining operations in Garrett and Allegany counties as well as those in Mineral, Grant and Tucker counties in West Virginia in cooperation with state inspectors.

Accompanying Mr. Hovanec to the area was Harry Jones, former inspector stationed in this section for many years.

Yoder-Shenk Wedding Is Held

Miss Ruby Shenk of Elida, Ohio, became the bride of David H. Yoder of Salisbury, Pa., Sunday afternoon, September 6, at two o'clock in the Central Mennonite Church of Elida, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carol W. Shenk of Elida, the bridegroom is the son of the late G. Ernest Yoder of Salisbury. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Paul Lantz of Millersburg, Ohio, before an altar decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums, palms, and two seven branched candelabra.

A program of classical and sacred music served as a prelude to the ceremony. This included Schumann's "Traumerei" and Handel's "Largo"; excerpts from Weber's "Der Freischutz", and Sibelius' "Finlandia"; Beethoven's "Hymn to Joy", Gounod's "Song of Ruth", Bach's "Sheep May Safely Graze" and Gluck's "O Saviour Hear Me". Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary in D" was used for the processional and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" for the recessional. During the ceremony the bridegroom sang Noble's "Our Wedding Prayer."

Lustrous rose patterned brocade fashioned the floor length gown of classic simplicity chosen by the bride. Cable cord edged the high scooped neckline of her sculptured bodice enhanced with long clinging lily-point sleeves. Her bell-silhouette skirt was held to controlled fullness by box pleats and complemented with a detachable train floating from an empire bow. A bouffant veil of imported illusion was attached to a crown of Alencon lace trimmed with iridescent sequins and small seed pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet of white mums and roses accented with green ivy.

The maid of honor was Marjorie Shenk, sister of the bride; the bridesmaid was Loretta Berkey, Goshen, Ind. They wore identical street-length dresses of blue embossed taffeta and pill box headpieces of matching blue taffeta and veil. Both attendants carried bouquets of blue and white chrysanthemums.

Best man was Richard Yoder, and groomsman was Omar (Bud) Yoder; both brothers of the groom.

Ushers were Stanley and Daniel Shenk, brothers of the bride, and Charles Yoder and Clifford Maust, cousins of the groom. Mrs. Stanley Shenk presided at the guest book.

A reception was held after the ceremony for two hundred guests in the social rooms of the Elida Methodist Church. Sisters of the groom, Miriam, Ida, Eleanor, Freda, and Delilah, assisted Mrs. Albert Good of Elida in serving the guests. Assisting with the gifts were Mrs. Daniel Shenk and Mrs. Brent Shenk.

Guests from out of state included those from Goshen, Middlebury, and Berne, Indiana; Champaign, and El Paso, Illinois; Portland, Oregon; Grantsville and Accident; Salisbury and Springs, Pennsylvania; and Fairview, Michigan.

The new Mrs. Yoder had been employed by Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana as cashier and receptionist.

Mr. and Mrs. Yoder are planning a Europeaa trip to Vienna, Austria, in the near future, where Mr. Yoder will resume his studies for his doctorate in music.

Care To Try This?...

A. K. Summers, a West Virginia business man, decided to withhold ALL taxes just once a month instead of every payday. He wanted to emphasize just how big a bite the government was getting.

A woman who draws $70 for a forty hour week, got her $70 check for three weeks and instead of a fourth check found she owed her employer $4.85 which was to come out of her next check.

Another woman, a $2 an hour employe, took home 83 cents the last week of the month. Another woman who makes $125 a week, drew her regular salary for three weeks and then made $22.68 for the last week.

Summers said most of his employes now realize that a lot of this wild spending is coming out of their pockets.

The Internal Revenue Service has claimed this type of withholding is illegal but after eight months Summers is still doing it.

A publisher in North Carolina had another method. He paid off in cash, and in full. Then when the paymaster had finished distributing the money he would start the rounds collecting both the state and federal income tax withholding, plus social security. He indicated this procedure cost more but said "it sure was educational."

Acreage Survey Cards Are Being Delivered

Rural mail carriers and star route contractors will begin distributing acreage survey cards to farmer-patrons on their routes about September 26, it was announced by Guy William Hinebaugh, postmaster.

This is a sample survey conducted at this time each year throughout the nation. The annual crop acreage survey provides the Maryland-Delaware crop reporting service at College Park with information for estimating the acreage of important crops grown in this county and for the state. Data for all states are then combined in a crop summary which is released in December.

Carriers distributing the survey cards from the Oakland post office include Kenneth Martin, route 1; George Porter route 2; James Cover, star route.

Buxton-Greenwood Wedding Is Held

Miss Priscilla Buxton, daughter of Doctor and Mrs. Rex Ernest Buxton of Chevy Chase, and Deep Creek Lake, became the bride of Laurence Joseph Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Greenwood, on September the second.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Knox Kreutzer, at the home of the bride followed by a garden reception.

The bride wore a floor length wedding gown of hand-made Brussel's lace, originally worn by her grandmother. The dress was redesigned by Sophia Xenofontos using a bodice of antique ivory satin, featuring a scooped neckline, elbow-length sleeves, and pointed waistline. The bride's antique wedding veil was worn originally by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Nathaniel Hathaway Swift, of Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, in 1866. Miss Buxton carried a cascading old fashioned bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Wayne Hathaway Buxton came from Los Angeles, California, to be the matron of honor for her sister-in-law. The maid of honor was Miss Catherine Meadow from Canton, Massachusetts. They wore floor length gowns of satin, in the empire style, in two shades of blue, with scooped neck, and detachable train. Matching veils, and bouquets of blue delphinium in two shades completed their attire. Mr. David Springer was the groom's best man and the ushers were Mr. Alan Adelson and Mr. Donald Goldstein.

The bride was graduated from Bethesda-Chevy Chase High school, during which time she danced with the Washington Ballet Company. She attended Chatham College in Pittsburgh, and is finishing her degree at Western Reserve University. This fall she will be teaching in Cleveland.

Mr. Greenwood is a graduate of Bethesda-Chevy Chase High school. He attended Western Reserve University where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his Junior year. He will be a Freshman in the Medical School there this fall.

THE ROMANS MOVED RIVERS

In this age of technological wizardry never sneer at the past.

The Roman engineers who designed this aqueduct in Spain were brilliant men. Skill such as theirs, more than the might of Caesar's armies, fashioned the vast civilization of the Empire.

In this age of scientific discovery never overlook the Truths long ago revealed.

Christianity was born in a remote province of ancient Rome. It suffered generations of persecution until it converted even its persecutors. And when barbarians overran the Empire, our faith found a foothold in their hearts as well.

In a civilization of modern marvels the Church still raises its towers of truth. And when, next Sunday, we come with our families to worship, somewhere a congregation will be singing:

O where are kings and empires now
Of old that went and came?
But, Lord, thy Church is praying yet —
A thousand years the same!

Give Us A King

Lesson for September 20, 1964

Background Scripture: I Samuel 8 through 11.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 72:1-7, 18-19.

THERE USED to be a comic character named Popeye. He once got to be king of some imaginary country, and wore the biggest crown the cartoonist could invent for him. Then one day there was a revolution. The streets were filled with people yelling, "Down with King Popeye!" Old Popeye had a fast cure for the revolution. (This was back in the days when revolutions could sound funny.) He came out on the balcony, took off his crown and threw it to the mob. Then an attendant handed him a derby hat, which he put on. So everybody began to shout, "Long live President Popeye!" This little tale illustrates a point: leadership there must always be. What name the leader has is not important, it's how and where he leads that is the question.

Dr. Foreman

Power in the people

Now the little "nation" of Israel wanted a king. (We put "nation" in quotes because in the time of Saul it was hardly more than a confederation of tribes.) They had had great leadership from Samuel, but as he grew old the people began to worry about what would happen next. So they demanded: Give us a King! If you read the story it may raise in your mind an old and yet quite modern question: Where is the root of power in a nation?

The United States has the same answer the ancient Hebrews had: The people choose their leaders, the people's power is delegated to those leaders. What the people give the people can take. Mussolini, "Il Duce," Leader of Italy, once operated Italy as if it belonged to him. But there came a time when the people no longer supported him; and they hanged him in a public place. Power rises and resides with the people. They can misuse it, they may neglect it and let someone steal it; but the Hebrew nation, and our own, believed and believes that government can be only by consent of the governed.

Power corrupts

Give us a King! the populace shouted; and when they got one, named Saul, and had vowed loyalty to him, they all went home. Now we have a King our troubles are over, they thought, and half-drunk with delight they tramped away through the dust. But there was one sober man there present, the prophet Samuel. He had in God's name selected and anointed this new king. But he could see the dangers in having a king at all. Saul's power to be king was conferred on him by choice of the people and of Samuel too. But as someone would say more than a thousand years afterwards, power corrupts; and it would corrupt Saul. This new king would forget that his power had been given to him, not born with him; Samuel realized this and drew a bitter word-picture of what a king would be. In describing the king, any future monarch, the verb Samuel uses is mostly "he will take . . ."

Rights and duties

Is this inevitable? Does all power always corrupt? Not always; but the danger is that possessors of power are in constant danger of being corrupted by it. Samuel must have thought the future was not loaded against the nation, for he wrote a document (a "white paper" as we might call it today) giving the "rights and the duties of the kingship." This in germ at least, was a Constitution. A truly democratic system was there in essence. One of the original thirteen colonies, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, wrote into its constitution the phrase "that this may be a government of laws, not of men . . ." In dictatorships of all kinds the law is what the dictator says it is —"I AM the State!" Monarchs have lived above the law; yet when they have done so, they have forgotten the first law of all, the law of God. What became of Samuel's book? Destroyed perhaps by some greedy king. But the laws of God are not so easy to destroy.

Preparations Under Way For 7th Annual Springs Festival

Preparations are under way for the seventh annual Springs Homecoming and Folk Festival, to be held at Springs, Pa., near Grantsville on Friday and Saturday, October 2 and 3.

This Dutch mountain community is locacted on route 669 connecting U. S. route 40 at Grantsville with U. S. 219 at Salisbury, Pa. Lying near the Mason-Dixon line the town draws its 300 festival staff from communities of both states and West Virginia.

Because of the steady growth of the festival since its inception, from 2,000 in 1958 to some 15,000 in 1963, it has became necessary to expand the grounds to more than double during the past two years and to revise the crafts and pioneer demonstrations and exhibits as well as dining facilities.

At this mountain festival one can see relived for two days the lives of ancestors on farm, in shop and pioneer homestead. There are wool and flax spinning, cloth weaving, rug making, quilting, bonnet making, basketry, wood carving, pottery throwing on a wheel, cattail seat weaving, blacksmithing, hand shaving of shingles, axe handles and hickory brooms, handflailing of grain, rail splitting, trough hollowing; these are some of the demonstrations which will be in progress. A demonstration tent some 200 feet in length will be there.

Large handicraft displays, produced by hundreds of Penn Alps craftsmen living in the mountain regions, will be on display in a special tent, and for sale. An array of fresh baked goods such as dried corn, apple snitz, jams, jellies, and bread will be available.

Early implements and vehicles on display will include a two-horse tread-mill in operation, a threshing mill, a corn sheller and a steam roller. The usual wagon rides will be available for children.

Maple Spotza will be boiled on the spot, apple butter will be made in open kettle and there will be fresh apple cider from an old hand-operated cider press.

The Springs Museum with many items from homes of the pioneer ancestors will be open. The museum was moved to the festival grounds during the past month.

Guests may take one or all three of the guided bus tours into Pennsylvania and Maryland, one featuring a maple sugar camp in operation in Somerset valley, a second featuring a visit to the Yoder school, once known as "Dutch College", at present attended by Amish and Mennonite children; and a third featuring scenery and folklore of the highest mountains in Pennsylvania, Negro mountain or Mount Davis.

On the grounds three types of meals will be available, the traditional Dutch sausage dinner, family style in the Springs Fellowship center; a cafeteria style sausage dinner in a multiple cafeteria line in a large tent, and quick lunches at numerous concession stands. There will be Dutch bean soup, homemade apple butter break, fresh donuts, and sausageburgers. At Penn Alps, on the Casselman near Grantsville, a varied menu is available including barbecued chicken, cured ham and sea foods. Proceeds from these meals, as well as from crafts sales during the two-day festival, are turned in to the Festival treasury for two mayor projects planned by the sponsoring organizations—the Springs historical society, and Penn Alps, Inc. The Historical society is laying aside funds to remodel the newly purchased museum building; and Penn Alps is liquidating debts in connection with the self-help program of cottage industries being fostered throughout the mountains of the Tri-State area. Dr. Alta Schrock, festival chairman, said that 20 percent of the approximately 500 persons producing crafts for sale at Penn Alps are handicapped persons.

Gates of the Festival grounds will open at 10 a. m., DST.

Some $250,000 in rare coins were stolen from an office in Ohio.

Evolution

Revolution

The world-famous army 'Jeep' vehicle started it all. Then came the evolutionary changes. Sensible changes. Like more ground clearance. Stronger suspension. Weather proof tops. Fun changes. Like pink and white striped upholstery. Fringed surrey tops. Lively colors. A sports roadster. A station wagon — rugged, durable, designed for work and play.

Then came the 'Jeep' Wagoneer. A revolution! The Wagoneer is so revolutionary, it's hard to recognize your old 'Jeep' friend. It's a station wagon. And a looker! You'll be stunned. Slide into that luxurious interior. Beautiful. Comfortable. Visibility unlimited!

Turn the ignition key. You've got an overhead cam engine purring for you. The only one in any American production car. Try that steering. Power.* The brakes. Power again.* The transmission. It's automatic.* Feel that ride. Pure luxury.

And the 'Jeep' heart and spirit are still there. Pull one simple lever and you're in 'Jeep' 4-wheel "Drivepower."† Then there's hardly a hill that can keep you down . . . hardly a mud hole that can bog you down. In fact, there's scarcely any driving situation that can get you down. You're free to go anywhere with the traction to pull you through.

Realignment Plan Approved by Council

Here is the way Maryland's congressional districts would be aligned under a plan approved by the Legislative Council last week for submission to the 1965 General Assembly:

1st District—Eastern shore plus Harford county, population 320,272.

2nd District—Baltimore county less districts 5, 6, 7, 9 and 10, population 453,348.

3rd District—Baltimore City wards 1-8 and portions of the 25th and 23th Wards, and all of Anne Arundel county. District population 427,870, of which Anne Arundel's would be 206,634.

4th District—Baltimore City wards 4-24 and portions of the 28th and 27th Wards, population 371,563.

5th District—Montgomery and Howard counties, population 377,080.

6th District—Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties, and Districts 5, 6, 7, 10 of Baltimore county, population 332,608.

7th District—Baltimore City Wards 15-21, portions of the 25th and 27th Wards, 28th Ward, and 3rd District of Baltimore county, population 375,437.

8th District—Prince Georges, Charles, St. Mary's Calvert counties, population 444,708.

The plan was designed to help Baltimore City's three congressmen to retain their seats. Senators James A. Pine, Baltimore county, and Joseph A. Alton, Anne Arundel, said it was political gerrymandering at the expense of their counties.

Maryland is under a federal court order to redistrict its eight house seats on a population basis.

In 1900 his parents moved to Terra Alta, W. Va., and he has resided there for the most part, since that time. He married Sabina Mae Rush, daughter of Milton Hazlet Rush and Samantha Jane Umbel Rush of near Friendsville, where she was born Sept. 7, 1889 and raised on a farm. She later taught school for a number of years at Winding Ridge, Asher Glade and Rush schools.

Mr. Watson has spent most of his life in the milling business. After finishing his school work in Alderson Broaddus College at Philippi, W. Va., he went to work for A. J. Elliott in the old Alpine Mills of Terra Alta. From this mill carloads of buckwheat and buckwheat flour were shipped out to many parts of the country. Back in those days the buckwheat grain was all produced on local farms in this area. After working here for a number of years, Ross and his wife moved to St. Cloud, Minnesota, where he gained knowledge in the wheat flour phase of the milling business. He then returned to this area and after a short time with a Fairmont, W. Va., milling concern, came back to Terra Alta and became manager of the Grange Milling and Supply Company in 1922 at Mt. Lake Park. The mill was located in Loch Lynn, next to the old Mt. Airy Canning Company (now the H-P Stores Warehouse). This Grange Mill had been purchased from T. B. Doman by a group of farm and business people. Names like Riley, Steyer, Glotfelty, Bittinger, Leighton and many others became stockholders in this concern. The late H. V. Leighton was president of the firm for a number of years. Here, custom feed grinding, buckwheat flour grinding and producing took place. A Mr. Bender from Grantsville, came once a week and brought truckloads of eggs and poultry, which made a regular market for local farmers. Ross peddled eggs to merchants as far away as Thomas and Davis in Tucker County. Ross was at the "Grange Mill" until 1944 when he bought the Hill Ice Cream Co. building in Terra Alta and then went into business for himself. This was known as Watsons Feed Store until his retirement in July, 1962.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson have been members of the Baptist church all their lives and in their younger years, were active as teachers. Mrs. Watson has always been active in the Baptist Missionary Society as well as the W. C. T. U. and the Pythian Sisters in the Terra Alta community.

The Watsons are the parents of three children; Harold Eugene, now deceased; Kenneth Rush Watson, Deer Park, employed as store keeper for W. Va. Pulp and Paper Co., at Luke; and Ruth Eleanor Mason, whose husband Paul is employed in the Shell Oil Co., offices in New York City and who resides in Garden City, N. Y. Their other daughter-in-law, Lucille Feather Watson lives in Terra Alta.

Mr. Watson has one brother living, Ray Watson of Huntington, W. Va., and one sister, Mabel Watson at Terra Alta, a former grade school principal.

Mrs. Watson has two brothers living, Charles and Orval Rush, both of Friendsville, and one sister, Mrs. George Reese of Silver Spring.

They have 7 grandchildren and are at home at 201 Aurora St., Terra Alta.

Confirmation And Dinner Are Planned By Episcopalians

The ancient Rite of Laying on of Hands, or Confirmation, will be a feature of a meeting in St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Oakland next Wednesday evening, September 23, at which the Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, D.D., bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, will officiate.

Bishop Doll succeeded the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D.D., a year ago. The Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, rector, will present the class of candidates to the Bishop in a service at 6 o'clock.

Immediately following the service there will be a dinner at the Four Seasons dining room at Will O' the Wisp motel, Deep Creek Lake, given by the vestry of St. Matthew's to members of the parish and invited guests. Speaking will be Bishop Doll. Felix Robinson, county historian, will present a brief history of the old stone church, formerly Garrett Memorial church, corner of Second and Liberty streets and will review briefly the history of the Episcopal church in the area.

James J. Chapman, Jr., A.I.A., architect from Hagerstown, will unveil plans for remodeling of the stone church. A colored drawing has been prepared and will be seen by the congregation for the first time. In addition they will get a glimpse of the new arrangement of the church furnishings. They also will see a sketch of the proposed parish house which the parish expects to erect in the future on the location of the present Bell studio building, recently acquired from Mrs. James Bell. Women of the Guild-Auxiliary are at work preparing to open a "nearly-new" shop in the building.

Mrs. Walter Whitehair, former choir director of the church, will present a musical program during the parish dinner and meeting.

In charge of the dinner and program is the Building committee, recently appointed by the Vestry. This includes Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, chairman; Kenneth Johns, treasurer; Mrs. Neil C. Fraley, Mrs. Robert Wooters, Emile L. German, Robert Wooters, with the Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, ex-officio member.

The committee has prepared a prospectus for the building fund campaign. Mr. Walthall said it was the intention to restore the landmark in Oakland. The estimated cost of the restoring the church is $35,000. Pledges for the work are coming in, he said and will continue over a 36-month period. He said he hoped the work might begin on the church within a short time.

CHICKEN POX IS USUALLY A MILD DISEASE

Probably caused by a virus, it generally attacks children between two and six years old. After exposure its incubation period averages 16 days during which time a slight fever, headache or backache may occur. Then comes a series of rashes.

It is important to call a physician. For scratching can cause an erysipelas infection or an abscess. Mouth lesions may affect the larynx. An adult attack can be more serious, so grown-ups should avoid exposure.

Some people are getting ordinary tires when they ask for tiger paws.

Nobody says you have to buy tiger paws. You can buy something else.

But if you want tiger paws, you ought to get tiger paws. Not something else.

Tiger paws are sold only at U. S. Royal tiger paw stores. No place else.

We're that kind of store.

So if you buy a tire at another kind of store, you'll be buying an ordinary tire. Not tiger paws.

Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):

They were tested at 120 miles an hour for a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.

They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour for 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)

Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner as nimbly as tigers.

Now, do you want tiger paws? Head our way.

We're an official U. S. Royal tiger paw store.

The Cruel "Medicare" Hoax—The so-called "Medicare" plan, which the Senate last week attached to the Social Security bill, is the wrong solution to an acute problem and is a cruel hoax for it does not give the aid to the elderly which they have been led to expect from it. It takes from the weekly pay envelope of the low-income laborer to pay medical expenses of his wealthy neighbor. Furthermore, it confronts us with an appalling danger: the undermining of the Social Security structure, on which so many people now depend.

Everyone agrees that all persons should get the medical care they need, particularly the elderly who cannot pay for their own medical care. Some of those siding with the Administration's "Medicare" scheme like to accuse all who disagree with them of being indifferent to the plight of the elderly. I do not know of anyone who is indifferent to the needs of his fellowman. To accuse one of disregard for the elderly is irresponsible. No one faction has the exclusive claim to the human quality of compassion. A difference of opinion on the merits of the so-called "Medicare" plan has no relation to mercy or consideration for the elderly. It is not inconsistent or obstructive to say that there are better and worse ways of doing what needs to be done.

Many people seem to be completely uninformed about "Medicare". Because of the ballyhoo, some seem quite willing to jump on the bandwagon marked "Medicare", without considering its shortcomings and its deceptive nature and the pitfalls ahead of it. If the American people would take pains to inform themselves reliably on the subject, I'm sure they would reject "Medicare".

Why didn't the Administration push its "Medicare" plan last year, or the year before? In my June 17, 1963, "Senate Cloakroom", I said this: "Lying in a Congressional pigeonhole is a political time bomb ("Medicare") set for election year 1964." Unhappily, we observe an Administration playing with the miseries of our elder citizens for political advantage!

"Medicare" Will Not Cover Medical Needs—"Medicare"—

—will not cover any dental or dental surgery work;

—will not cover any surgery of any kind;

—will not cover any doctor visits in the home;

—will not cover any charges for visits at a doctor's office or even any doctor fees while in a hospital;

—will not pay for medicines used outside a hospital;

—will not pay for any preventive medicine;

—will not pay for anything before a patient goes to the hospital;

—will not cover diagnosis (patient will have to pay $20 on diagnosis);

—will not cover all the hospital costs ("Medicare" provides for a $90 "deductible", with the patient paying $10 a day for each of first 9 days; since the average hospital stay for an older person is around 7 days, "Medicare" will pay only a small part of one's hospital bill or possibly nothing at all!)

"Medicare" Will Give Aid To The Wealthy—The meager benefits to be provided under the "Medicare" plan will not be limited to those who need help. "Medicare" provides the exact same benefits for those well able to pay their own way. Even millionaires would get a free ride on taxes withheld from the pay envelope of the laborer. I feel that we have no moral right to establish a compulsory tax resting most heavily on young folks who are struggling to get started in their life's work and wrestling with the peak expenses of a growing family, to take care of people who can take care of themselves. And we certainly have no right to assume that all people over 65 are in need.

"Medicare": Threat To Social Security—Numerous witnesses before the Senate Finance Committee said that the cost of "Medicare" could not be accurately estimated and nearly all of them believed that the benefits would far exceed the income. Any Government outlay which is not fully financed weakens the fiscal structure, and an outlay of such monstrous proportions as that involved in the "Medicare" plan presents a real threat. More than one expert, assailing the feasibility and financial soundness of "Medicare", mentioned the possibility that "Medicare" might eventually mean lower cash payments, as well as higher payroll taxes, for Social Security participants. I'm sure everyone wants to keep the Social Security system solvent.

"Medicare" Is A Johnny-Come-Lately—Long before "Medicare" was dreamed up, the problem of providing medical care for the elderly was in the process of solution, largely through voluntary methods, supplemented by such programs as provided under the Kerr-Mills Act. Last year, more than 125,000,000 Americans had insurance for both hospital and surgical expenses, coverage broader and more flexible than offered under "Medicare". Though private insurance protection is still incomplete, the gap certainly will not be closed by "Medicare", with its limited benefits.

We have some people too poor to pay insurance, and these people are of course a responsibility of the community, of the general public. However, it seems wholly illogical to provide medical care for the many who do not need help in order that the relatively few who need assistance may receive it. Social Security was conceived to provide that destitution should not result from the death, unemployment or old age of a worker. It was never intended to supplant pension plans or insurance.

Kerr-Mills Program—All but 12 States now take part in the Kerr-Mills program, a Federal-State matching fund program which provides medical aid for aged people who, though not on relief, are unable to pay their own medical bills. The Kerr-Mills program paid 330 million dollars of Federal and State funds for health costs in 1963. About 40% went for hospital bills, 35% to nursing homes, and about 11% to physicians and dentists.

The Kerr-Mills program is essentially right. It can provide the kind of care that a patient needs and to the full extent that he needs it. The Kerr-Mills program should be strengthened and improved. For one thing, the income restrictions should be liberalized so that more people who need help would be eligible for benefits. I joined with four other Senators in sponsoring a bill designed to assure adequate aid for the elderly who need it, on a workable and fair basis.

I Favor Medical Care; I Oppose "Medicare"—I have always felt that adequate medical care for ailing people unable to provide for themselves is a responsibility of the general public. At the same time, as Senator Russell Long (Dem., La.) said: "I shall not vote to take money out of the pockets of the poor, needy, and unfortunate people, and the well-to-do alike, in order to provide medical care for someone who is well able to pay his own medical bill."

I object, too, to the compulsory feature of "Medicare". I have deep convictions about the sanctity of the individual—and this of course is violated when the individual is compelled to participate in a medical health program. Socialized medicine has been a dismal failure where tried. In England, patients get only a few moments with a doctor, often required to see as many as 75 patients a day. "Medicare" is socialized medicine—make no mistake about it.

Let us stop the socialistic trend. Let us stop the wasteful giveway to those who need no help. Let us stop any jeopardizing of existing insurance. Let us stop the threat to our Social Security system. With these criteria, let us see to it that the elderly who need medical help get it. There are certainly correct ways of meeting important human needs with the combined resources of the American community, intelligently applied.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The Significance Of Defenders Day

Saturday, September 12, marked the 150th anniversary of Defenders Day. For many years this has been a legal holiday in the State of Maryland by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly. Many people who notice that banks and public buildings are closed on that day fail to understand the real significance to all America of the events that took place at the city of Baltimore on the first Defenders Day 150 years ago.

Who Were The Defenders

The Defenders were those who opposed the British attack on the city of Baltimore. In order to understand the real significance of this event it is necessary to place it in the context of the history of that period. On August 24th, 1814 the British had overcome the armed forces of the United States. They had actually invaded the Capital City. They had burned the White House and the Capitol Building. And they had generally humiliated the United States as much as it was possible to do. The President, the Cabinet and the Congress had all vacated the Capital. The entire country was at a low ebb of morale and it was feared that wherever British forces appeared it would be impossible to stop them.

Against this background the Citizens of Baltimore armed themselves with resolution and determination, as well as with guns, and decided to make a stand against the invaders. They were successful and they were the Defenders of our Republic one hundred and fifty years ago.

Citizens Still Defenders

It is always the citizens who must defend a nation. It is the courage and determination of the people of a country which make that country safe. And on this 150th anniverary of Defenders Day it is the people again who must determine that they are going to preserve and defend the principles upon which this great Republic was founded.

In 1814 when the Defenders were holding off the British attack on Baltimore, they very clearly had in mind that they were maintaining the principles of liberty and of individual freedom which had been very dearly bought a generation earlier during the American Revolution. They were confirming and ratifying the gains in human freedom that were represented by the American Revolution.

Today's Challenge

Today we have just as clear a challenge before our generation to maintain the principles upon which the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are founded. I am concerned by the number of attempts that are being made from all segments of the American population upon some of the basic liberties that are considered to be fundamental to American citizenship. The separation of Church and State is threatened. Some of the measures that are proposed would definitely interfere with freedom of assembly and freedom of the press. These ancient liberties which are the bed-rock of American freedom must be defended this year with as much courage, with as much moral conviction, as that with which our ancestors defended the City of Baltimore on September 12, 1814.

Northern High Huskies won their initial game of the season last Friday afternoon, at the expense of the Black Knights of Valley High school. The game played at Lonaconing, ended in a 21-6 victory for Coach Jack Lear's team.

It was Valley High school's first game in scholastic football, and the Huskies had to come from behind to hand them the 21-6 setback.

The Knights, coached by Tom Harman, started out like a house afire in the first half, rolling up a 6-0 advantage and completely dominating the play but seemed to burn out in the second half as Lear's Huskies rolled for three touchdowns.

In the second quarter Valley rolled up 73 yards through the air and another 44 on the ground. They controlled the ball for 22 of the 30 plays in this period. Quarterback Glenn Miller flipped aerials to Aden Miller and Charley Muir to launch a 71-yard scoring drive. Larry Suder went over from the three-yard stripe. The big play was a 26-yard swing pass from Miller to Muir. Muir going all the way when the last man in his way, standout halfback Barry Beal, brought him down.

Northern seemed unaffected by the heat and engineered a 57-yard drive the second time they had their hands on the ball in the second half. With a first down inside the ten yard line the Huskies tried the middle three times with no gain. The Knights were waiting in the middle again but junior quarterback, George Edwards, was around left end and into the end zone for a touchdown.

Wilbur Hinebaugh played a fierce fourth quarter on defense as the Huskies refused to let Valley get started. Fullback Dan Nicklow recovered a fumble deep in Valley territory and Barry Beal scored the first of his two touchdowns two plays later on another sweep around left end.

Valley's offense bogged down once again after the ensuing kickoff and they had to punt their way out of trouble. Northern took over on the 35-yard line and Beal, with a display of broken field running, scored on the first play from scrimmage. The three points after touchdowns were made by running plays, twice by Edwards and once by Nicklow.

Valley made a good showing statistic-wise and had the better part of the passing game.

Northern was the team two years ago which opposed Bruce in its first football game and beat the Bulldogs 32-0.

The lineup included O. Umbel at left end, McKenzie at tackle, Rounds at guard, Miller at center, Rush at right guard, Friend at tackle, Hinebaugh at end, Edwards at quarterback, Beal at left half, Buckel at right half and Nicklow at fullback.

The Huskies will meet Terra Alta high school on Friday afternoon on the Northern gridiron, for their second game of the season.

Pearson Column Has Something More to Say on Don Reynolds

Jack Anderson, writing for Drew Pearson while the latter is in Alaska, declares star witness in Bobby Baker case refused to aid FBI investigation.

Last Saturday papers carried the following:

"Insurance man Don Reynolds, the star witness in the Bobby Baker scandal who keeps coming back for encores, has refused to help the FBI get to the bottom of his latest charges.

"Apparently he'll make his sordid confessions only to the Senate's No. 1 gadfly, Delaware Republican John Williams, who repeats them on the Senate floor.

"Reynolds' latest revelation: That he paid an illegal $25,000 kickback from government contractor Matt McCloskey into the Democratic campaign chest in 1960. McCloskey flatly denied the charge, but President Johnson ordered the FBI to investigate.

"There isn't much risk that the FBI will be able to dispute Reynolds, however, as long as he won't answer the investigators' questions or show them any evidence he may have to back up his story.

"FBI agents got only as far as his attorney, James F. Fitzgerald, who told them bluntly that Reynolds 'was not available for interview.'

"This column asked Fitzgerald why his client would want to obstruct the FBI from finding out whether his story was true. 'I simply followed Mr. Reynolds' instructions,' was all Fitzgerald would say.

Delayed Accusation

"Footnote No.—Two months ago Reynolds phoned ex-Congressional Aide William McCleod and apologized for dragging his name into the Bobby Baker affair. Then, exultantly, Reynold boasted: 'Wait until you see what we spring on them after the Democratic convention!'

"The kickback charge, which Reynolds never mentioned during his lengthy testimony before the Senate Rules committee, was made public the week after the Democratic convention.

"Footnote No. 2—Senator Williams advised the Senate that Reynolds had asked him to delete a name from his confession. Censored out was the name of Rep. John McMillan, D-S. C., who first put Reynolds together with McCloskey. McMillan surrounded himself with bright young men from South Carolina who liked to make a fast buck. This tight little circle included both Bobby Baker of Pickens, S. C., and Don Reynolds, of Lamar, S. C. They worked together to fatten one another's pocketbooks until Reynolds turned against Baker."

HAUL OFF LIKE YOU NEVER HAULED OFF BEFORE

This is the Dodge A100 Compact Pickup. No other compact pickup has as much fully usable flat floor space. It will carry a maximum payload 80 pounds more than its nearest competitor. It has the power the other ones need, and it has the 5-year/50,000 mile warranty* the other ones wish they had. It has the competition beat on engineering and durability, and when it comes to economy, it has an exclusive. It's sold by the Dodge Boys . . . the people who found the way to trim truck prices.

*Here's how Dodge Truck's 5-year/50,000-mile Engine and Drive Train Warranty protects you: Chrysler Corporation warrants for 5 years or 50,000 miles or 1500 hours of operation, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business gasoline and Perkins diesel engines (i.e., block, head(s), and internal parts), intake manifold, water pump, flywheel, flywheel housing, clutch housing, torque converter, transmission (i.e., case and internal parts, excluding manual clutch), transfer case and all internal parts, drive shafts, center bearings, universal joints, driving axles and differentials, and drive wheel bearings of its new Dodge trucks, provided the owner has (1) the engine oil changed and universal joints (except sealed-type) lubricated every 2 months or 2000 miles, whichever comes first, (2) the engine oil filter replaced and the carburetor air filter cleaned every second oil change and dry-type carburetor air filter element replaced every 32,000 miles, (3) the closed crankcase vent system cleaned and serviced every 8000 miles, and (4) the transmission, transfer case, driving axle and sealed-type universal joint lubricants changed every 20,000 miles. The foregoing services must be performed more often when reasonably required due to severe dust or regular "stop and go" operation. Every 6 months the owner must furnish to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service and request the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the truck's then current mileage.

Mr. Businessman . . . you've got

I·F

Why not make the most of it?

It's a fact of business life that I·F exists in every organization. Some businesses have put it to work for them improving operating efficiencies, reducing costs, even expanding sales.

But in most companies I·F just exists, haphazard and unplanned; it continues to create costly problems in every area of most business organizations.

What is I·F?

I·F is Information Flow, the transmission of information into and inside of your organization—from people to people, people to machines, and machines to machines. It's the nervous system of your business. Even now, as you read this, unplanned I·F may be eating into your company's profits.

How to put I·F to work for your company

Now, C&P offers a unique service to the Maryland business community—the counsel of experts, highly trained in the analysis of Information Flow. A Communications Consultant will make an I·F study of your business based on his thoroughgoing knowledge of the capabilities of the most complete range of business communications equipment in the world . . . the communications equipment of the Bell System.

The Consultant's analysis is offered as a part of your business telephone service—without extra charge or obligation.

He will recommend action only when it will improve your operating efficiencies, cut your costs or increase your profits.

To find out how an I·F analysis can help your company, call the C&P Business Office and ask to speak to a Communications Consultant.

Grand Jury Is Charged By Judge Stuart F. Hamill

Points Out General Duties; Congratulates Officers

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill delivered the charge to the grand jurors for the September term when they convened in the Court House on Monday morning. He pointed out in general terms the duties of the jurors and congratulated law enforcement officers for the fact that there did not seem to be any organized crime in the area.

Following the charge the twenty-three members of the grand jury headed by William E. Hesen, Oakland, foreman, were sworn by the clerk after which they retired to the grand jury room to begin their investigations.

The complete charge to the jury follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Jury:

You have been selected by the members of the Bar and Officers of the Court in the manner prescribed by law to serve as Grand Jurors for the September, 1964, term of the Criminal Court for Garrett County, Maryland. While your duties will probably be completed in two or three days, you will actually serve until the next Grand Jury, which will be drawn for the coming March, 1965, term of Court, but you will not be called back unless compelling circumstances require it.

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you in advance for the service which you are about to render your State, your County and this Court. I realize that jury duty is an imposition on many of the citizenry; however, you should consider it a distinct honor in having been selected, as you are now an integral part of the administration of criminal justice, as required by the Constitution of Maryland.

It is customary for the presiding judge to instruct you with reference to your duties and the procedure which you will follow in your work. This is known as the Grand Jury Charge.

The Grand Jury is of ancient origin and comes down to us from the early days of England. Although the institution has been abolished in England and in many of the States in this country, it still stands in Maryland as a powerful and important institution in criminal jurisprudence.

It needs no emphasis from me to support the proposition that law and public order are the basic conditions of satisfactory social organization, and that the criminal law is the most fundamental of all the branches of the law.

Because of the character and integrity of the men and women who have comprised its membership from time to time, and the careful and conscientious performance of their duties, the Grand Jury has obtained and merited the confidence of the public so that service on the Grand Jury is regarded as a high honor.

There is a double duty cast upon you as Grand Jurors; a duty to society to see that parties against whom there is a just ground to charge the commission of crime shall be held to answer the charge, and a duty to the citizen to see that he is not subjected to prosecution upon accusations having no better foundation than public clamor or private malice. Whether or not an accused is brought to trial on any charge requiring your attention depends solely on your determination, and no one may even suggest to you what your decision shall be.

The responsibilities and the powers of your body are broad and great, bounded only by the law and the geographical boundaries of Garrett County. To you is committed the preservation of the peace of this county.

The Grand Jury consists of twenty-three members, twelve or more of your number constituting a quorum, and no presentment or indictment can be found by you unless at least twelve of your number should concur therein.

A presentment is an accusation of crime made by the Grand Jury from their own knowledge, or from evidence furnished them by witnesses, or one or more of their members. It charges that a person has been guilty of a specific act which constitutes a violation of the criminal law.

The State's Attorney then prepares an indictment, which is a formal written accusation, and returns it to the Grand Jury. Should the Grand Jury then determine that the accusation, if proven, would be sufficient to result in the conviction of the accused, you endorse upon the indictment "A True Bill," and your Foreman attests this.

The purpose of both presentment and indictment is to inform the accused of the charges brought against him so that he may make his defense thereto.

Some of the persons who will be indicted by you will possibly be acquitted of the charges against them upon trial before the Court or before a petit jury, but do not let this disturb you. It is not your function to decide whether a person is guilty or innocent of a crime with which he is charged. You ought not, however, find an indictment unless the evidence before you, unexplained and uncontradicted, would warrant a conviction by a petit jury or the Court. Should the evidence produced before you be so inherently improbable or run counter to common experience, then it becomes your duty to dismiss the charge and protect the innocent to the same extent as to bring the guilty to trial.

Before you return an indictment you may, in your own discretion, reconsider, modify or revoke any action theretofore taken in the particular case. After indictment, but before trial, you may, with the consent of the Court, have an indictment returned to you for further consideration.

After you have completed your work, the Grand Jury, as a Body comes before the Criminal Court and through your Foreman delivers, in open Court, such presentments and indictments as you may have found. You are then asked by the Clerk whether the Court may amend matters of form in indictments found by you that do not affect matters of substance. Upon your consent, the papers are filed by the Clerk and you are dismissed.

The oath administered to the members of the Grand Jury has come down to us from ancient times and is substantially the same today as it was several centuries ago. It impressively bears out the importance of your duties. By literally carrying out its obligations, you will understand the method to be followed in consideration of offenses which may be brought to your notice. The oath you will take is as follows:

"In the presence of Almighty God, you do solemnly promise and declare that you, as a member of the Grand Inquest of the State of Maryland, for the body of Garrett County, shall diligently inquire and true presentment make, of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge, or shall otherwise come to your knowledge, touching this present service. The counsel of the State of Maryland, your fellows and your own, you shall well and truly keep secret; you shall present no person for envy, hatred, malice or ill will; neither shall you leave any one unpresented for love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward, but you shall present all things truly as they come to your knowledge, according to best of your understanding, and so you declare."

The usual matters which will be brought before you are those called to your attention by the Court, those submitted to you by the State's Attorney, and those which you discover in the course of your investigation of other cases which come before you, or which may arise through your own observations.

In addition, a private citizen has, under certain circumstances, the right to offer to inform the Grand Jury of violations of the criminal law, but he has no right to approach an individual member of the Grand Jury and such communication is improper. You may receive letters drawing attention to matters which may call for investigation by you. These letters should be turned over to the State's Attorney for investigation of any alleged violations of the law to which they may refer.

It is improper for anyone to attempt to influence any individual member of your Body in the performance of your duties. Should such an attempt be made, you should promptly bring the facts to the attention of the State's Attorney.

The State's Attorney will be your legal advisor. He will furnish you such information as to legal and procedural questions which may arise from time to time. At your request, but not otherwise, he may assist you in the examination of witnesses, but should not remain in the jury room during your deliberations or while any vote is being taken. You will find the State's Attorney, Fred A. Thayer, Esquire, able, cooperative and experienced, and I am certain that his services and advice will be of inestimable value to you.

The deliberations of the Grand Jury are and must be secret and neither the accused nor the public should know what transpires in the jury room except as shown by the records of the Court.

This rule of secrecy is a most vital provision for the protection of all persons accused, either justly or falsely. This rule also applies while cases are pending, and thereafter, so that even after your Term has expired, it is your duty not to divulge what was said in the Grand Jury room or the reasons for any action taken by you. The records of the Grand Jury are not open to public inspection, and the results of your proceedings, insofar as they may be made public, are embodied solely in the formal presentments or indictments made by you or in the dismissal of cases sent to you.

No person under accusation or investigation has any right to offer witnesses in his own behalf. You have the right to hear the accused, if he requests to be heard, but you cannot compel him to testify against his will.

Under our practice, it is the duty of the police to detect and apprehend criminals; preparation and trial of the case is for the State's Attorney; presentment or indictment is for the Grand Jury; determination of guilt or innocense is for the Court or the petit jury, as the accused may elect; punishment, within the limits which the Legislature may have prescribed, is for the presiding Judge.

Should any of these agencies for any reason fail to discharge their duties, then the entire structure of criminal procedure is weakened to the extent of their failure; so you can readily see the importance in the conscientious performance of your duties.

At this time I should like to congratulate the State's Attorney, the Maryland State Police, the Sheriff's office and all our local law enforcement officers for the fact that there is no evidence of any organized crime in Garrett County; nor, do I believe, there are any unsolved crimes. This is the result of the exemplary work done by these law enforcement officials.

I should also like to commend the County Commissioners for their conscientious effort in maintaining the public buildings. I think you will find that said buildings are in excellent condition, and I should like to comment that the maintenance man, Mr. Porter Lewis, is doing an excellent job and the Court House, to my knowledge, has never been better maintained.

As a part of your duties as an accusatory body, acting upon evidence which is presented to you, you have in addition general inquisitorial powers to inquire into abuses and evils which may exist generally within the boundaries of Garrett County. You are entitled to take notice of any matter of public danger or abuse, to inquire into it, and to make public your findings with regard to it. For this purpose, you may call before you public officials or private citizens and obtain evidence from them on conditions which seem to you to be important enough to warrant your investigation.

The Maryland Court of Appeals approves the practice of Grand Juries making general reports of conditions within their jurisdiction, but emphasizes that it is the duty of the Grand Jury in the case of any individual either not to name him or to indict him. You either have sufficient evidence to present or indict such an individual, or you do not; and if you do not, you cannot bring in a report exposing such an individual to public opprobrium. You should be free from prejudice—a Grand Jury whose members have preconceived notions or complexes on any given subject can become a public nuisance. In other words, function as intelligent human beings and use your common sense. A good rule to follow is to present, indict, dismiss, or hold your peace.

It is impossible to review the many types of criminal activities that will be presented for your consideration. While some are more abhorrent than others, it suffices to say that every violation of law causes a breakdown of the orderly processes of government.

It is the duty of the County Commissioners to maintain the public buildings in a good state of repair. You are legally required to inspect the Jail, but it is also customary for the Grand Jury to inspect the Court House, the Sheriff's residence, the County Roads Garage, the Hospital and offices of various County officials in the Court House and report on the conditions you find and make such recommendations as you deem proper. I might also suggest that you inspect the two Forestry Camps in Garrett County. Some of this work could be done by Committees, who would report back to your entire body, rather than by the entire Jury, if you so desire.

Copies of the reports of the outgoing Grand Jury will be available to you to serve as a guide and also so that you can review its recommendations and make inquiry as to whether or not those recommendations have been complied with. It is also required that the Grand Jury inspect the books of the County Treasurer. This does not mean that you audit these books, but that you ascertain to your own satisfaction that they are being properly kept and that the system used is competent.

In conclusion, upon retiring to the Grand Jury Room, you will organize by appointing two of your members as Clerks and one as a Door Keeper.

Before the Clerk administers the oath, do any of the members of the Grand Jury have any questions?

The Clerk will now administer the oath to your Foreman and then to the other members of the Grand Jury, after which you will retire to your Jury Room to effect your organization and begin your deliberations. The State's Attorney will be with you just as soon as we have called the docket for the September Term.

And again, I wish to express my personal thanks and gratitude to you for the service you are about to render.

Defends Goldwater

Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Md.
Dear Sir:

During the past several weeks I have heard many remarks against the GOP presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater. In view of this I offer the following:

Barry Goldwater has been condemned as an extremist and as a madman. In my opinion these accusations bear some consideration. Is it mad to stand firmly by your principles and convictions in the face of political expediency? It is mad to try to regain the rights of the individual, rights that have been sacrificed to the unknown quantity of the collective good? Is it mad to snap people back to the harsh reality of the facts, or should we offer them platitudes, soothing words, excuses, false hopes, where none exist? Is is mad to insist that civil rights for some must be gained not by sacrificing existing rights, but by enforcing the existing rights? It it mad to insist on bargaining with an avowed enemy from a position of strength and not fear?

I answer no! I do not profess that Mr. Goldwater is right in everything that he thinks or says, that he can do no wrong. But I do believe that he comes closer to the principles that this country was founded on than any other candidate, that he has found the roots of the problems that beset the world today.

In my opinion a good deal of his opposition comes from that segment of the population that does not wish to face reality as it exists today, or who stand to lose some unearned privilege or largess granted to them by the wasteful government bureaucracy that exists today.

The easiest thing for any candidate running for public office to do is to promise people unearned or undeserved government money, to lull them with false promises of security, and to promise that legislation and enough money can cure all the social and moral problems that we are faced with. It is exceedingly difficult for a candidate to endeavor to tell us that people must understand, that they must earn what they get, fight for what they have, and work for what they want. To the people of today who are dependent upon the government and not themselves, this is blasphemy, this is Extremism; but these premises are what this country was founded upon.

In conclusion I shall add that I offer this not as a Republican, which I am not, and not as an outright supporter of Barry Goldwater. I do not believe that any thinking American could at this time, be absolutely for one candidate or the other. Only after all issues have been made known through campaigning should a choice be made. That is truly the democratic and American way.

Sincerely
Edgel E. Sereno

Real or False? . . . .

A main plank in the platform of the Johnson administration as he runs for election is the Prosperity Plank. Many people are told we are now having the greatest prosperity in history.

But a significant sentence appeared as a subheading to an article in a national magazine recently: "Prosperity is living on borrowed money and borrowed time." And that borrowed money is that of your grandchildren, your great grandchildren and your great great grandchildren, many of them yet unborn.

This prosperity of living on borrowed money is inflation built on continued deficit financing and continually increasing debt that can result only in the erosion of the value of the dollar.

In 28 of the past 34 years the federal government has had a budget deficit, has spent more than it has received. The current fiscal year makes it 29 of 35 in which we live beyond our means. The budget deficit last fiscal year was $8.3 billion. The administration proudly said this was $3.6 billion less than President Kennedy estimated. But it remains quiet about last year's spending which was $5.1 billion more than the previous year. The budget deficits for the past four years total $24.8 billion.

In 34 years the national debt has increased from $16 billion to $313 billion, with $44.2 of that since the end of World War II and some $25 billion of it during the past four years.

Investment By Local Individuals Is Returned With Interest

Harco Lumber Company, Inc., of Oakland revealed this week it had completed repayment of its loan of $50,000 to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce as of Monday, September 21.

The local firm, which began business in Oakland four years ago, was provided with twenty-five acres of ground and two buildings valued at $90,000 with funds solicited from local residents by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber instituted a type of financing with interest bearing certificates, to bear interest and to be paid back within twenty years. This was done in order to provide jobs for local residents and to bring industry to the area. As a result there has been an addition of fifty new jobs through Harco.

Prior to Monday's proceedings some $9,000 had been repaid. The balance of the money was procured through a loan with the Small Business Administration.

James Rook, president of the Chamber of Commerce said that the certificate holders would be paid interest to date as well as their original investment, plus a small bonus. He pointed out the trust had to be terminated because it dealt specifically with Harco Lumber company but he expressed the hope that the holders would reinvest with trust No. 2, which is an "open end" trust, not just for one specific purpose but more for development.

Approximately $36,000 of the $90,000 originally raised came from local business men, the balance from the banks of the community.

The stockholders and board of directors of Harco expressed their appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce and to the local people who participated in the endeavor which brought industry to the community.

GIVEN RECOGNITION—Stephen R. Pagenhardt, Oakland attorney, is shown, right, receiving a plaque from James Rook, president of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, in recognition of his service over a number of years as attorney to the organization. Presentation was made last Thursday evening at a board meeting at Cornish Manor in Oakland.

August Top Month For County Treasurer In Tax Collections

August was the top month in history in amount of taxes collected in the office of Joseph Welch county treasurer, it was announced this week. Receipts totaled $638,299.75.

He said this represented 66 percent of the 1964-65 real property taxes and 49 percent of the personal property taxes.

The discount figures allowed taxpayers included $10,110.58 at 5 percent during July and $29,021.40, at four percent during August a total of $39,131.98.

Mr. Welch called attention to the fact that the discount period for payment of the 1964-65 fiscal year taxes would end on September 30 which would mean a change of four and one-half percent during a day's time. Up to and including September 30 the discount period remains at 4 percent but on October 1 the interest rate at one half of one percent per month begins. This is because of the acts of 1963, which changed the taxing period from the calendar year to the fiscal year, July 1 to June 30.

When taxes were collected according to the calendar year there would be five percent discount during January and February, four percent during March and April, three percent during May and June, with no interest being charged until October 1. The 1963 law failed to make any extension on when interest would start.

Mr. Welch also noted that any taxes owing on property for the first half year of 1964, would begin gathering interest on the first of October at 2½ percent with one half per cent for each additional month. The interest period on the half year taxes began May 1.

He said all 1963 taxes were now termed delinquent and must be paid by November 1, or else be subject to being advertised and sold. Mr. Welch said that 95 percent of the real property taxes for 1963 had been paid amounting to $635,923.41, and 87½ percent of personal property, amounting to $79,765.55. The amounts he was charged with collecting were $669,400.88 for real property and $91,100.05 for personal property. He added that he had collected all taxes on public utilities and 97 percent of all domestic and foreign corporations.

Number Of Cases Listed On Docket For Sept. Court

Petit Jurors Will Report On Monday, September 28; Criminal Docket Light

Several appeal cases are listed for the September term of court which begins Monday morning but the criminal docket is comparatively light, according to information released by Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney. Petit jurors are to report for duty Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

There were just five indictments returned by the September grand jury which met for two days on September 14 and 15. The names of one of the indictments were not released last week because they had not been apprehended and placed under bond for their appearance in court when required. They were Robert F. Dixon and Mrs. Nellie Dixon, his wife, who were indicted for permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages in violation of their class D beer license. Mrs. Dixon was placed under bond during the week. Mr. Dixon was a patient in the veterans' hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va.

The other indictments included one against Ralph Edgel Coleman on sodomy; one against Earl Henry Moats on forgery, and two against Carl Frederick Hinebaugh, Deer Park, for manslaughter by automobile in the death of two persons, Frank Allen McGinnis and Robin Lynn McGinnis.

Also scheduled for trial by jury is the case against Paul W. Dixon, of Keyser, W. Va., who was charged with resisting arrest and also assault and battery upon a police officer, following an alleged fight September 5 in Oakland.

The police officer was Hobart Shillingburg. State's Attorney Fred Thayer had asked for a jury trial just prior to a scheduled hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on September 9.

Appeal Cases

Among the appeal cases set for hearings:

An appeal from Magistrate Maroney, in the case of Carl Frederick Hinebaugh on a reckless driving conviction. He was fined $25 and costs in July.

Three appeals from Magistrate Edward I. Crowe, of Grantsville, in

Dedication Of New Cafetorium Is Held Tuesday

Hawkins Reports On Progress In Building Program

The new cafetorium for Southern High school, which was started this past spring and completed for the opening of the new school term at a cost of $75,000 was appropriately dedicated at ceremonies Tuesday night.

The dedication was preceded by a band concert by the Southern high school band under direction of Thomas Yeager, and followed by selections by the senior chorus under direction of Miss Carolyn Lambert.

In between the two were remarks by George Edwards, president of the Board of Education, Clinton Englander, member of the board who introduced the platform guests; the presentation of the building by Wesley Altman, Jr., architect, and acceptance by Kenneth Johns, principal, George Stuck, chairman of the building committee; and Mrs. George Brady, vice-president of the Board of Education.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, gave a report on the ten years of progress since he became superintendent, and the state of condition of the schools at present.

He listed as additions and new buildings, the all-purpose room, kitchen and principal's office at Kitzmiller; the two-room addition and alterations at Red House and a one-room addition and enlargement of the all purpose room there; new boiler room at Grantsville, Dennett road elementary, route 40 school, Swan Meadow school, the addition at Loch Lynn, the all purpose room at Center street, the addition at Bloomington, the library addition at Kitzmiller, band room and connecting corridor at Southern, the new school at Crellin, the two classrooms at Dennett road and an addition and basement at Yoder, in addition to the cafetorium.

The total cost of these projects was slightly in excess of one million dollars with around one half being financed through a school bond issue, the balance through the state school construction fund.

The cafetorium is now able to serve more than twice as many pupils at one time as the old cafeteria, provides auditorium facilities with a seating capacity of more than 1,000 people, a forty-foot stage for school plays, operattas, assemblies, etc., and a public address system.

Mr. Hawkins also disclosed plans on the drawing boards for the ten

Physician Is Guilty On Four Charges

Had Pleaded Guilty To One; Takes Appeal To Circuit Court On Another

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland last Friday afternoon, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland physician, was listed as guilty on four charges that had been filed against him.

On one charge, that of refusing to show his registration certificate, he had entered a guilty plea, but had pleaded not guilty to the other three charges, that of driving while under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving, and disorderly conduct. He was represented by W. Dwight Stover. Fred A. Thayer prosecuted the cases.

Dr. Baumgartner maintained that he was not under the influence of alcohol but had been working for long hours this summer, and was extremely tired when he rammed a parked automobile in front of the Mt. Lake Restaurant the night of September 8. He was enroute to his home from a birthday party at the home of Mrs. Nelson Thomasson, in the Park. Corporal Robert Henline, Trooper Robert Cave, Sheriff James E. Frantz, and Deputy Sheriff Wayne Wilt, had testified that in their opinion the man was under the influence of alcohol. At the conclusion of the hearing Dr. Baumgartner took an appeal on the latter conviction which will carry over to the March Term of Court. He paid a fine of $100 and costs in that case, $25 and costs for

To Observe 103rd

Alonzo D. Naylor, of Oakland, will observe his 103rd birthday anniversary on Sunday, September 27. The day will be a regular one for Mr. Naylor. He will attend church as he has done on most every opportunity since he came to Oakland in 1884. The only reason he won't be going to work at the A. D. Naylor and company store as usual is that the day is Sunday.

The chances are that he will go on Monday and either walk to work or home from work.

There may be a birthday dinner in his honor by members of his family but nothing unusual is being planned.

Fair Board Entertains

The Garrett County Fair board is having its annual appreciation dinner at the Bittinger community building this evening, it was announced by H. Gus Gortner, president. Dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock p. m.

Dry Spell Broken

The dry spell for the first half of September was broken during the week along with the official arrival of autumn, but the rainfall was only in moderate amounts.

The change in the weather began last Friday. The skies were cloudy and there was a light sprinkle during the day with rain falling in the evening. Temperature was in the 70's. Rain continued in early morning on Saturday with the temperature at 59 degrees at 8:30, and climbing during the day to the 70"s. There was some sprinkling on Sunday with fog in the afternoon and cloud cover most of the day. Temperature was in the 50's.

Cloud cover continued Monday with a drizzle during the day. The mercury got up to 60 degrees. There was frost on Tuesday morning with the thermometer in the 30's, but skies cleared and the mercury got up to 80. Wednesday began in the 40's with cloudy skies. Mercury got up to 72 by 5:30 but almost immediately a cooling trend began with a rise in the wind.

Thursday morning began in the lower 50's with skies mostly clear and temperature at 57 at 10 a. m. Autumn arrived officially at 8:17 p. m. Tuesday, September 22. From then until December 22, the first day of winter, the hours of daylight will gradually be shorter.

80 Pints Of Blood Donated Last Week

Citizens of the Oakland area contributed 80 pints of blood last Wednesday afternoon when the Johnstown mobile unit of the American Red Cross came to Oakland. This was 20 less than the quota of 100.

Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, said she was very much disappointed in the showing. She said only forty-six kept their appointments out of the 135 persons scheduled.

However there were 38 walk-ins and 16 first time donors. There were four rejects. Twenty-four of the pints contributed were for replacements, she said.

Harold C. Ashby became a 3-gallon contributor, having given his twenty-fourth pint last Wednesday. Three became two-gallon donors. They were James Nordeck, Hugh Maffett and William A. Shirer. James Rook became a one-gallon contributor.

County Will Return To Standard Time

All except one of incorporated towns will return to standard time on Sunday morning, September 27, at 2 o'clock. The county officially will make no move, since it made no official move this spring. However, hours of business in various offices corresponded to daylight time. They will return to standard time Sunday morning.

This still will not end the confusion completely since some eastern states are remaining on daylight time until the last Sunday in October. This includes Maryland. As a result at least two state agencies in the county will continue to operate on daylight time. They are the Department of Employment Security and the State Roads commission office.

Schools will return to standard time Monday morning, September 28, despite the inconvenience of some students catching Allegany county buses for transportation to Allegany county schools. Bloomington school however will be the only school to remain on fast time because of transportation problems with Allegany county.

West Virginia officially returns to standard time Sunday morning. The West Virginia legislature decreed fast time from the fourth Sunday in April to the fourth Sunday in September.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad schedule will remain the same at least until the latter part of October when eastern states will return to standard time. This will mean that on standard time the trains will run as follows: Eastbound—train No. 2, 2:45 a. m., and No. 12, 5:50 p. m.; westbound—No. 11, 12:42 p. m. and No. 1, the National Limited, 11 p. m.

Grantsville On DST

At a meeting of the city council of Grantsville on Monday evening the members officially decided that the town of Grantsville would remain on fast time until the last Sunday in October, the twenty-fifth. Lee Beachy, mayor, said this was to coincide with Somerset county, Pa., and Allegany county, Maryland, which were remaining on fast time until that date.

However, schools at Grantsville will return to standard time along with other schools of the county.

Injured in Wreck

Mrs. J. Paul Riley was seriously injured in an automobile accident Monday morning in Las Vegas, Nevada, and is a patient in Sunrise hospital in that city with broken bones and other injuries. Her husband was only slightly injured, according to reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley had been in Las Vegas for a visit with their son Lawrence and had just started their homeward trip.

According to information received here an automobile ran out in front of them which they struck. The trouble came when another automobile rammed the Riley car from the rear. Mrs. Riley sustained a broken collarbone, broken ribs and a collapsed lung.

Mr. Riley left Las Vegas Tuesday morning for Oakland but had not arrived here at presstime.

Will Do Training

Trooper Robert Cave, of the Maryland State police, is being transferred to the police barracks at Pikesville where he will be in charge of training.

The trooper had sought transfer to the Pikesville station for the past two months or more. He has resigned his position as scoutmaster for the Accident boy scout troop.

Miss First National Will Be Selected

A contest to determine who will be "Miss First National," who would reign over the grand opening festivities of the bank facility on Second street, which will take place early in October.

Young ladies 16 to 23, unmarried, who are residents of Garrett county and surrounding areas, are eligible to compete. They must complete an entry blank and return it to the bank by Saturday, September 26. Mrs. Frank McDaniel will be in charge of the contest.

First prize will be a trip to the New York World's Fair for two, with all expenses paid. Second and third prizes will be $100 U. S. Savings bonds.

Contestants are to be judged upon general appearance, personality and talents. People wishing to vote may get ballots from any teller. Voting will close October 3, at 12 o'clock noon. Details of the contest are included in an advertisement appearing in today's issue.

Already several have indicated their interest in competing. They are Linda Oursler, Sue Martin, Lynne Malone, Carol Campbell and Ruth Nazelrod.

Another entrant filed this morning. She was Miss Eleanor Vetter.

Scout Camporee Set For Swallow Falls

The District scout camporee for Deep Creek district scouts will be held this week-end at the Swallow Falls camping area.

The scouts will move into the camp on Friday evening. Activities for Saturday include competitive games such as Blindfold compass course, building a fire and boiling water, a sack race, rope toss and a scavenger hunt. A court of honor for all troops is planned during campfire activities Saturday evening, according to Henry Trickett, assistant scoutmaster of troop 93, who is in charge of the program.

Scoring will be on a patrol basis with 36 scoring items. Those gaining 30 to 36 points will win blue ribbons. Arrangements have been made for religious services on Sunday.

The camporee is sanctioned by Potomac Council.

County Now Free Brucellosis Area

A certificate declaring that Garrett county was a brucellosis-free area was presented to the County Commissioners on Tuesday morning by Dr. T. A. Ladson, director of the Maryland Live Stock Sanitary service, and Dr. E. B. Jasper, veterinarian-in-charge, Animal Disease Eradication division of the Agricultural Research service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Ladson said Garrett county is the eighth county in the state and the first in Western Maryland, to gain this status. Other counties are Anne Arundel, Kent, Dorchester, St. Mary's and Calvert. He explained that to gain this status all eligible cattle in the county were tested for brucellosis within an eighteen month period and had attained a negative status.

Dr. Ladson pointed out that it was the efforts of Dr. Frank D. Custer, Oakland; Dr. Donald R. Glotfelty, Accident, and Dr. C. N. Foose, LaVale, practicing veterinarians; James McHenry, agricultural agent; Charles Langenfelder and Richard Remsburg, road surveyors; the Maryland Live Stock Sanitary Service in cooperation with the Agricultural Research service of the USDA, and the cooperating cattle owners that had made this event possible.

Dr. Ladson also pointed out that the establishment of a brucellosis-free area was a major stride toward protecting the community against the economic loss and health hazard of this dangerous disease.

Dr. Custer said in order to maintain this status it would be necessary that cattle owners give careful attention to importation and additions to their herds, so that no new infection be introduced into the county.

Old Burglary Case Dismissed In County

Earl Reuben Franklin, who in April of 1958 received a ten year sentence for burglary and two years for jailbreak, is not to be retried in the Garrett County Circuit court, after all.

Last Thursday afternoon State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer appeared in the Circuit court and moved for dismissal of the charges against Franklin. He said it was impossible to get two corroborating witnesses to testify at the new trial. One cannot be found and illness prevents the other from appearing in court.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill then ordered the dismissal of the case. Judge Hamill had disqualified himself from presiding at the trial because at the original trial in 1958 he assisted former State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt in prosecuting the case. Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton, Cumberland, had planned to preside at the new trial in Oakland.

Franklin had been convicted in 1958 with two other men of breaking into the Fox Hardware store in Friendsville in July of 1957 and taking money and U. S. savings bonds.

He had taken his case to the U. S. district court in Baltimore on a habeas corpus petition but lost out. Later the Maryland Court of Appeals heard his plea that his court-appointed counsel had not been given enough time to prepare his defense. The Court of Appeals granted a new trial. It was to have been heard Tuesday.

The late Judge Neil C. Fraley presided at the original trial.

Charge Is Dropped

The hearing that was set for September 22 before Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, involving a case against Robert Kemp, who was charged by Mrs. Janet Hardesty with being drunk and disorderly, was dropped at the request of Mrs. Hardesty.

Kemp had been hospitalized with a head wound after he was allegedly struck over the head with a whisky bottle.

Streets Being Repaired

Portions of Alder street and Third street, in the town of Oakland are being replaced this week. The concrete improvements are being made on the north side of Alder street, between Second and Third. Concrete also is being poured on the west side of Third street, between Alder and Oak streets.

The alley adjacent to the new First National bank building also is being replaced this week. Hard surfacing of the parking area around the First National bank was completed this week and the landscaping is in progress.

WINNER OF AWARD—Mrs. Patricia Kittie, executive secretary of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, is shown with Charles Thorn, vice president of Popular Science-Outdoor Life Publishing company, at an awards presentation in New York City. The award was for "distinguished service to the United States travel industry," and in "recognition of the need to create, and perseverance in developing a grass roots area travel promotion program which focused attention on the scenic beauty and recreational facilities of Deep Creek Lake." The award was the result of competition by organizations throughout the United States and was presented by the National Association of Travel Organizations. Similar awards are made annually. In accepting the award, Mrs. Kittle said, "I am proud to accept this national award on behalf of Garrett County. Ten years ago we had no tourism industry and thirty-nine county businessmen banded together to do something about it. Now, tourism is the county's number one industry. We started with virtually no visitors and a tiny annual budget of $3,000. This year, between June and September we had more than 20,000 visitors and have a respectable budget of $15,000 a year. The people of Garrett County can be proud of themselves.

DEDICATED TUESDAY—The new cafetorium at Southern High school was dedicated Tuesday evening with appropriate ceremonies. The addition to the former cafeteria provides more seating space, an additional hot plate serving line and a moderate size stage. The extension parallels the present gymnasium on the north side and extends to the end of the gymnasium. The American Way

HOW WE'RE BEING BURIED

By Tom Anderson

Khrushchev doesn't have to bury us. Our leaders are burying us. Our leaders are not opposing Communism—they are promoting it. The no-win policy of our hidden persuaders calls for improving Communism until we can comfortably merge with it. This conspiracy for strategic surrender is designed to bring about world brotherhood, world love, and world equality; to meet the Communists halfway between Communism and Capitalism in a One-World Socialist State.

Some faceless bureaucrats in the Department of Commerce recently have granted approval of Russian purchases of automated machinery worth $10 million. The administration ruled that these machines, used for potash mining, "have no military value". Either the Administration does not know that potash goes into gunpowder as well as fertilizer, or this is part of our plan to build Russia up military "so she will no longer be afraid of us." This potash mining equipment is just one of an endless stream of war materials our Commerce Department is authorizing to be shipped to the enemy.

Trading

In the Sellout Shelter, called the State Department, they are pressuring American stores to sell communist-made products. Millions of dollars worth of enemy goods are being sold to unknowing American citizens. The argument for trading with the enemy is: 1. We'll make them like us. 2. We are only getting our money back. The surpluses we give to the enemy mean that we get "soft currency" ("local" money which must be spent within that country). So we "buy" their products with our dumpings and thus undercut our own manufacturers and laborers. "Our" State Department's main purpose for 30 years seems to have been to make the world safe for Communism. State Department policies are designed to lead us into a world socialist government ruled by the United Nations.

Paul Nitze, Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Affairs, has proposed that we disarm through "a series of unilateral actions designed to produce reciprocal action on the part of our allies and also on the part of our enemies"; that we turn over the Strategic Air Command—representing most of our strategic retaliatory capacity—to NATO and eventually to the U. N. In short, Mr. Nitze has recommended what would amount to our surrender.

Disarming

Vice-Presidential Candidate Hubert Humphrey insists that we talk disarmament with Red China. That is his lefthanded way of promoting "recognition" of Red China. We have to recognize them before we can talk disarmament with them. The plan of the One-Worlders is to build the U. N. into a world government so strong it can disarm and control all nations. Since the Communists control the U. N., this would bring about the universal soviet system, and world slavery.

Adlai (Laughing Boy) Stevenson, the United Nations Ambassador to the United States, says that raising the standards of backward countries by sending them American dollars, goods and factories is more important to the United States than our own defense. To Stevenson, everything is. He says it is possible to talk "the dialogue of reason" with Khrushchev. He means the dialogue of surrender.

Communism is a cancer which cannot be "contained". It will be destroyed, or it will "contain" us. We can win the Communists with love and brotherhood just like the lion and lamb can lie down together—all that is necessary is to put a new lamb in the cage every morning.

65 Marriage Permits Granted In 2 Weeks

Sixty-five marriage licenses were issued during the past two weeks ending Monday morning, September 21, from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This brought the total number issued for the month thus far to 96. Six licenses issued were marked "don't publish."

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my father, D. T. O'Brien, who has been gone for two years.

God took him home, it was His will
But in my heart, I love him still
His memory is as dear today
As the hour he passed away.

His daughter,
Mrs. Ellen Bray

That same afternoon Mrs. Helen C. Baumgartner was found guilty of refusing to grant right of way in a case involving a collision with her automobile and a motorcycle on Sunday, August 9. Mrs. Baumgartner testified she came to a stop at the intersection of Third and Crook streets. It was when she was attempting to cross the street after coming to a halt that she was struck by the motorcycle driven by William Oliver Martin, Bentleyville, Pa. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy A. Martin, who was accompanying him sustained a broken arm. Mr. Thayer pointed out that the statute covered not only the necessity of stopping but also giving right of way. She was fined $10 and costs.

In Days Past

Twenty Years Ago

Alberta DeWitt, 15, was killed when she was hit by the locomotive of an east bound passenger train, west of the Oakland station. Elwood Stemple was with the girl and they were unable to hear the whistle because of the passing of a west bound freight train. Mr. Stemple happened to turn in time to see the train almost upon them. He yelled to the girl and made a wild jump, barely clearing the tracks as the train went by. Miss DeWitt was struck on the head and thrown over an embankment. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William DeWitt, west of Oakland.

Four persons were held in a double burglary at the Kitzmiller high school. Two Vindex youths took the $700 from the unlocked school building and one later tried to cash a $20 bill in the Vindex store. The two others were discovered by the janitor as they tried to take $26.10 at a later time from the school.

Shirley Ramsey, aviation radio mate second class, received an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy. He had previously attended the U. S. Naval Training school at Bainbridge. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ramsey, Potomac State forest area.

The P-51 Mustang fighter plane flown by Charles Shilke was badly damaged while in the air, but managed to return to the base. While looking for targets in the Ruhr Valley in Germany, he spotted a power station. Apparently the machine guns found a vital spot, for the station blew up. The flying debris hit the low flying plane, inflicting severe damage.

Forty Years Ago

Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette, wife of the Progressive candidate for President of the United States, was to speak at the Mt. Lake Park Auditorium. Her speech here was the first one in her tour of the country that year in her husband's behalf.

Eight freight cars were wrecked a short distance west of the Garrett Crossing and two to three miles east of Mt. Lake Park. The train had stopped there to get water when a fast freight rammed the rear end of the train, throwing the cars off the track. A caboose, two cars loaded with imported paper, a car of statuary, one each of matches, alcohol in steel drums and automobile parts, were all consumed by the fire which followed the wreck. A refrigerator which contained apples was completely demolished. Traffic was blocked for 4 to 5 hours. None of the crew was in the caboose at the time, and no fatalities were reported.

Real or False? . . .

How can the administration conscientiously stand before the people and tell them they never had it so good! It is a plain illusion of prosperity. The interest alone on the national debt now amounts to $11.1 billion per year. If the trend continues as it certainly would under the present administration the interest on the national debt will surpass the defense budget, if the country lasts that long.

It has been said: "A Democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves relief, subsidies, doles and other handouts out of the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury with the result that Democracy always collapses over a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a Dictatorship. The writer was talking about the fall of the Athenian Republic but the principle is just as true now as it was then. It is up to us whether this will happen in our case. We still have the right to vote—and to vote Republican.

By Robt. E. "Bob" Proudfoot, R.ph.

Oppressively hot summer days will usually see an increase in cases of sunstroke, heatstroke, and heat prostration.

Sunstroke results from too long exposure to the hot sun while heatstroke is caused by stifling, oppressive heat, often indoors. Heat prostration is caused by overly-long exposure to heat and humidity, but differs from the other conditions in that the victim generally remains conscious and his temperature falls instead of rising.

The elderly, the very young and people with heart problems are more commonly affected by these conditions arising from too much sun and heat.

The elderly, the young and those with problems can solve one problem at least at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy — namely, where to go for complete prescription service. Aside from our prescription department, you will find a wide selection of drugs, cosmetics, and greeting cards at PROUDFOOT'S OAKLAND PHARMACY, 106 South Second Street, phone 334-3913.

Buick

We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks.
On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera.
And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.
True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras
Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better.
And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads.
Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions—and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick

Three Excursions For Autumn Glory Time Are Scheduled

The enthusiasm which residents of the Baltimore and Washington areas have accepted the Autumn Glory excursions through the years, overflowed this year, so that instead of two excursions there will be three.

The two were originally scheduled for Sunday, October 4, and Sunday, October 11. Now another date has been added, Saturday, October 10.

Last year and for several years previous to that, only one excursion was scheduled and many prospective passengers had to be turned away because of the limited seating capacity.

More than 2,000 nature lovers, camera enthusiasts and railroad fans are expected to ride the three specials that will bring them to Oakland for a thirty-mile bus tour through the Swallow Falls area and around the Deep Creek State Park.

A ski show is scheduled for the first Sunday at the State Park. The 4-H clubs of the county are planning a booth at Swallow Falls where they will sell cider, cookies and candy. The Southern High school band will play on the two Sundays and possibly for the arrival of the train on Saturday, it was stated.

These autumn glory events are co-sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Plant Is Curtailed

The condition was said to be temporary and that there was no shortage of water.

Deadline Past For Registering Voters

The deadline for registering prior to the general election on Tuesday, November 3, was Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk for the Board of Supervisors of Elections said the figures would not be available until next week.

The last figures available on the mobile registrations held showed 67 Democrats to 33 Republicans. There was one more such registration in district 3 last Thursday and this resulted in 23 Republicans and 10 Democrats. Miss Rowan said the registration between the two parties seemed to be fairly even.

Northern Huskies won their third football game of the season without a loss last night in Kingwood, W. Va., by defeating Kingwood High in the Buckwheat Bowl. The final score was 19 to 9.

Quarterback George Edwards scored the last of Northern's three touchdowns with an electrifying 65-yard run and also returned an intercepted pass 60 yards just before the end of the first half, in the game staged in conjunction with the annual Buckwheat Festival.

Both teams showed fine passing attacks in the contest but Northern rolled up its edge in rushing. Kingwood had a 15 to 5 edge in first downs.

The home team started things the first time it had the ball when Williams scored on a 20-yard run. The Huskies came right back, however, on a five yard run by Barry Beal. Northern added its extra point on a pass from Edwards to Umbel.

Danny Nicklow gave Northern six more points in the second quarter on a two-yard run. The fullback went into the end zone after carrying for most of the yardage on a 46-yard drive. Kingwood put two points on the board in the third period when three of its defenders tackled Edwards just inside his own end zone.

The big play, though, was Edwards' 65-yard gallop which started as a quarterback sneak. Edwards found daylight and outdistanced the Kingwood secondary. Earlier he had picked off a pass on his own thirty yard line and raced 60 yards before being caught on the ten. No touchdown was scored as he was caught on the 10-yard line and the gun sounded the end of the first half. Northern previously defeated Valley of Lonaconing and Terra Alta.

Friend Of Firemen Dies After Fall

Mrs. Bessie Marshall, 84, Reisterstown, known to the Volunteer Firemen of Maryland as "Aunt Bess" died Thursday morning at Carroll County Hospital where she was admitted Wednesday after a fall at the home of a friend.

Mrs. Marshall, a former president of Maryland State Firemen's Auxiliary and Chairman of its hospital fund for 29 years, was preparing to attend the fall conference of the Auxiliary, Thursday, being held at the Shrine Club in Cumberland.

"Aunt Bess" had visited in Garrett County several times. She attended the Bi-county conventions held in Oakland and Deer Park. She attended the convention this spring at Lonaconing. She also attended the tenth Anniversary Dinner of the Deer Park Fire Dept. She was well-known throughout the state through her sales of black-eyed susans for the Auxiliary's Hospital Fund. Several firemen in this county have benefited from this fund.

She was honored with a testimonial dinner last year by the firemen and the Auxiliary at which time she was presented a certificate by Gov. Tawes designating her "an honorable citizen of Maryland."

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 11 A. M. at Reisterstown.

Ski Club To Meet

A meeting of the Western Maryland Ski club members has been called for Sunday, September 27, at 2 p. m., standard time, at the Sitzmark room of the Will O' the Wisp motel, Deep Creek Lake.

Dr. H. C. Ashby, president, said the group would prepare plans for the ski races for the coming season. A tour of the ski slope also is in the program.

Members and interested persons are invited. He said last winter's trophies would be presented, providing they arrived in time.

He was urging a large membership this year. Fifty percent of the membership must be members in the Eastern American Ski association in order to conduct sanctioned races on the Marsh Mountain slope.

Northern Hi Huskies Score Second Win

Northern High Huskies picked up their second victory of the season without a loss last Friday afternoon when they defeated Terra Alta by a 19-7 margin at Accident.

Quarterback George Edwards and halfback Barry Beal, the same pair of juniors who spoiled Valley's opener a week previous, once again accounted for all of the Northern touchdowns.

After Terra Alta had scored its only touchdown in the first quarter Beal pulled off a heads-up play in the second period to get the home team even prior to intermission.

Beal picked up a fumble by teammate Dan Nicklow and turned the potentially disastrous play into a 50-yard touchdown gallop. Ohlen Umbel added the extra point on a pass from Edwards.

Edwards than went in twice in the second half of play on a pair of one-yard quarterback sneaks. Edwards carried the ball a total of six times during the afternoon for 79 yards and a whopping 13-2 yards per carry, while Beal amassed 97 yards in 8 carried for a 12.1 average. Gary Buckel helped out with 46 yards on 13 carries while Nicklow had 17 yards in 5 tries.

Terra Alta was minus its two starting halfbacks, Jerry Oakes and Joe Fraley because of injuries. Terra Alta stayed mainly in the air, scoring its touchdown on a ten yard aerial from Wilson to Swift after a Northern defender deflected the ball.

Starting for the Huskies were Umbel, McKenzie, Rush, Miller, Durst, Rounds, Hinebaugh, Edwards, Buckel, Beal and Nicklow. The Huskies rolled up 225 yards on the ground and 46 through the air. Edwards clicked on 3 of 8 passes attempted.

Two masked men robbed a Baltimore bank of $2,936.

Birthday Party Held

A birthday dinner was held at the home place on Sunday, September 6, in honor of George C. Blizzard, of Gormania, W. Va., who was 77 years old on September 7.

The man was born at Hopesville, Grant county, in 1887. There was singing, Bible reading and praying by Carl Blizzard, his son. Among those attending were two brothers and one daughter. Presents of money were distributed to the parents and also the children.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This picture will always live in my memory. It was Sunday morning, and I was about eleven years old. I was on my way to Church School when I met Tom Snyder. It didn't take much urging for me to join him in a fishing expedition.

I had always thought it would be fun to play hooky. It came as kind of a shock that it wasn't. I was downright uncomfortable, sitting there with my line dangling in the water. I kept thinking about how nice our Church School teacher had been to me, and about how my parents would be looking for me in Church. And pretty soon I found that inside me I was wriggling.

I think that's the first time I ever realized I "ought" to do anything. I didn't catch a fish that morning, but I did learn a big lesson. I learned that there is very little honest joy in doing something you shouldn't be doing. I learned that we have a certain duty to God and to ourselves, and that we can't be happy when we turn our backs on it.

From then on, my Church School attendance was 100%. Now that I'm older, I try to maintain that same record. Sunday means the Church to my family.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

What Is God Doing?

Lesson for September 27, 1964

Background Scripture: I Samuel 12; Hebrews 11:22-32, 39-40.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 47:1-10.

IN THE midst of personal agonies, or swept into a vast public calamity like a drought or a flood or a war, the cry goes up from bewildered souls confused by pain, What is God doing? He ought to be here, he ought to take a hand; where is he in this hour of need? This is not a new question; it has no doubt been asked ever since men began seriously to believe in God. One wide-ranging answer is found, in many places and eras, in the Old Testament. Prophets when asked this question or any question like it, would not answer by talking theology or philosophy; they pointed to history. The God of the Prophets was no do-nothing God.

Dr. Foreman

God in events

God, the God of the Bible, is not so remote that you have to track through eternity to find him. God is here, God is now. In ways which no prophet claimed to explain but which every prophet believed, God is in events. What a non-religious person might see only as an event which is historical and nothing more, the prophets see as an act of God. Samuel, judge and prophet, in a farewell address pointed out some of the events which were divine acts affecting the story and the fate of the Hebrew people. One great event was freedom.

"I am the Lord thy God who brought you out of . . . the house of bondage." Who set the Israelites free? A series of regrettable circumstances, no doubt the Egyptians said. The Egyptians were so far from believing the escape of their slaves was a doing of God, that they tried more than once to re-enslave them. Who set them free? Moses, you may say. Certainly there would have been no freedom without him. Who was it? "God," said Moses; "God," said all the prophets. The wind that made the exodus possible; the survival in the terrible wilderness; the whole of the many-sided, many-chaptered Event, was God's story, for it was the doing of God.

Homeland and king

Another great event, or series of events making one great one, was the settling of the Israelites in a homeland of their own. This sounds simple, like "the winning of the west" or "the second world war." Actually it was a long process, with ups and downs, successes and failures, not just an orderly process but disorderly, crude in many ways, a tale of "blood, sweat and tears." Yet Samuel (typical of other prophets) gives credit to God. Then just recently—that is, shortly before Samuel's farewell—these Hebrew people, aware that more fighting would be necessary before they could feel secure in their still unstable homeland, had elected a king. Samuel, however, says that God set this king up for them. This is remarkable; for Samuel disliked the whole business of having a king at all. It shows he had the rare ability to see the doing of God in events he himself did not welcome.

IF . . .

As of the time of Samuel's address, it looked as if God was not only in history, but in history very much on one side, the side of the Hebrews. But Samuel holds up a red light, a warning sign. Don't think that because God has been for you, in the past, he will always be for you whatever happens, whatever you may do. It is possible that God may turn against you—you and your king. Notice that Samuel does not say God will turn against Israel, or that he will not. The prophet sets up one word, a might word: IF. If you (the people, the nation) will fear, and serve, and hearken, and not rebel, and follow . . . then it will be well; but if not, the hand of the Lord will be against you. In short, God is in history, he is a God of action. But what the action of God will be, he leaves to the choice of his people.

Beall High School's Mountaineers, tied and defeated in two previous games, crashed the win column for the first time this season last Friday evening at Frostburg by defeating the Highlanders of Southern High school, Oakland. The final score was 18 to 6.

Southern scored the first touchdown but the score was nullified by a clipping penalty. Beall High gridders scored two touchdowns in the second period and one in the third quarter. Southern averted a shutout by scoring in the final quarter.

Monahan set up Beall's first score when he recovered a Southern fumble on the Beall 42. With Chaney, Smith and Linn carrying the ball Beall drove to the three from where Smith scored on a dive play. Chaney's placement was wide.

Later in the second period Davis tackled quarterback Charley Davis and when the latter fumbled on his own 25 McGreevy recovered for the Mountaineers. On the second play Ed. Langan lateraled to Chaney who passed to Elliott in the end zone. The pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Beall increased its lead to 18-0 in the third period when Chaney went over from the two on a quarterback sneak. His placement was wide.

In the final period Southern took over on its own 38, then drove to the eight. Beall held for three downs but on the fourth Bob Lohr smashed over from the one. Southern's placement was wide.

The Highlanders will travel to Morgantown on Friday evening, September 25, to meet St. Francis High. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

Listen Americans, it is time to learn the difference between Medicare and Medical Care. You may think there is no difference, but there is. Medicare means socialized medicine and government control. Socialized medicine has never worked successfully, and don't be misled by thinking it will work now. England tried it but with little success.

Medicare as the measure now stands is to be financed by social security taxes and that is one of the chief reasons why it is objectionable. Under social security the poor will pay the medical bills of the rich. There is no provision in the bill to prevent wealthy people, even millionaires, from sharing the benefits. Anyone with half judgment knows that such a law is wrong and should never be passed.

There is no adequate reason why the young people of this land should be taxed to keep the old people. Let me say to you young people who are paying social security that if the Medicare bill becomes a law, soon your social security tax will be doubled, and then in a few more years you will be paying ten per cent of your earnings as a social security tax. Are you interested in paying one tenth of your wages to keep someone in fifty states? Yet, that is exactly what you will be doing. I can't imagine anyone subscribing to such a program. I certainly don't want my children paying a good portion of their income to keep me and 50 million others. Now, listen, young man and young woman of twenty years. Without a change in the law you won't draw any social security for forty-five years. Think what you could do with the money you will be COMPELLED to pay to keep someone you never knew or heard of. If that passes, my young friends, you are being cheated.

Senator J. Glenn Beall told in one of his columns very clearly what the Medicare program would not do. I cannot think of anyone with a sound mind who would be interested in such a program. If the people don't want such a hoax forced on them, they had better write to their Representative and give him their views.

There is a measure called the Kerr-Mills program that provides for Medical Care, but not Medicare. There is a difference, and you who are paying social security taxes had better learn the difference if you don't want your pockets picked.

The Medicare bill was introduced in Congress a few years ago and pigeonholed. Now, in an election year, it is brought out and pushed for passage. The chief reason now is to get votes, and the administration is using every means at its command to get enough votes to keep them in power. They are not interested in you, Mr. Voter, they are interested in themselves. This administration is doing all it can to socialize our nation and Medicare is one more strategy it is employing to accomplish its purpose.

At election time the people are not told all of the facts, and what facts are told are "veneered" to cover up anything that might be disagreeable to the voters. The whole political philosophy in an election year is to say nothing that will be damaging to your chances of being elected, and this is the Johnson-Humphrey policy. If there is ever a time when the truth is not told, it is in an election campaign. But there are a few exceptions. It is comforting to know there are men in the Congress who speak the truth regardless of election results.

The proponents of Medicare will paint a rosy picture showing what it will do, thereby hoping to keep the voter's mind away from what it won't do. The entire administration program regarding Medicare becomes a case of leading the sheep into the fold, and after that the deluge. Shakespeare said, "The Devil can cite Scripture for his purpose," and so can politicians. Let the voter beware of 99.44 per cent of all promises and high sounding phrases. Let him learn the truth before he votes.

Is Your Name CROWE?

Do You Know That:

Crowe has been in use as a surname in the British Isles for many centuries. It is the equivalent of Crew and, according to most authorities on the origin of names, owes its usage to the fact that when surnames first came into vogue in about the year 1,000, there were relatively few people, other than the clergy, who could read. Thus inns, taverns, stores and other establishments had distinctive signs to identify them to the illiterate passers-by. It was common practice to use animals on these signs and thus "John atte Crow" indicated "John whose place of business was at the sign of the crow". Subsequently "atte" was dropped from the name which became John Crow and in many instances John Crowe. It is said also that Crowe and Crow were surnames often bestowed upon individuals who had some fancied resemblance to the crow. Incidentally, it should be noted that the name Crowell was originally written as Crowe.

According to the Fifth Series of the Pennsylvania Archives, Michael Crowe was a private in the Cumberland County, Pennsylvania militia at the time of the Revolutionary War.

An interesting genealogy of the descendants of John Crowe, who came from England and settled in Charlestown, Mass., in 1635, was published by T. Y. Crowell and Company of New York City in 1903.

There are ten listings of persons by the name of Crowe in the latest directory of Phi Bet Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Sir Joseph Archer Crowe (1825-1856) was a distinguished English journalist.

Thomas Bennett Crowe (1876-1940), a distinguished mining engineer, earned national recognition for his patented process of precipitating gold from cyanide solutions. His method is now used universally in the gold mining industry.

Francis Trenholm Crowe (1862-1946), a civil engineer of note, was general superintendent of construction of the Hoover Dam at Boulder City, Nevada.

Lawrence Kenneth Crowe is professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Nebraska.

Guthrie Ferguson Crowe is U. S. District Judge, Panama Canal Zone.

Charles Crowe is professor of history at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

A New Way To Lay Track Taking Place

A feature story, "Song of the Rails Is Muted," which appeared in a section of "Maryland Living," magazine of the Baltimore News-American of last Sunday, parallels an activity which took place recently in this area in the laying of rails 1,440 feet long instead of the standard 39-foot rails formerly used.

The rails were placed between Altamont and Mt. Lake Park. Further activity probably will take place along the entire line.

The story was by J. William Joynes and portions of it follow:

"The lullaby of the rails, the familiar clickety-clickety, clickety-clack that has lulled so many passengers to near sleep (or kept them awake) may be by way of becoming a 'swan song.'

"In the first significant change in 100 years of track laying, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is about to do away with the sound of car wheels passing over the half-inch or more of space between connecting rails. It's a trend that will undoubtedly be matched by other American roads for it saves time, money and eliminates one of the most troublesome problems of railroads—bad joints that cause derailments.

"For more than a century, 'gandy dancers' carried the standard 39-foot rails with tongs to the ties, then banged the spikes home in rhythmic cadence that gave rise to such legendary railroad figures as 'Old John Henry.' But the new method . . . does away even with the old, familiar track technique.

"A million dollar operation, it includes a train of 26 separate cars and pieces of equipment that work assembly-line style. Formerly a track gang would lay a 39-foot section between passing trains. Now the first operation is to close a track to all traffic for eight hours.

"The new track crew is a 63-man operation that works an entire division. The B. and O. now has two crews on the Eastern and Central divisions, plans soon to add a third to its Western.

"Called dual-laying of continuously welded rail, the operation is set up on one train more than a quarter of a mile long. From front to back, the train is made up like this: first, the caboose, followed by the creosote car, a crane and cars to carry a week's supply of spikes, heavy iron tie plates to set the rail in, another crane and then the engine. Behind the engine come 26 gondola cars which have had their ends removed to hold 40 strings of 1,440-foot rails, or the equivalent of 5½ miles of dust track. Each string is the equivalent of 39 of the old rails that had to be bolted together. As the cars go around a bend the long steel rails curve, too, like long pieces of spaghetti.

"A pusher car behind the gondolas unloads two parallel strings inside the old track. As this much of the train passes, the old rail to be replaced is pulled up. Before the new rail is slipped into place, other equipment planes the old ties smooth, recreosotes them and fills in the old spike holes with square wooden pegs. When the new rail is in place, automatic spike drivers finish the job. In four to five days all 5½ miles of new track carried is in place, the old 39-foot rails are picked up and sent to Greenspring, W. Va., 20 miles east of Cumberland, to be welded, while a new set of stringers is on the way to a new section."

The story was accompanied by photographs showing the operation in detail.

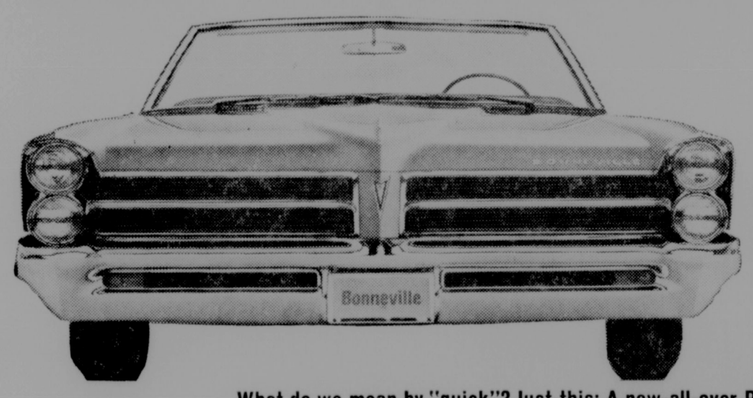
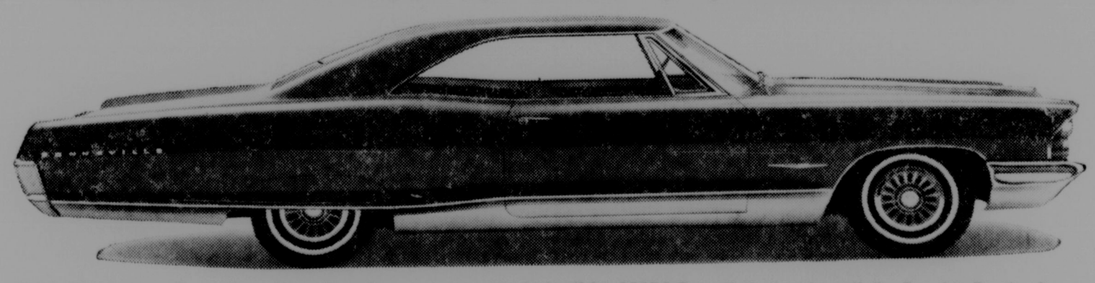
Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

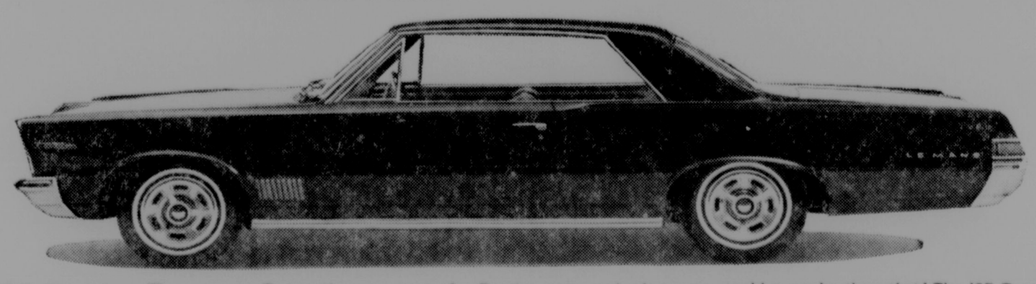
1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks



What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkiest, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!



'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.



'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

Homecoming Plans Are Made

Plans are nearly complete for the 7th Annual Homecoming Week-end. Southern will meet her traditional foe, Northern High School, on Oct. 2nd, under the lights. As in the past, the Homecoming Parade will precede the game.

The 7th Annual Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the G. A. A., will be held on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. The dance will culminate the big Homecoming Week-end.

According to custom, there will be a king and queen selected to reign over the dance. The usual procedure was used in selecting them. The candidates for king were selected by the G. A. A. from the Varsity Club. They are: Jack Rowan, Terry Imhoff, and Jay Rice. The queen candidates were selected by the Varsity Club from the G. A. A. senior girls.

They are: Ruth Biser, Rita O'Brien, and Linda Ritchie. The entire senior high will vote for the king and queen.

The dress this year will be "party dress", or semi-formal. The dance is for senior high students only, unless a jr. high student is invited by a senior high student.

Hunters Informed Of Wing Regulation

Hunters of mourning doves as well as other migratory game birds who field-dress their birds before heading home, must leave one fully-feathered wing on each bird until they reach home.

That is a new regulation of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The wing to be left on each bird is to permit species identification. The old regulation specified head and feet must be left on, and it did not include doves. This year, for the first time, dove hunters are subject to the requirement that their birds must be identifiable. Also for the first time, a wing instead of other body parts, is the only mark of identification that will be accepted. According to the regulation, either wing will do.

The Maryland mourning dove season opened September 12. The first portion of it will close October 31, and the second portion will be December 21 to January 9, 1965. The regulation also applies to other migatory birds; including ducks, brank, geese, rails, gallinules, woodcock and jacksnipe.

Robinson Has Feature Article In Magazine Section, Sunday Sun

"A Mountain Man Who Lives Like the Pioneers," is the title of a feature story written by Felix G. Robinson, of Oakland, that will appear in the magazine section of The Sun for Sunday, September 27. Photos are by A. Aubrey Bodine. The man Edward Meore, 83 is pictured in color on the cover of the magazine where he is shown with fiddle and bow and titled "Old Man of the Mountain."

Moore lives just one and one-half miles from the town of Barton, on the west side of Dans mountain.

The man works in the same way as did his great great grandfather who settled there in 1778. He is almost entirely self-sufficient, maintaining himself on an earned income of $5 per week, according to the story.

The story is contained on portions of five pages of the magazine section.

Mr. Robinson's activities also appeared in last Sunday's book section under "Books and Authors", written by James H. Bready where it is intimated he plans to contribute a book, "Potomac Trails", which is designed to "salute the valley giving the Shawnees and latterly the Europeans, their principal access to the upland glades, streams, caves and vistas as well as edible saps, fruits, birds and animals."

The book Mr. Bready says, is planned as a thick volume with contributions by various hands and is to contain four sections — the river's full length historical geography; a study of various routes up the valley; a chronicle of valley communities from Cumberland to the Fairfax stone; and a record of reclamation projects along the way.

Lions District Man To Visit Local Club

The official visit of the district governor of the 43 Lions clubs of district 22 W, Harry E. Filler, is scheduled to take place at a regular meeting of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park club on Monday evening, September 28, at 6:15 o'clock in the Hinebaugh dining room. Mr. Filler will be speaker for that evening.

An office manager and secretary of Frederick Electronics corporation at Frederick he was just recently installed as district governor. The district includes Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties. He was elected last May at Atlantic City.

The Oakland-Mountain Lake club was organized in 1940. The members have been active this summer in clearing the area around the Crystal Spring, endeavoring to restore the facility to what it was in former years. This week they are completing the fence around the Southern High school football field and have actively sponsored the refreshment stand at the field for several years. For the past several years also they have sponsored the chicken barbecue dinner at the county fair.

Mr. Filler is a past president of his own club, Glade Valley. On the district level he served as CARE chairman, as public relations officer, zone chairman and twice served as cabinet secretary-treasurer for two former governors. A graduate of the University of Maryland he served in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

He will speak on plans for increasing community service at the club level.

New Cafetorium

classroom addition plus a girls' gymnasium, a separate three-room vocational shop addition for Southern High and Northern, an addition to the cafeteria at Northern, and a two room addition to the Crellin school.

He explained the two rooms at Crellin would make it possible to retain about sixty more pupils there who are now transported to Dennett road, thereby cutting down transportation costs, enabling more pupils at Center street to be shifted to Dennett, thus reducing class size in both schools.

He explained in detail the financing problems and pointed out that the county was in the best position of any county in the state as far as bonded indebtedness for schools was concerned.

"It has been said that buildings do not make the schools. We are aware of this generality. Good facilities, however, do make better schools, attract better teachers, inspire interested students and develop civic pride in improved educational opportunities. Good schools make good communities. No community is likely to make any greater progress than the education of its people," he said.

He concluded by saying he believed that Garrett county children were fortunate in their educational opportunities and that the stage was set for greater improvements in the schools within the years to come.

Around 200 persons attended the event which was opened with an invocation by Rev. James Remley, Mt. Lake Park Methodist pastor.

North Star Club Elects

At a meeting of the North Star 4-H club on Monday, September 14, the following officers were elected: President, Linda Margroff; vice-president, Donna Haenftling; secretary, Karen Markel; treasurer, Karen Bowman. Also elected were Carol Edwards as song leader, Judy Richter as devotions leader, Dorothy Hanft as historian, and Charee Reckner as recreation leader. Joyce Harman was appointed reporter and County Council representative.

Club members chose their projects for the coming year. The local leaders, Mrs. William E. Harman and Mrs. Cecil Edwards, were on hand to assist.

There were nine members present with one new member, Julia Fratz, and two local leaders, Re-Fratz, and two served by Carol Edwards, hostess.

The North Star club plans to have a display in one of the showcases at Northern High school for National 4-H Club week. There will also be a poster at the Accident school and on the bulletin board at Northern.

Recent visitors of Nelson A. Nethken, Rosedale, who is a patient in the local hospital, were his son, Francis C. Nethken, his granddaughter, Janice Nethken, Kinston, North Carolina; his nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friend, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; his niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Bohon, St. George, W. Va.; his daughter, Mrs. Marshall Moate, Jr., and son, Michael, Middletown, and other friends and relatives. The occasion was Mr. Nethken's 85th birthday, September 17. There were two birthday cakes and a birthday card shower.

Two Firms Bid Low On Dam Project

Two West Virginia firms were apparent low bidders last week when bids were opened for two projects preliminary to the construction of the Bloomington dam on the Potomac river.

One project could result in a split award as plans and specifications divided the work into Schedule A and Schedule B for foundation and exploration of the reservoir project.

Mott Core Drilling of Huntington, W. Va., submitted apparent low bid of $25,022 for Schedule A and Potomac Lumber Company of Shaw, W. Va., submitted apparent low bid of $17,895 for Schedule B. Schedule A calls basically for dry sample borings up to and over 400 feet. Schedule B specifies test pittings up to 240 feet.

Mott Core Drilling also was apparent low bidder on the other project which involves foundation exploration with a bid of $38,423 in competition with three other bidders. It entails sample boring for the first 400 feet and cord drawings for 1,800 feet and over.

Eighteen firms obtained plans and specifications but only five submitted bids. Bids were opened by U. S. Army engineer district in Baltimore. Contracts are expected to be awarded by October 1.

Thirteen Are Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Eight of those killed were drivers; one was a passenger; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths; speed in seven; and "driver error" was present in nine of the fatalities.

"Out of a total of 400 highway fatalities so far this year, 90 of them, 22%, have been pedestrians - ten in the past two weeks," commented Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

Russia killed a Security council resolution deploring landing of Indonesian-based paratroops in South Malaya, Sept. 2 by its veto power.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman 6th District, Maryland

Post-Convention Congress Detriment To The American People

The Congress is still in session. It has now been almost two months since the Republican National Convention in San Francisco and about one month since the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City. It is almost unprecedented that the Congress should be in post-convention session after such an interval. Both of our national Parties have chosen their Presidential nominees. Our platforms have been adopted. Partisan lines have hardened. And yet the Congress drags on the post-convention session to the detriment of the people of this country.

I am deeply concerned that we are still considering and propose to further consider matters of legislative importance which will affect the American people for generations. Yet we are meeting in Washington in an atmosphere which is not conducive to the kind of mature and positive deliberation that is necessary for the passage of good laws.

Legislation Needs Constructive Consideration

In the four years I have been in Congress it has been my concept that my job was to try to consider each legislative proposal to make it better, if there is any way to improve it — to amend it —to refine it — to improve every kind of law which is before the House of Representatives for action. In order to give this kind of constructive and positive legislative consideration to laws - to the bills that are before us - it is necessary that Members should meet in an atmosphere which is devoid of rigid party lines as nearly as possible. It is necessary that the Members should throw away their partisan stance which is a part, of course, of the life of a Member of Congress outside of Washington, but which should not be carried to undue length within the Capitol itself. Yet we find that we are in just that kind of an atmosphere today. We are in the heat of a compaign. Many Members of Congress go home to engage in bitter, partisan campaigns at night and when they come back to deliberate on matters of national importance during the day too often they bring with them the bitterness and partisanship of the night before. In my judgment that is the wrong way for a great nation to legislate.

Important Matters Now Before Congress

There are a number of very important matters that are now before the Congress. Take the question of Medicare — while I have consistently doubted the wisdom of marrying the problem of medical assistance for our Senior Citizens to the Social Security System, certainly I appreciate and sympathize with the tremendous problem that exists for getting medical assistance to our Senior Citizens — and, in fact, to all our citizens. This is the kind of problem that demands the best brains, and the best consideration of all the Members of Congress. It should not be decided as a matter of partisan politics. We should be getting the best solution so that our people get the best kind of service. And yet it is being considered in a very partisan way.

Take the question of the Poverty Bill. While I think it is unfortunate that we labeled the Economic Opportunities Act - The Poverty Bill - yet it was so named and then it became a partisan issue. The fact of the matter is that there were many good programs within the Poverty Bill, as well as some of which I didn't approve. I voted for the bill in the final analysis but I would have been happier, if we could have debated it in a less partisan atmosphere so we could have refined and improved the bill before it became law.

This is the result of having the sessions of Congress after the National Political Conventions. IT'S BAD IN PRINCIPLE. IT'S BAD IN PRACTICE. I HOPE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILL REBEL AGAINST IT IN FOUR YEARS TIME.

Some people are getting ordinary tires when they ask for tiger paws.

Nobody says you have to buy tiger paws. You can buy something else.

But if you want tiger paws, you ought to get tiger paws. Not something else.

Tiger paws are sold only at U. S. Royal tiger paw stores. No place else.

We're that kind of store.

So if you buy a tire at another kind of store, you'll be buying an ordinary tire. Not tiger paws.

Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):

They were tested at 120 miles an hour for a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.

They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour for 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)

Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner as nimbly as tigers.

Now, do you want tiger paws? Head our way.

We're an official U. S. Royal tiger paw store.

Thurmond Scores Democrats In Bolt To Republican Party

Senator Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina is termed a man of sincerity and deep spiritual convictions.

David Lawrence, nationally known writer and editor of U. S. News and World Report, thus declared it came as no surprise that "he is willing to take a position in politics which could mean risking his seat in the Senate when he comes up for re-election two years hence.

Even those who disagree with Mr. Thurmond cannot but applaud his forthrightness. His televised address to the people of South Carolina was not only an endorsement of Senator Goldwater but an emphatic protest against the trend in the Democratic party. He declared:

"I have no choice but to speak openly, frankly, and fully to the people of South Carolina on the crisis that confronts us.

"The Democratic party has abandoned the people. It has turned its back on the spiritual values and political principles which have brought us the blessings of freedom under God and a bountiful prosperity. It has breached the trust reposed in it by the people. It has repudiated the Constitution of the United States. It is leading the evolution of our nation to a socialistic dictatorship.

"The Democratic Party has forsaken the people to become the party of minority groups, power-hungry union leaders, political bosses, and big businessmen looking for government contracts and favors . . .

"The Democratic Party has encouraged lawlessness, civil unrest, and mob actions.

"The Democatic Party has violated its trust by using the power of government to suppress information on scandals and corruption of its leaders in government and party offices.

"The Democratic Party has succored and assisted our Communist enemies through trade and aid at the expense of the American people.

"The Democatic Party has established and pursued for our government a no-win foreign policy of weakness, indecision, accommodation and appeasement.

"The Democratic Party has demonstrated a callous disregard for sound fiscal policies and practices.

"The Democratic Party, while hiding behind the deceitful gimmick of a darkened White House, has increased deficit spending and squandered, at home and abroad, billions of hard-earned dollars taken from the American people.

"The Democratic Party has utterly disregarded the disastrous effects of the resulting inflation on people with fixed incomes, such as retirees, pensioners, social security beneficiaries, and those who have their savings invested in insurance. . . .

"The Democratic Party has nominated for vice president a key leader of the Americans for Democratic Action—the most influential socialist group in our nation.

"The Democratic Party has encouraged, supported, and protected the Supreme Court in a reign of judicial tryanny, and in the court's effort to wipe our local self-government, effective law enforcement, internal security, the rights of the people and the states, and even the structure of the state governments."

The Senator praises Mr. Goldwater as a man who "believes in and abides by our Constitution," and says:

"I personally know him to be able antd responsible. He is an henest man of courage and conviction, who trusts the American people to hold the reins of government and rule themselves."

But Strom Thurmond has concluded that he can follow only the course which in his heart and conscience he believes to be in the best interests of "our state, our country and the freedom of our people."

Top Campaigner . . . .

LBJ will go down in history books as America's first campaigner to cover earth and heaven too, with organizations in London and Paris, and an emissary knocking at the doors of those "abodes in the sky" of Brahma, Vishnu, Siva, Allah and other gods to whom the devout of India offer up their prayers!

An editor of the Washington Daily News gives out this astonishing news that heathen gods have been embroiled in the U. S. Presidential race by the chaplain of Yale university, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Jr.

The writer declared Dr. Coffin had hit upon a formula for hating Goldwater wholesale! Instead of depending on his venom infecting only those within striking distance, he urges them to pray to their deities for a Goldwater defeat. Presumably, the gods—if the demand is impressive enough—will then command all worshippers to campaign for LBJ in the American election.

The writer, William F. Buckley, Jr., a Yale alumnus, quotes this revelation from the opening-day issue of the Yale Daily News as follows: "William Sloane Coffin, Jr., Yale's partisan prophet, for the past five weeks has been urging university audiences across India to pray every night to whomever they pray that Barry Goldwater will not be elected."

The article also stated the safari was "a State Department-sponsored speaking tour." YOU were paying for it! Heretofore citizens of India, Britain and Europe have not been permitted to vote in US elections. But we wonder what arrangements may be in the making. A year ago we would not have thought it possible for a citizen from Massachusetts to run for the Senate in New York or a Virginian to enter the Upper House from California.

But we believe the Administration is going to unheard of lengths to give voters the impression that only LBJ can keep our global image bright and shining. One difficulty however,

Coleman Receives 7-Year Sentence In Penitentiary

Other Cases Disposed Of In Criminal Court This Week

Ralph Edgel Coleman, who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of sodomy, entered a plea of guilty before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in the Circuit court in Oakland on Tuesday. He was sentenced by Judge Hamill to serve seven years in the Maryland penitentiary. The man presently was at the Patuxent institution.

Coleman's indictment resulted from a jail disturbance back in July for which two other persons were charged with assault and battery upon a juvenile jail inmate, and also the crime of sodomy upon the body of the juvenile and for committing an unnatural and perverted sexual practice. The two persons, David Cruthers and Gordon Nash, of Baltimore waived their right to indictment and requested immediate trial. They entered pleas of guilty to the first and second counts and were sentenced to ten years in prison.

Coleman had been sent to Patuxent to determine whether or not the man was a "defective delinquent". A hearing in the Circuit court in Oakland August 3 confirmed the report of the psychiatrists at Patuxent that he was a "defective delinquent".

She was fined $200 and costs. A similar charge against her husband, Robert F. Dixon, was settled by the State's Attorney since the man was a patient in the Veterans' hospital at Martinsburg.

To Begin Mounted Delivery of Mail In Mt. Lake Park

Mounted mail delivery service is to be inaugurated for Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights on Saturday, October 24, it was announced by Guy William Hinebaugh, postmaster at the Oakland office.

This was to become effective providing the towns provided street numbers, street signs and mail boxes. Lester White, president of the town council of Mt. Lake Park, and acting mayor in the absence of Jay Davis, who is ill, and Elwood Grove Loch Lynn's mayor, said these conditions could be met.

Arrangements for the new delivery service were made through W. A. Sykes and Ned Prichard, postal officials, who had worked for several months with Mr. Hinebaugh.

The Mt. Lake and Loch Lynn areas will be under a "classified branch" of the Oakland post office. The Mt. Lake office will not lose its identity and there will be no change in personnel. There will be a shuttle service between the Oakland and Mt. Lake Park offices and mail will be accepted at both offices.

Mr. Hinebaugh explained that there was not enough business to qualify for foot delivery so this other method was devised. The delivery service will include a portion of the route 2 mail for Oakland since Oakland's route 2 includes a number of Mt. Lake Park residences.

A delivery truck is to be delivered to Mt. Lake Park in October.

Mr. Hinebaugh said the delivery service would take care of parcel post as well as the regular mail.

He said there had been some opposition to the plan originally when it was feared that Mt. Lake would lose its identity and be classified as an Oakland station, but he repeated that this was not correct. It will still be the Mt. Lake Park post office, that the postmaster and assistant would be the same. An additional man was to be hired to run the delivery truck.

At the present time there is a similar arrangement concerning the Hutton area. Hutton is a rural station of the Oakland office but is still Hutton.

The new program is being adopted to provide better service for the residents of the park, it was pointed out.

MISS FIRST NATIONAL will be selected from one of the twenty contestants, and she will reign over the grand opening festivities of the new bank facility on Second street. She will be crowned Friday, October 9, at 9:00 p. m. Voting will close Saturday. Here are the contestants: back row, left to right, Eileen Bernard, Maria Tipton, Judy Kildow, Linda Tichnell, Donna Martin, Linda Oursler, Margaret Jean Fulk. Front row, Carolyn Sue Martin, Terra Alta; Suzanne Faulkner, Eleanor Vetter, Victoria Stewart, Terra Alta; Catherine Evans, Ruth Nazelrod, Doris Schrock, Gormania; Carol Jean Campbell. Not shown are Lynne Malone, Deanna Fike, Linda Fisher, Friendsville; Geraldine McDonald, Bayard; and Janice Marie Hetz, Grantsville. Carol Sue Martin, Oakland, was compelled to withdraw since her father, Billy Ray Martin, has been employed by the bank. Carolyn Sue Martin, of Terra Alta, however, is still a contestant. Contestants are to be judged on general appearance, personality and talents. Persons wishing to vote may get ballots from any teller. First prize is a trip to the World's Fair for two with all expenses paid. Second and third prizes will be $100 U. S. Savings bonds.

Driver In Fatal Accident Is Given 1-Year Sentence

Carl Frederick Hinebaugh Also Fined $500 By Judge Hamill

Carl Frederick Hinebaugh, 21-year-old Deer Park man on Monday morning was sentenced to one year in the Maryland House of Correction and fined $500 after pleading guilty in the Circuit court in Oakland to a charge of manslaughter by auto in the highway deaths April 19, of two McCoole youngsters, near Deer Park along state route 135.

In a second indictment of manslaughter by auto he was sentenced to another year in the House of Correction, to run concurrently. Sentences were pronounced by Judge Stuart F. Hamill after counsel for the defendant entered a plea of nolo contendere.

The court also recommended that Hinebaugh be refused a Maryland operator's license for a period of five years. Mr. Hinebaugh was represented by W. Dwight Stover, Oakland, and Howard P. Shores, of Keyser.

On April 19, Hinebaugh collided with another car operated by Donald A. McGinnis, McCoole. A third car, driven by Ronald L. King, of Gormania, then crashed into the Hinebaugh car.

Two adopted children of Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis, Frank A. McGinnis, 16, and Robin L. McGinnis, 8, were killed. The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital. The other died shortly after being admitted.

Indicted by the grand jury of the September term, Hinebaugh earlier had been tried before Magistrate Robert M. Maroney and found guilty on a reckless driving charge but the defendant appealed.

This charge, along with the manslaughter cases were consolidated for trial purposes in the circuit court.

Injured slightly in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis, Mr. King, Charles A. Kyle, Gormania, and Walter R. Skeweris, route 1, Gormania, the latter two being occupants in the King car. Hinebaugh had a fractured jaw, lacerations of the skull and nose. Police said the McGinnis car was proceeding west on route 135 when it collided with Hinebaugh's machine, heading east in the westbound lane. The Hinebaugh car hit the right front of the McGinnis vehicle and continued on to hit the King car headon. The latter also was being driven westward.

In previous years the Huskies have won twice, being victorious in 1956 and 1957 with scores of 21 to 18 and 32 to 0. In the first year of competition for Northern the Huskies beat 2 "B" team of Southern 39 to 0.

Northern is given the best chance for defeating the Highlanders this year. It has won its first three games against Valley of Lonaconing, Terra Alta and Kingwood. The Highlanders have won only one game this year, against Romney School for the Deaf, while losing to Moorefield, Beall High and St. Francis of Morgantown.

Coach for the Highlanders is Leroy Bolding while Jack Lear is the coach for the Huskies.

Area Woman Finds, Returns Visitor's Life Savings

Diogenes would not have needed his lantern to find an honest person Saturday in this county. He would have found an honest woman in the person of Mrs. Mary Durst, an employe of the Happy Hills restaurant on U. S. route 40.

Maryland State Police, at the LaVale barracks, received a call Saturday morning about 11:45 from Mrs. Durst. She stated that she had found a lady's pocketbook containing $15,000 at one of the tables in the restaurant. She knew they were in a car bearing Wisconsin license plates.

Police began the search for the car but the owner returned to the restaurant within 15 minutes after leaving. The money belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pomprovitz, of Green Bay, Wis., and the money represented their life savings.

Needless to say, they were delighted that the money had fallen into the hands of an honest person. The story which appeared in the Sunday Times, did not say whether any reward was offered to the finder.

West Va. Miner Killed In Mishap

An 18-year-old Benbush, W. Va., miner was killed instantly last Thursday in a slate fall in the mine of the Alpine Coal company at Henry.

State Police at Petersburg identified the victim as Steven K. Hymes, who was working his second day after having been furloughed. He previously had worked five and one-half weeks.

Robert Wooters, president of Alpine Coal company, said Hymes was one-half mile inside the mine timbering up a section of roof. The massive weight of the large amount of slate crushed the man.

Hymes had been employed as a bolt machine operator, but last Thursday had been assigned to the timbering work. The body was taken to the Spiggle Funeral home in Davis, W. Va.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Maxine Hymes, Pittsburgh; four sisters, Mrs. June Delaney, Mrs. Betty Sampson, Mrs. Carolyn Dameron, Baltimore; Miss Sharon Hymes, Benbush.

Born at Elkins, he was a son of Mrs. Maxine Hymes, Benbush, W. Va., and the late John C. Hymes. He was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Elkins.

Funeral services were conducted from the Spiggle Funeral home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in Rose Hill cemetery.

Registration Favors Republican Party

Although Miss Julia Rowan, chief registrar for the Board of Supervisors of Elections, said the official registration totals would not be available for a few days, she stated that during the period September 1 to and including September 22, the registration figures favored the Republicans 154 to 114.

The total registered during that time was 274 with four registering as independents and two undesignated.

Absent Voter Deadline

Two more deadlines approach for those wishing to vote by absentee ballot. Wednesday, October 14, is the last day to apply for civilian absentee ballots before the general election.

Saturday, October 24, is the last day to apply by mail for military absentee ballots. These persons in the armed forces need not be registered in order to apply for their ballots.

Over one hundred persons in the armed service and in the peace corps have requested absentee ballots. They come from foreign countries and from most of the 48 states, Miss Rowan said. There is one from Rabot, Morocco, one from Honoolulu, Hawaii, and two from Okinawa, and a number of others.

Registration will not reopen until November 19, 15 days after the general election.

Lot Sales Continue

Lot sales continued to boom at the Youghiogheny Mountain club on the Cranesville road, with the total now numbering 150, it was announced this week by Don Reynolds.

He said he planned to start improvements at the area next spring with a swimming pool one of the first items of business. A club house, and golf course would come later, he said.

Nuclear Control Charge Collapses

A major Democratic campaign issue blew up in President Johnson's face when a leading Congressional expert on atomic development confirmed news reports that the President has delegated authority to military field commanders to use tactical nuclear weapons in emergencies.

Rep. Craig Hosmer (R. of Calif.), ranking House Republican member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, accused President Johnson of using "the big lie technique" in failing to inform the American public that such authority over nuclear weapons has already been granted.

Johnson's major campaign theme has been built around an accusation that GOP Presidential nominee Barry Goldwater is "trigger-happy" in proposing that field commanders be given limited authority. Actually, Goldwater has proposed only that the NATO commander be given such authority.

In a blistering attack on Johnson, Hosmer told the House: "I believe it is high time this Administration was brought to task for its complete duplicity regarding the question of whether the supreme NATO commander should be allowed to decide on the use of battlefield nuclear weapons in the event of a surprise Soviet invasion attack.

"They have aimed a barrage of low-level smears at Senator Goldwater for taking the position that delegation of authority should be allowed in precisely-defined contingency situations."

Hosmer then pointed out that both Time and U. S. News and World Report this week disclosed that there has been "such a delegation by President Eisenhower and Kennedy" and "that such delegation by President Johnson does, in fact, exist today."

The Californian told the Newsletter that the news reports are "essentially accurate". He added:

"But the Johnson administration has not had the courage to reveal this to the American people. At the same time, it has taken no steps to deny it. Instead, the Johnson Administration has launched an attack on Senator Goldwater, alleging he is 'trigger-happy' because he supports an agreement which . . . does exist. This is the big lie technique. For this administration knowingly to mislead, misinform, or fail to inform our people on a question involving our national survival can only be attributed to the basest political motives."

Rep. Jack Westland (R. of Wash.), also a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, shot another barb into President Johnson's inconsistency on nuclear controls when he questioned the Administration's proposed multilateral (military) forces, consisting of nationals of NATO countries.

Pointing out that Johnson has made much of denying authority to use nuclear weapons to anyone but himself, Westland asked:

"If this is the case, then why has this Administration so persistently urged this multilateral force, which would consist of Germans, Italians, Greeks and Turks all on the same ship with nuclear weapons? Why would (the Administration) persist in having this sort of a NATO force if it is not to give NATO allies more control . . . of nuclear weapons?"

The magazine reports that Johnson has already delegated control over nuclear weapons to field commanders was not denied by the Pentagon and the New York Times reported this week that such authority was generally acknowledged in Washington.

At week's end, the general feeling in the Capital was that the Democrats' main campaign attack on Senator Goldwater had been considerably blunted by these disclosures.

"The result of all of this," summed up one Congressman, "is that the American public now realizes that Goldwater has indeed known what he is talking about. And there is going to be a deep resentment among Americans over the fact that their President has been playing a deceitful game for political gain."

Rains Break Dry Spell With 2.77 Fall

Rains of the past few days broke the long dry spell with 2.77 inches of rain occurring Sunday through Wednesday. Over an inch of rain had fallen on the 19th and 20th to make the total for September 3.97. Not a drop of rain had fallen in September up to the 19th.

Streams got a fresh supply of water during the three-day spell this week and wells began to receive some relief.

The rains also have reduced the danger from forest fires to a minimum. A forest fire on September 17, caused considerable damage to the property of the Yougiogheny Mountain club development along the Swallow Falls-Cranesville road.

A brief rundown of the week's weather showed the following:

Friday was cold with the temperature getting no higher than 55. Skies were mostly clear. A 29-degree reading was recorded Saturday with the air clear and cool. Sunday remained cool with rain beginning in late afternoon. Rain continued Monday, rather heavily at times with the temperature around 45 degrees. There was additional rain Tuesday. Skies remained cloudy with temperature in the 50's. There was still more rain on Wednesday with the temperature again in the 50's. It remained cloudy most of the day, clearing in late afternoon. Skies were mostly clear this morning with the temperature at 57 degrees by 9:30.

Pointing out that "political gain is now the way of life in Washington," the Senate-House Republican leadership charged that the entire executive branch of the federal government is engaged in a massive effort to elect President Johnson.

"The Democrat vice presidential nominee, Hubert Humphrey, sheds large tears about the collapse of bipartisan foreign policy and of course, blames the Republicans," House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck said. "All we can say is when the Department of State, the Department of Defense, the Disarmament Agency, the Peace Corps and the UN ambassador become adjuncts of the Democratic National Committee, where is there any room for bipartisan foreign policy?"

The leadership charge came on the heels of a request (see Newsletter, September 18) by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R. of Wis.) that the General Accounting Office investigate the extent to which the President is using Federal employees and facilities to prepare Democratic campaign data and develop material to rebut charges by GOP Nominees Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller.

Both Laird and Halleck pointed to occasions where high-ranking officials of the Administration—including the Secretaries of State and Defense who have, traditionally, been politically aloof—have spent much of their time preparing purely political material.

Halleck also pointed to UN Ambassador Stevenson who unlike his predecessors, "is injecting his own special brand of sarcasm into the Presidential race without regard for what the other delegates to the UN may think".

The Congressman also noted that Disarmament Agency Director Foster and Peace Corps Director Shriver "find ample time to make political speeches" attacking Goldwater. He pointed out the speeches of Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay calling for new weapons development are censored by the Pentagon while the remarks of Adm. Harold Page Smith attacking Senator Goldwater's views are encouraged.

Halleck charged that the Defense Department has set up a "political press desk" solely to issue political statements promptly.

In charging that the Capital has never seen anything like the massive political operation Johnson has set up in Government, Halleck said: "It must be dawning on the American people that they have a politician in the White House, that political gain is now the way of life in Washington."

Episcopal Church Launches Building Fund Campaign

St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Oakland, launched a building fund campaign last Wednesday night with a dinner at the Four Seasons dining room at Will O' the Wisp motel, Deep Creek Lake.

The campaign to raise funds to restore the old stone church, corner of Liberty and Second streets, will continue until October 11. Pledges will continue over a three-year period. Estimated cost of remodeling is $35,000.

The Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, D. D., Bishop of Maryland presented the theological reasons for making a successful effort. Felix G. Robinson gave the history of the Garrett Memorial church pointing out that several U. S. presidents had worshipped there and that from the historical viewpoint should be restored as a county landmark.

James J. Chapman, Jr., Hagerstown architect, unveiled the future building for St. Matthew's. He presented slides taken of the architect's drawings. He mentioned the increase in the seating capacity from 135 to 190.

W. Kenneth Johns, junior warden of the parish and chairman of the finance committee, explained by way of charts the manner in which persons might pledge to the building fund. Dr. E. Irving Baumgartner, senior warden and chairman of the building committee, served as toastmaster. Several were guests of the parish. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheckells, Baltimore and the Rev. and Mrs. Austin Schildwachter. Mr. Sheckells was one of the early lay readers of St. Matthew's and Mr. Schildwachter was rector here from 1945 to 1950.

Preceding the dinner and meeting was a service of Confirmation in the church at which seven persons were presented to the Bishop by the Rev. W. Sheiby Walthall, rector. Confirmed were Aza C. Stanton, Jr., Louise M. Stanton, Carolyn Kay Thomas, Victoria Ann Smouse, Elmer Leroy Reckart, David Harold Cassidy and Dwight David Hinebaugh.

The appeal in the case of Carl Frederick Hinebaugh on a reckless driving conviction was dismissed.

Three appeal cases from Magistrate Edward I. Crowe, of Grantsville involving Willard Ray Merrill, Carlton Merrill and Kenneth Zimmerman on a conviction for disturbing the peace were heard yesterday afternoon. Magistrate Crowe had sentenced them to 90 days in jail which later was reduced to 60 days in jail, the maximum. Judge Hamill found them guilty, kept the sentence at 60 days in jail but suspended the sentences and placed them under the jurisdiction of the Department of Parole and Probation for one year.

Newton Beckman who had appealed a conviction of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and reckless driving paid his fines of $125 and costs and dismissed the appeal.

A jury found Franklin Glotfelty, of Accident, not guilty of two charges, which upheld the decision of Magistrate Maroney. Glotfelty had entered pleas of not guilty on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving. Magistrate Maroney returned verdicts of not guilty but State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer had filed the appeals. Dwight Stover represented Mr. Glotfelty.

Joseph Niner and Francis Niner who had appealed decisions of Magistrate Maroney as being guilty of larceny, were found guilty by Judge Hamill, upholding the magistrate's decision. They had been sentenced to one year in the House of Correction. Judge Hamill increased the sentence to 18 months and suggested they be sent to Patuxent for psychiatric examination.

Another appeal concerned Benj. Harrison Evans, Lonaconing, who was fined $22 and costs for improper passing by Magistrate Maroney. Evans pleaded his own case and pointed out that similar offences by others had resulted in fines of only $5 and costs. Judge Hamill reduced the fine to $5.

Two appeal cases concerning Jack Edward Hinebaugh of Deer Park are marked for trial in January. Hinebaugh had appealed convictions by Mr. Maroney of driving under the influence of liquor and reckless driving.

Robert S. Spiker, Kingwood, who had filed an appeal from a decision of Mr. Maroney on failure to properly signal his intentions. He was fined $10 in magistrate's court. His appeal was heard before Judge Hamill who found him not guil

James Harry White, Fairmont, had appealed on an overload case in which Mr. Maroney had found him guilty of having 13,400 pounds overload and for which he was fined $604. Judge Hamill reduced the fine to one half or $302.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
Searcy, Arkansas

Too few of our citizens are devoted to the idea of performing public service in a non-government way, so as to help others. Too many of us are attached to the notion that whatever is wrong with the country can be put in a high state of perfection only if we pass some bill through Congress. The current push behind the Anti-Poverty legislation suggests that many of our leaders, undoubtedly motivated by high and sincere purpose, would have the government do certain things that we as individuals ought to be doing.

That is why it is so refreshing to hear of occasional examples of local action that are initiated without benefit of the U. S. Congress, the White House, or any Washington bureau. Youth unemployment, one of the aggravating factors in today's economic picture, is a problem in Milwaukee as it is in other communities. Some 14,000 young people between 16 and 21 were needing jobs this summer. With the federal government wanting to spend $38 million to find or make jobs for the nation's youth, should Milwaukee turn the task over to Washington?

Not at all. Someone had an idea, and as a result the young people of the city are finding work for themselves through a private, non-profit clearing house called Youthpower, Inc. In its first six weeks of operation about 750 young persons from 16 to 21 years of age were placed in jobs. Most were placed in temporary jobs except about 40 in permanent jobs.

Youthpower itself is staffed by 20 young volunteers who interview the young applicants and take calls from businessmen and householders wanting help. Also, the staff conducts surveys by phone and advertising by mail to determine whether work is available. Its emphasis is not on taking jobs from others but on creating new ones. Many calls, of course, are for lower paying jobs such as yardwork and household help. But a number of youth were placed quickly as gas station attendants, truck drivers, shipping clerks, etc. Some school dropouts were found jobs.

The idea for Youthpower came from Elmer L. Winter, according to an article in the Wall Street Journal which tells the whole story. Mr. Winter is a professional employment consultant and specialist who heads Manpower, Inc., a company supplying temporary business and industrial help. Mr. Winter's firm gave office space in an adjoining building and donated desks and office supplies as well as advice and counsel on procedures. "I decided it shouldn't be left completely up to the government to solve the problem," Mr. Winter is quoted as saying.

This is commendable public service: an awareness of need and a determination to help people by doing something about it. Actually, these experiences are repeated over and over throughout the land. There are never too many public heroes, of course, but their names are legion. The point is that when private action is not pre-empted by government, the way is often found. When government takes over, where is the initiative and who is the hero? In the area of youth unemployment, in which local interests can act and state agencies have already tackled the problem, the federal government nevertheless has announced that it plans centers in 105 cities to help youths find jobs.

is the fact that it has lost its gloss, what with his false prosperity plank, the Berlin Wall, the lack on an African policy, the annexation of Cuba by the USSR, loss of the UN by the Free World, his coddling of Sukarno, the fiasco in Laos, the impending one in South Vietnam, and the revelation that the president already had given other people authority to use atomic weapons in emergencies, proving Barry was correct in the first place and that he wasn't "trigger happy" at all.

Furthermore, we still believe there are enough straight-thinking Americans, more concerned with their own affairs than what the neighbors think, to elect Barry Goldwater—in spite of Brahma, Vishnu, Siva, Allah and Yale! Khrushchev also would love to see LBJ elected—and no wonder! — — Our thanks to the U. S. Press Association, Inc., for some of the foregoing facts.

Henrietta Murdock Civic Club Speaker

Miss Henrietta Murdock, who for twenty years was Interior Decoration Editor for The Ladies Home Journal, was the guest speaker for the luncheon and meeting of the Oakland Civic Club on Tuesday, September 29th, in the Hinebaugh dining room.

Mrs. Robert Wooters, President of the Club, presented Miss Murdock, whose home is in Kingwood, West Virginia, to Club members and guests. Out of town guests included Mrs. William A. Dougias of Cumberland, past President of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Mary Murdock, a former Professor from Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, and a sister of the speaker.

Miss Henrietta Murdock has been awarded the distinguished National Award, for the greatest contribution to the improvement of the American Home. Her talents are varied and cover many facets, such as furniture design; photographing; and writing for numerous fashion magazines. She has travelled over 50,000 miles in one year throughout this country, giving lectures on the Art of Decorating. Miss Murdock related interesting stories of the homes she has decorated in different sections of the United States. While she was Editor of the Ladies Home Journal Decorating Department, it was of interest to her and her staff to ascertain "How America Lives", and through the research department of the magazine, selected homes for this project.

She told of making 32 trips to California to decorate the homes for movie stars and producers of movies. She related varied and fascinating experiences each assignment being filled with the 'human interest' element that was uppermost in her mind.

She spoke of decorating homes in a fishing village of Maine; a mink rancher's home in Kentucky; a Bible Belt Minister's home in South Carolina; the home of a Duo-Piano team in Kentucky and many others.

Mrs. Meade Foster, Chairman of the Home Life Department in the Club, introduced Miss Murdock, and the luncheon arrangements were made by Mrs. Oswald Vannucci, Mrs. Ralph Pritts and Mrs. Richard Bailey.

YOUR Pharmacist Message

By Robt. E. "Bob" Proudfoot, R.ph.

Water is great to swim in, fish in, and the perfect thing for washing the family car, but let's consider for a moment how important water is to your survival.

You can struggle along without food for weeks, but a few days without water and you have had it. None of the body's work can do without it. In fact, unless the air sacs in our lungs are moist, we cannot even take necessary oxygen from the air. It is water which helps the kidneys to take waste from the blood and the intestines to eliminate food wastes.

Few people actually drink the prescribed amount of water daily...but we get it in various ways, and most of us are safe.

For everything that goes with water to keep up the health level, come to PROUDFOOT'S OAKLAND PHARMACY, 106 South Second street, phone 334-3913, where you will receive fast, courteous service at all times.

Public Hearing Set For State House

A public hearing to discuss a number of proposed regulations submitted for consideration by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission, has been set for Saturday, October 17, at 10 a. m., in the assembly room of the state office building in Annapolis.

One proposed regulation concerns adding the Youghiogheny river watershed to the trout stream area, deleting, however, portions of the Little and Big Youghiogheny rivers.

Also up for discussion are open seasons, size, creel limits and methods of taking fresh water fish in non-tidal waters, a proposed antlerless deer season, and making it mandatory that every person killing a deer must check it at a lawfully designated checking station in the county where killed.

Home Fire Drills Urged For Oct. 7

Fire prevention agencies in Maryland are urging all families to hold home fire drills on October 7 at 7 p. m. These agencies feel that many of the over 100 people who die in fires in the State each year would have survived if they had planned a means of escape before fire occurred.

Delaware, the District of Columbia and Northern Virginia are also planning fire drills at the same time as Maryland. These same areas participated in a similar program during last year Fire Prevention Week.

Families are urged to prepare plans for use in the event their regular means of exit are blocked by fire or smoke. This should include the location of windows which might serve as emergency exits.

Procedures should include the closing of bedroom doors to retard the entry of smoke and immediate departure by the most direct safe means. An outside meeting place for the family should be determined in the plan to enable the fire department to determine if everyone is outside upon their arrival on the scene. The fire department should be called as soon as possible.

Among the organizations sponsoring the drill in Maryland are the Maryland State Firemen's Association, the Baltimore Safety Council, local and county fire departments and fire marshal's offices and the State Fire Marshal's Office.

Monument To Sgt. Wooten Is Dedicated

Over 200 persons were present Sunday at West Salisbury, Pa., for the dedication of a monument to an Air Force gunner none of them had ever seen alive. Tech. Sgt. Melvin F. Wooten died within a hundred yards of help last January after a B-52 bomber broke up in the air and he and other crewmen were forced to bail out. He was one of three who lost their lives in the mishap.

The community, led by a scoutmaster and the Salisbury volunteer firemen, had erected the monument.

At the dedication was Capt. Parker C. Peedin, co-pilot of the bomber, accompanied by his wife and small son Charles.

Salisbury's firemen had been among those who had searched the wooded hillsides for five days after the crash last January during an intense snowstorm.

Roy Blocher, fire company president, said the firemen resolved that the monument should stand as a tribute to Sgt. Wooten and to all members of the armed services and their families. "We hope it will serve as a reminder to the living that we are at all times, of necessity, our brother's keeper, and that we dare not and shall not pass by on the other side of the road."

Said Capt. Peedin: "I wish each of you had had the privilege of knowing Sgt. Wooten as I knew him and worked with him for about three years. The highest tribute I can pay to him is to say that he was an average American who loved his country and served it willingly and well. No task ever was too great for him, nor any task too small."

The Rev. Robert J. McCoy, national VFW chaplain delivered the dedicatory prayer and four members of Boy Scout Troop 140 of Salisbury unveiled the red sandstone monument, disclosing a picture of a B-52, a parachute and an inscription to Sgt. Wooten.

The Rev. Fr. McCoy presented a folded flag to Mrs. Peedin, asking her to present it to Mrs. Wooten. The Legion-VFW squad fired the rifle salute, a bugler blew taps and there was a brief benediction concluding the program.

Wooten, injured in his parachute jump, apparently had struggled toward a street light just across the river in Salisbury, instead of toward the dozen or so houses which would have been within his reach had he been able to see them through the snow and darkness. The river, however, blocked his path and he was unable to go farther. No one saw his parachute until warm sunshine five days later had melted away some of the snow.

Dr. Bremen Tells Of College Needs

That Frostburg State college hopes to aid in the development of Western Maryland by furthering the competence of trained personnel and by educating members of its community for newly created opportunities, was told to Oakland Rotarians last Friday evening by Dr. Rudolph S. Bremen, acting president.

Dr. Bremen referred to a program for graduate engineers aspiring to managerial and executive promotion which begin in the second semester of the current academic year.

Plans are also being formulated to initiate graduate study in the physical sciences in order to enhance the knowledge and skill of scientific and technical personnel presently employed by industry in Western Maryland.

The acting president mentioned advances in and experimentation with highly improved instrumental methods. He said the installation of the new educational laboratory installed in the fall of 1963 was the finest of its kind in the country. Here, programmed materials for study are being developed which permit students to progress at a highly accelerated rate.

He pointed out the present expansion program was three-fold: 1—under construction are a library building, an infirmary, and a 91-capacity residence hall; 2—in the planning state are a science building and a 200-capacity residence hall; and 3—in the request stage are a classroom fine arts building, a 200-capacity residence hall, an athletic field and funds for planning a dining hall.

Such expansion and more, he said, was needed for the growing number of applicants. The college enrolled this fall 1,724 students, an increase of 194 students. The enrollment is taxing to the full the facilities and the faculty. As a result 500 applications had to be rejected.

A family breakfast was held at Will O' The Wisp and a family dinner was held at Cornish Manor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wine are the parents of three children, George of Oakland and Kitty and Jerry of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Wine were married in Warrenton, Virginia, on October 6, 1939 by the Reverend John C. Ryan. This date was also the occasion of Mrs. Wine's birthday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GROWING TOGETHER

"God's garden" . . . those were St. Paul's words to describe the early Christian fellowship. From its mighty seed of revealed truth, the Church has grown and flourished . . . spreading into many lands, developing in many ways, but always linked by oneness in Christ.

World-wide Communion Sunday is a day of spiritual renewal for Christians of every creed. It is a time to remember our brothers in all lands, and to pray that our differences may be transcended by the power of the Holy Spirit working among us. It is a call to greater effort, greater personal participation, so that by our example all men may be led to know Jesus as their Saviour.

The Church needs the support of every Christian on this meaningful occasion. Decide now that you and your family will be present at the Lord's Table.

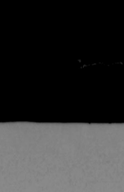
Letters Into Books

Lesson for October 4, 1964

Background Scripture: I Timothy 1:1-11; II Timothy 1:1-2; Titus 1:1a, 4.
Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:14-24.

"WHAT IN the world were you reading from?" one of the congregation asked the preacher. They had had a service of ordination at which a number of new church officers had been installed, and the preacher had read from the New Testament in a modern (Moffatt's) translation.



Dr. Foreman

"I was reading from First and Second Timothy," the preacher replied to the man's question.

"Never heard anything like it," the questioner went on. "Best thing on church officers I ever heard. I had had no idea what Timothy and Titus were all about."

Who?

The short "Books" we call Timothy, Titus and Philemon, were originally letters. Who wrote them? This may not be the most important question but it is one of the most interesting. We run head-on into long arguments when we ask flatly: who wrote these letters? (There's no problem about Philemon; we shall come to that in time. But Timothy I and II, and Titus, present a problem.) The early Christians who adopted these books into the then still growing New Testament (so new it did not have a name) thought that Paul wrote them. Careful study given by many scholars over many years has shown, however, that in large sections of these books the ideas and the way they are expressed, and—what is most remarkable—the very words used, are distinctly different from the known letters of Paul. We can sum up the evidence by saying that there are parts of these letters which read (in Greek, the language in which they of course were written) exactly like Paul and are almost certainly from his pen and mind. There are other sections which do not read like Paul. A conclusion reached by many is that either some one else wrote the letters, quoting extensively from Paul; or that Paul wrote the original letters, and either he or some editor added material from some one else.

What?

The what is more important than the Who? What are these letters-into-books concerned with? What problems do they bring out? What answers do they give? What good are these very ancient letters to the living church today? Such questions will be with us for the next three months. We can give a sort of short statement here at the beginning as to what these small books are all about. They deal with leadership in the church.

Why?

But why this interest in leaders, all of a sudden? The reason is simple. The earliest Christians had no formal organization. They could not have conceived that they would need one. For Jesus was coming soon, they all thought. Today in the church you may hear the expressions like "our children's children" or "future generations" or the "future of man." The earliest Christians would have thought such expressions nonsense. But as time went on and the church's first leaders grew to be old men, it was clear that there would have to be some thinking done about the future years. Some one had to pass on the Gospel. Some one had to be sure nothing of the good in the early years of enthusiasm should be lost. Some one had to be in charge. Some had to preserve the tradition. Some one had to make certain the teachings of Christ and his apostles were not forgotten nor distorted. Time was passing—had indeed passed—when they could say, "We'll dash off a note to Paul or Peter or some one who knew Jesus and they'll tell us." A new generation was growing up. It was felt then, and it is true today, that Christianity could go to nothing, in one generation, unless wise plans were made. So the usefulness of these "Pastorals" is as new as the continuing need for Christian leaders for every generation.

Some people are getting ordinary tires when they ask for tiger paws.

Nobody says you have to buy tiger paws. You can buy something else.

But if you want tiger paws, you ought to get tiger paws. Not something else.

Tiger paws are sold only at U. S. Royal tiger paw stores. No place else.

We're that kind of store.

So if you buy a tire at another kind of store, you'll be buying an ordinary tire. Not tiger paws.

Here's how different tiger paws are from ordinary tires (besides having a red circle):

They were tested at 120 miles an hour for a hundred miles without a stop. Without a failure.

They went 19,000 miles at a sustained speed of 90 miles an hour for 16 hours a day. Without a failure. (And at that speed tread wears out more than twice as fast as it does at fifty.)

Sure-footed tiger paws handle beautifully at high speeds. And corner as nimbly as tigers.

Now, do you want tiger paws? Head our way.

We're an official U. S. Royal tiger paw store.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Rev. James F. Remley
Sponsored By
Mt. Top Ministerial Association

One day I heard my wife say "I feel like giving up sometimes, I no more than get the house straightened up and the children mess things up again." However, I notice that she did not give up, and that day after day she toils endlessly to keep her house in order. This is something that is necessary if our house is to receive community approval.

I knew one woman who heard of a neighbor passing away and the women of the community gossiped about how messy she left her attic, so the woman I knew employed help, of which I was one, and cleaned her attic from top to bottom so this would not happen to her when she passed away. This lady is now deceased and I wonder if she now could come back and do things over she would not take this time in cleaning up her soul rather than her attic.

Our life is a lot like our house, it needs some cleaning every day if it is to be clean.

I think that those people who live in dirt are either persons who never knew any better, or, are persons who gave up the struggle that is necessary to keep clean. In our world it is not easy to stay clean. Even if we do nothing the dust settles on us and we are dirty and need to wash.

Our society looks down on anyone who is dirty and filthy and does not clean themselves very often, and, at the same time approves a person who is clean outwardly and has a filthy mind, or is morally dirty.

The 24th Psalm asks the question, "Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord and who shall stand in his holy place?" Then answers by saying, "He that hath clean hands and a pure heart." Matthew 5 says, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Jesus was critical of those who were outwardly clean, but morally and mentally corrupt.

Some men came to the home of a neighbor to deliver a piece of furniture. The woman of the house was careful about her house and when the men showed up with muddy shoes she asked them to remove their shoes before entering her house.

God asks the same of us. Remove the dirt from your life or you will not enter God's house, because God, too, is careful about his house and no sin shall enter there. A person is clean before God when he in sincerity and humility asks for God's forgiveness. He is then forgiven, washed in the blood of the Lamb, made whiter than snow, and is thus prepared to commune with God and find life which is eternal. As one lives this life in cleanliness of heart and mind he is weaned away from the mudholes of sin and is able to stay cleaner.

However, this does not mean that he does not collect any dirt. Just as our bodies need cleansing day after day, or our houses need cleaning day after day, so our moral and spiritual life needs cleansing daily. We find the cleansing power we need in private and public worship, prayer and meditation, waiting on the power of God and walking with him.

Just as outward cleanliness contributes to physical health and well being so inward cleanliness contributes to good health mentally, physically, emotionally. To feel dirty is depressing and degrading if our condition continues. To feel morally dirty affects us the same way and makes us undesirable to be around. We even find that we do not like ourselves or our condition. For instance consider one who has lied. He feels dirty, knows himself to be a coward and is ashamed to face himself or others; while one who has told the truth feels clean, free and even though he has to face the consequences he knows himself to be a man, and feels good about it.

A clean life is a good life. He who walks with God so as to be clean inwardly will know a life of real joy, and will most likely be clean outwardly also. This kind of life is a blessing to man and a joy to God our Father, and everyone who will call upon the name of the Lord can find this good life.

"Peace Pilgrim" In Oakland Last Week

A silver-haired woman, the "Peace Pilgrim," stopped in Oakland last Thursday evening, on her way to Washington to wind up her 25,000 mile trek for world peace in that city on October 28.

The formal part of her pilgrimage began in 1953 and she has said it would end when she talks with the president or one of his assistants, proposing the establishment of a Peace Department in the President's cabinet.

She was dressed in navy blue slacks and shirt and a short tunic with pockets all round the bottom in which she carried her only worldly possessions. It says "Peace Pilgrim," in white letters on the front of the tunic and "Walking 25,000 miles for world peace" on the back.

Her vow is: "I shall remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the way of peace, walking until I am given shelter and fasting until I am given food". Last Thursday night she was allowed to spend the night in the automobile of a night worker in the Ray Teets garage, inside the garage. She visited at The Republican office before heading for Keyser Ridge and then to Cumberland. She went through Cumberland Monday, and was pictured as she passed through the Narrows.

This was her third tour, which began in Los Angeles. She walks until she is given shelter and fasts until she is given food. The formula apparently works.

She declines to divulge her name, age or place of birth, terming such details meaningless. "After you have found inner peace you forget age", she said. Her face showed it.

She said people were friendly, willing to stop and talk. About her treatment on the road she said, "The world is like a mirror. If you smile it smiles at you."

She said there was a magic formula for resolving conflicts. "Have as your objective the resolving of the conflict—not the gaining of advantage. There is also a magic formula for avoiding conflicts. Be concerned that you do not offend—not that you are not offended".

Scholarship Exam Scheduled Nov. 21

The Multiple state scholarship examination will be given at Northern and Southern High schools on Saturday, November 21, at 9 o'clock a. m., it was announced this week by Albert R. Rinzer, director of instruction for Garrett County schools.

The examination determines whether students are eligible for Senatorial scholarships, general state tuition scholarships, scholarships in teacher education, or all three, he pointed out. The purpose of the scholarships is to assist qualified high school graduates to obtain the benefits of higher education, he said.

The General State Tuition Scholarship is available to all qualified high school seniors who expect to graduate in 1965 and high school graduates of prior years who have not previously attended a school of college or junior college rank. Each scholarship has a potential value of $2,000 for four years of undergraduate work, with a maximum allotment of $500 per year for tuition only, renewable annually for three years, subject to recommendation of the college.

Scholarships in Teacher Education are available to qualified high school seniors who expect to graduate in 1965 and high school graduates of previous years, including those already in college. Each scholarship has a potential value of $2,000.00 for four years of undergraduate work with the same stipulations as the General State Tuition Scholarship. The scholarship is not available to State-supported teacher education colleges.

The State Senatorial Scholarships are available to Maryland high school seniors and graduates who qualify on the Multiple State Scholarship Examination and are appointed by the State Senator from the county he represents. In most instances these scholarships include complete financial coverage of a college education.

For additional information about these scholarships, interested students should contact the guidance counselors of their respective schools.

Applicants who desire to take the Multiple-State Scholarship Examination must register at their local high school or any one of the participating colleges by October 23, he concludes.

Parks Head Opposes Bloomington Dam

The president of the National Parks association has voiced personal opposition to the proposed Bloomington dam of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The comment was made by Anthony Wayne Smith during a question and answer session of a meeting in Rockville.

Principal speaker was Col. Roy S. Kelley, Baltimore district engineer for the Corps of Engineers. His comments were directed at the Corps' proposal for development of the Potomac River basin.

Mr. Smith presented himself as a leading opponent of the program for the long range development, but said he spoke only for himself and not for the association. Kelley said development of the Potomac was absolutely necessary and vital to meet all the types of critical water needs over the entire basin.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Appropriation Approved For Indemnity To Dairy Farmers

During the past week there has been a great deal of activity in the Congress in tying up some of the loose ends that still remain from the major part of our second session of the 88th Congress.

One of the things that has been accomplished was to complete action on the indemnity provision for Maryland's Dairy Farmers who have suffered loss as the result of the use of the chemical heptachlor.

The House of Representatives approved an appropriation of $8,800,000 for the payment of indemnity claims which result when farmers are cut off from markets after they have followed the advice of the Department of Agriculture to use Heptachlor as an agricultural chemical.

Judiciary Committee To Investigate Department Of Justice

In the Judiciary Committee of which I am a member, there has also been final action on a matter pending for many, many months. This was the question of an investigation of practices and procedures in the Justice Department. I have been extremely interested in the operation of the Justice Department and in the possibility that some practices there may impinge upon or threaten civil liberties. As long ago as 1962 I was expressing this concern at the time of the "knock on the door at 4 o'clock in the morning" which was also of concern to the whole nation during the steel-rise crisis of that year.

There have been other instances in which some Justice Department activities seemed to threaten the infringement of civil liberties. For this reason, I think there is a continuing responsibility on the part of the Judiciary Committee particularly and, indeed, on the part of the entire Congress to keep an eye on the way in which the criminal prosecution of offenders is conducted so that the individual rights of each alleged offender against our laws are fully protected.

Now, this is no new role which the Congress plays. The Judiciary Committee has periodically held investigations of the Justice Department. These investigations have generally proved to be fruitful and constructive. There is no need that such an investigation should be considered a political harassment or that it should be critical of the activities of the responsible officials of the Justice Department.

The problem this year which made it a little different from previous years was the fact that three particular defendants - Roy Cohn, General Edwin Walker, and James Hoffa - have all pressed for some action against the Justice Department . . . either themselves or by others speaking in their behalf.

There is nothing wrong with this. Certainly one of the basic liberties of America is that every American has the right to petition Congress for a redress of grievances. The only questionable part is that the Congress should interfere with a legal case while it is in the process of being tried and before the judicial machinery has worked out the final decision in any particular situation or on any particular case. I don't believe that the Congress should meddle with the courts. As a member of the Judiciary Committee I offered an amendment to the Resolution calling for an Investigation to make it clear that we would not investigate pending legal cases. Although my amendment failed by one vote, I think it was the clear sense of the Judiciary Committee that the Chairman would not permit this kind of judicial meddling by the Congress.

I hope that the investigation of the Justice Department will be conducted on a high level without political motivation and with the object of passing such needed legislation as will protect the civil liberties of all Americans in the generations to come.

G.O.P.; Democratic Records Compared

A letter to the editor of the Pittsburgh Press, had the following comment:

Now is the season, during a presidential election year, when the personalities of the candidates take the center of the stage and engulf voters in an emotional state of mind.

Clear thinking about our country's well being, and even what is best for each of us, needs to be encouraged. This has been given us by that truly patriotic, clear-thinking, record-searching senator from Delaware, John J. Williams, as follows:

Record of administrations between 1900 and 1964:

	Repub.	Dem.
Bal. Budgets	22	3
Unbal. Budgets	12	27
Cum. Deficits	13.4 billion	29.3
Avg. Unempl.	5.6 %	8.5
Tax Reductions	8	2
Tax Increases	2	13
Wars	None	3

Tests Scheduled At Northern Hi School

More than 26 ninth- and tenth-grade Northern High school students will take the three-hour National Educational Development Tests (NEDT) Friday, November 6, according to Ruthvan Morrow, Jr., Guidance Counselor.

"The NEDT battery", he said, "is a series of tests in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences, and word usage, which have been designed to measure each student's ability to apply basic learning skills rather than his ability to memorize particular facts or specific subject matter.

"They have been used in Northern since 1963 as a help to students, parents, and teachers in identifying strengths and weaknesses in each student's educational development and in making a realistic appraisal of his educational and vocational objectives," Mr. Morrow said.

Students who do exceptionally well on the test battery are singled out for formal recognition. Each student who scores in the top 10 percent nationally is awarded a special certificate of merit signifying his high achievement.

Five Persons Killed On State Highways

Five persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Two of those killed were drivers; one was a passenger; and two were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths; speed in three; and "driver error" was present in four of the fatalities.

In commenting on last week's highway fatalities, Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, said: "Too frequently the motor vehicle operator fails to recognize that his driving attitude and driving skill go hand in hand. And one of the most outstanding deficiencies in driving attitude is impatience. . . .certainly not a characteristic of the good motor vehicle operator."

Church Women Meet

Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty was hostess to the LCW of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, on September 13. There were nine members in attendance.

The program was designed to stimulate women to think about the evolving role of women, give them an up-to-date and factual image of woman, help them form a clearer image of themselves as persons, and to urge them to exercise their unique Christian resources in establishing woman's place in society.

Mrs. Herman C. Myers presided at the business meeting. A shower gift had been presented by the group to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogelsong, summer student pastor and flowers had been sent to Mrs. Gladys Meyers while she was hospitalized in August.

The October meeting will be held in the church on October 11 when Mrs. Donald Hetrick will lead the topic "Radio Voice of the Gospel".

Labor Board Finds For 3 Union Men

The National Labor Relations Board has issued a ruling in favor of three brothers, and against the Alpine Coal company, Bayard, W. Va., in a case involving the refusal to rehire the three miners, being termed "engaging in unfair labor practices."

The case was heard at Oakland May 12 and 13.

The company was charged with interrogating and threatening its employes because of their membership in the United Mine Workers of America, and because of union activity.

The Labor Relations board subsequently, in an opinion handed down last week, ordered the coal company, headed by Robert Wooters, president, to rehire Clyde Scott, Howard Scott and Warren Scott, pay back wages with interest and to desist from discriminating against employees because of their concerted activity and from violations of employee rights under the Labor Relations act.

The ruling of the board was made by George L. Powell, trial examiner.

The celebrated sculpture of Queen Nefertiti (c. 1360 B.C.) was discovered in 1912 during excavations at Tell el-Amarna, Egypt. It is now in Dahlem Gallery, Berlin, Germany.

What is a fair price for the head of Nefertiti?

The sculptured head of Egyptian Queen Nefertiti is one of the world's most famous art objects. It is not for sale. But if it were, the price undoubtedly would be millions of dollars.

The monetary value of an art object such as Queen Nefertiti's head is determined simply by the desire of someone to own it. The price has no relationship to what it cost to make. What is a fair price for the head of Nefertiti? That's anybody's guess.

On the other hand, the price you pay for natural gas service is determined by known factors. It includes the actual cost of the gas and the cost of the equipment and labor necessary to bring the gas into your home.

These costs are evaluated by the Public Service Commission. The Commission determines their fairness and permits your gas company a limited, but not guaranteed, profit. Your gas company must achieve its profit by careful management.

The price you pay for gas, unlike the price of an art object, is not a matter of speculation or what the market will bear. Gas rates are based on facts—precisely reviewed and analyzed.

This assures you that the price you pay for gas service is a fair price.

No. 5323 Equity In The Circuit Court For Garrett County, Maryland

Order of Publication

The object of this suit is to procure the passage of a decree for the sale of the real estate of Hylie Winebrinner Eisler, deceased, situate in Election District No. 9, Garrett County, Maryland, and for the distribution of the proceeds therefrom.

The bill states:

That Hylie Winebrinner Eisler in her lifetime was seized and possessed of a life interest in certain valuable real estate situate, lying and being in Election District No. 9, Garrett County, Maryland, containing 50 acres, more or less, being the same as was conveyed to John Adam Eisler from John Wambach, et ux., by deed dated May 10th, 1897, and recorded in Liber W.H.T. No. 8, folio 322, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and this said deed is herewith marked "Plaintiff's Exhibit No. 1"; that the said Hylie Winebrinner Eisler, while seized and possessed of a life interest in this real estate, pursuant to a Will made by the said John Adam Eisler, husband of Hylie Winebrinner Eisler, who predeceased her, departed this life, intestate, on the 30th day of December, 1962, leaving surviving her the following children and descendants, to whom, as her heirs at law, the said land has descended, viz: Nellie Eisler Caton, a daughter, who intermarried with Clifford Caton, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Samuel H. Eisler, a son, who intermarried with Pearl Eisler, both of full age who reside in Garrett County Maryland; Anna Eisler Crowe, a daughter, divorced, of full age, who resides in Baltimore City, Maryland; Elsie Eisler Lotz, a daughter, who intermarried with John Lotz, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Earl A. Eisler, a son, divorced, of full age, who resides in Garrett County, Maryland; Ethel Eisler Livingston, a daughter, who intermarried with Chalmer Livingston, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Bernadetta Clark Klink, a daughter, single, of full age, who resides in Allegany County, Maryland; Anna Pearl Clark, widow, of full age, who resides in Garrett County, Maryland; Florence Klink, widow, of full age who resides in Allegany County, Maryland, Ida Clark, widow, of full age whose address is Box 626, Ravenna, Ohio; Frank Harworth, widower, whose address is Jenners, Pennsylvania; John Clark, who departed this life, leaving the following heirs at law: Leona Twigg and husband, William, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Carl Clark and wife, Agnes, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Ralph Clark and wife, Norma Jean, both of full age who reside in Allegany County, Maryland; Sylvia Maloy and husband (latter deceased), of full age who resides in Allegany County, Maryland; Lawrence Clark and Pauline, his wife, both of full age who reside at 742 S. East Brandywine St., Washington, D. C.; that the said real estate is not susceptible to partition in kind among those entitled to interests therein without material loss and injury, that it would be for the best interests of all the parties hereto that the said real estate be sold and the proceeds divided among them according to their several interests.

The bill then prays for a decree for the sale of said real estate and for distribution of the proceeds derived therefrom and for general relief. It is thereupon, this 22nd day of September, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the orators by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 16th day of October, 1964, give notice to the said nonresident respondents, Ida Clark, Frank Harworth, Lawrence Clark and Pauline Clark, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 16th day of November, 1964, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Harry Hummel, Grantsville dairy farmer, is proud of the 44 foot extension he built to his barn last year. He is shown here explaining the advantages of the new set-up to Miss Ethel Grove, Garrett County home demonstration agent and to L. Bush Swisher, Farming for Better Living project director. The Hummels were the 1953 Garrett County Farming for Better Living winners and have been continuously enrolled in the contest since 1949. Two of Mr. and Mrs. Hummel's five children remain at home, and the three older ones are married. Mr. Hummel is chairman of the Garrett County Soil Conservation District's board of supervisors. He has a good soil, timber and water conservation program in operation on his 243 acre farm on which he has lived all his life.

LOT OF "COKE" — William E. Hesen, manager of the Oakland Coca Cola Bottling Works, Inc., was one of 23 bottlers in this region who received awards at a marketing conference at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York September 18.

The bronze award for bottling 50 Coca-Colas per capita in the territories went to five area bottlers. The area includes Preston county, part of Tucker county in West Virginia, and all of Garrett county except the Grantsville section. The area has 56,000 people, which means that many people consumed the contents of 2,800,000 bottles. Hesen said this did not include the sale of Tab or soda water.

The plant formerly was located in Terra Alta but moved to Oakland in 1937, the geographic center of the territory. Hesen became manager in 1953. Nelson Langan, manager here from 1947 to 1952, now in Hagerstown, was given an award for selling 100,000 gallons of syrup in three years time.

Information Booth Figures Show Big Increase In Service

The increase in activities at the Promotion Council booth at Deep Creek Lake is clearly shown in figures released this week by Mrs. Pat Kittle, executive secretary of the council.

Inquiries at the booth through the months of May through September 7 have jumped from 11,102 in 1961 to 20,151 in 1964. Biggest month this year was August with 7,742 inquiries. The seasonal daily average has increased from 112 to 179.

The inquiry breakdown showed the following figures for this year: accommodations, 2,381; literature, 5,437; state parks, 846; maps 2,207; camping sites, 678; long distance calls, 354; directions, 3,132. Cars were noted from thirty-three states during the summer.

Figures also were available from the activity at the county airport near McHenry. There was traffic from twelve states with 254 private planes using the service. There were 106 private planes in 1963.

It was pointed out that runway lights for night landing would be an added service. It was explained that week-enders leaving their offices at 5 p. m., would not be able to land there before dark during off-season.

APPENDICITIS IS STILL A KILLER

Despite all our wonder drugs, a neglected acute appendicitis is as deadly as it was fifty years ago. The average hospital admits 19 appendicitis cases a month.

They are difficult for even a physician to diagnose. Symptoms are similar to acute indigestion. Vomiting and diarrhea may occur. Pain may become unbearable. If you ever have such symptoms which do not soon go away, never take a laxative which can cause the appendix to burst, throwing its poison into the system. Instead, call your physician. We will rush any needed medicine.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 88. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., OCTOBER 8, 1964 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 32.

Fright Misplaced . . . .

President Johnson called Sen. Barry Goldwater the other day "the new and frightening voice of the Republican party." That word "fright" is certainly misplaced. One has only to look once again to the speech LBJ made January 15 in the White House in which he said: "We are going to try to take all the money that we think is unnecessarily being spent and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have nots' that need it so much," to prove to us that it's President Johnson we need to be afraid of.

Who is to say who are the 'have nots'? The tenant farmers on his wife's plantation? The Yugoslavs? The registered Democratic voters in New York's Harlem? The starving Cubans? And who decides what is unnecessary spending? Bureaucrats or taxpayers? Internal Revenue officials? A $25,000 a year federal judge? A jury? And just who are the 'haves'? We have to admit the man is talking about us, our bank savings and our pocketbook—and YOURS.

The campaign tactics of the Democrats seem to indicate a deep-seated contempt for Mr. Goldwater and an attempt to get support through fear. What we are really witnessing is an or-

Plaintiffs Awarded $10,440.25 in Suit

In an automobile accident case heard Tuesday by a jury in the circuit court, the three plaintiffs were awarded damages of $10,440.25. They were Raymond W. Kahl, Nellie M. Kahl and Hazel Marie Kahl, all of Accident. Defendant in the action was Bruce T. Browning, Oakland.

The case resulted from an automobile accident at Sand Flat the night of August 6, 1962.

The plaintiffs had sued for $21,000, with Raymond asking for $5,000. Nellie for $10,000, Hazel Marie for $5,000, and Raymond again for $1,000.

The defendants had admitted liability, the question centering about the amount. The court also had directed a verdict as to liability.

The jury awarded Hazel Marie Kahl $1,622.10; Raymond Kahl $2,779; and Mrs. Nellie Kahl $6,039.15, for a total of $10,440.25. Mrs. B. O. Aiken was foreman of the jury which deliberated the case

Southern Hi Student Commended For Test Performance

Robert McIntire, senior at Southern High School, Oakland, has been commended for his high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school received a formal Letter Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

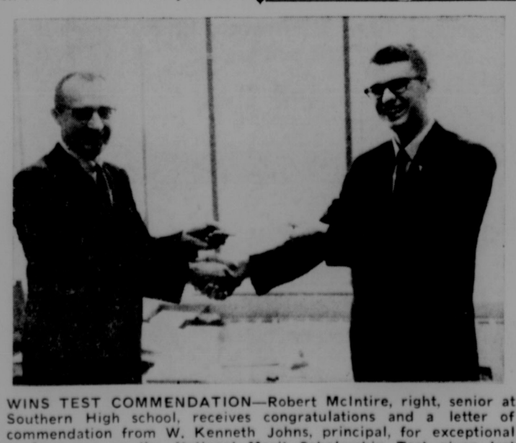
John M. Stalnaker, president of the NMSC, said: "Letters of Commendation are being awarded to 38,000 students throughout the country in recognition of their outstanding performance on the qualifying test. We wish to call attention in this way to their high academic achievement.

"Although they did not reach the status of Semifinalists in the current Merit Program, they are very capable students. The Semifinalists and Commended students together constitute about 2 percent of all high school seniors. This certainly signifies noteworthy accomplishment by all these bright young people.

"We urge the Commended students to make every effort to attend college, and to develop the fullest their promise of future achievement. By doing so they will benefit both themselves and the nation."

The Commended students were among the high school juniors in approximately 17,000 schools who took the NMSQT last March. The test is a three-hour examination that covers five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the tenth annual Merit Program.

Robert is the son of Mrs. Vonda McIntire of Crellin. Upon graduation, Robert plans to enter the University of Maryland. His ambition is to enter the law profession.



WINS TEST COMMENDATION—Robert McIntire, right, senior at Southern High school, receives congratulations and a letter of commendation from W. Kenneth Johns, principal, for exceptional performance on the National Merit Scholarship Test given last spring. (See accompanying story.)

Two Court Cases Are Heard Last Thursday

Two cases were heard in the Circuit court last Thursday, one involving forgery and one involving larceny of a quantity of brass from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Earl Henry Moats was indicted by the September term grand jury on a charge of forgery. He entered a plea of not guilty to the first count of the indictment, that of forgery, but entered a plea of guilty to the second count of the indictment, that of false pretense. As a result the state's attorney ordered the first count dismissed.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill sentenced the man to four years in the House of Correction but suspended the sentence upon condition that full restitution be made to the Garrett National bank, to its full satisfaction, that he remain of good behavior and abide by the law. He was represented by Jack R. Turney.

John Franklin McDaniel and Lloyd Otis Shears, of Keyser, W. Va., waived their right to indictment and requested immediate trial following their arrest on charges of theft and receiving stolen goods, filed by B. and O. police. McDaniel entered a plea of guilty to the first count and was sentenced to serve 18 months in the House of Correction. Sentence was suspended upon condition he make restitution of $20 and be of good behavior. He was placed under supervision of the state department of parole and probation for a period of two years.

Lloyd Otis Shears entered pleas of guilty to the first and second counts of the charge, not guilty to the third and fourth counts. He was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction and ordered to make restitution of $333.94 to the railroad within six months. Sentence was suspended and he was placed under the supervision of the parole officer for three years.

Both had admitted stealing brass journal bearings from a number of coal hoppers on the siding at Mt. Lake Park.

Scheduled for trial on Wednesday, October 14, is the case against Paul W. Dixon, of Keyser, who was charged with resisting arrest and also assault and battery upon a police officer, following an alleged fight September 5 on Oak street in Oakland. The police officer was Hobart Shillingburg.

Uniform Assessment Aim of Tax Group

The State Department of Assessments and Taxation is taking steps to make assessments as uniform as possible throughout the state. This would require Baltimore city to lower its over-all assessment level and 11 counties to raise theirs.

Albert W. Ward, department director, said progress already had been made in attaining state-wide uniformity.

For the first time since the department started making these statewide reports in 1959, every subdivision is assessing real estate at 50 percent or more of market prices. The last survey showed the range from 50.5 to 60.2. The average state-wide was 55.2.

Uniformity of assessments is of significance because a major part of state aid to subdivisions is pegged to the local assessment levels. Those with lower assessments receive proportionately more state aid.

Mr. Ward told chief assessors that steps must be taken immediately to bring the jurisdictions more in line with the state-wide average. William Riley, state's chief supervisor of assessments, said the department aimed at achieving a deviation of no more than 2 percentage points. He said exact uniformity would be unattainable because the market price of a property might change rapidly through repeated sales. The 1964 survey was based on the sale prices or appraised value of 4,802 representative properties in all subdivisions.

The average ratio for Garrett county is 51.4. Allegany county has 53.4.

Jerry Moyer, supervisor of assessments for this county said that every property owner was entitled to know how his property assessment compares with his neighbor's assessment. The law provides that "all persons, firms and corporations shall be assessed alike for like kind of property." Moyer said if any taxpayer believed his property to be over-valued, he had the right of appeal to the supervisor and then to the several higher administrative agencies, and eventually to the law courts if he found it necessary to do so.

Local Grocer Fined On Evasion of Taxes

William E. Naylor, Oakland business man, was fined $5,000 and placed on two years probation last Friday morning for failing to pay $5,000 in federal incomes taxes.

Naylor, 46-year-old grocer and beef cattle raiser, formerly in partnership with the late Earl Shartzer, was sentenced in U. S. District Court in Baltimore by Judge Edward S. Northrop.

He was found guilty of evading taxes on about $25,000 in unreported income over a five-year period ending in 1960.

Northrop in sentencing Naylor, said he was not imposing a prison term because of the number of family members and employes depending on him for their livelihood. Under the terms of the sentence, a violation of the probation would require him to be returned to court for further sentencing. He was given time to pay the fine.

First National Officially Opens Doors Tomorrow

Spacious New Building Provided On Second Street

The First National of Oakland will officially open its new quarter of a million dollar bank building on Second street, opposite the post office, on Friday.

There will be an open house from 7 to 10 p. m., with refreshments, souvenirs and door prizes.

One of three young ladies will be selected to reign as "Miss First National" at the grand opening festivities. They are Miss Carol Jean Campbell, Oakland; Miss Eileen Bernard, Swanton; and Miss Linda Fisher, Friendsville. The winner will receive an all-expense paid trip for two to the World's Fair while each runner up will receive a $100 U. S. Savings bond. Photographs of the three appear in the special supplement.

This issue of The Republican includes a 12-page tabloid special supplement carrying advertisement of contractors and sub-contractors, and gives a word tour description of the new building, both interior and exterior and gives the history of the institution. Photographs of former employes, in addition to the Board of directors, the officers, and the bank's twenty-five other employes at the Oakland bank and its three branches in Friendsville, McHenry and Grantsville appear.

The bank began moving its facilities from its former location on the corner of Second and Alder streets, to the new building last week. As it came time to move the safe deposit boxes and install the vault door from the former bank to the present location there have been guards on duty around the clock.

In five years the resources of the bank more than doubled, growing from $6 million dollars in 1959 to over $14 million today.

Details of the new institution are included in the special supplement.

Favorable Reception Given on Plan For Opening Coal Mine

A proposal to reopen a coal mine on Lostland Run, this county, has received a favorable reception from the Board of Public Works. But the board said the Forests and Parks Commission should act first on granting approval to use state land in the operation.

The mouth of the mine, which has been abandoned since 1962, is on state-owned land in Potomac State forest near Deer Park. The coal would be mined under private property.

The new operators have asked for state permission to use the opening and to set up a cleaning operation on state land near the month of the mine.

Spencer P. Ellis, director of the Department of Forests and Parks, estimated it would take 10 or 15 acres of state land to meet the requests of the operators.

B. F. Allison, mining engineer representing the operators, said the firm has promised to replace the state land with comparable acreage adjacent to the state forest and would attempt to avoid water pollution from acid runoff from the mine. He also promised that any refuse from the mining operation would be used to fill in old scars and would not be allowed to accumulate around the state forest area.

Carl A. Schell, director of the Bureau of Mines, recommended that state permission be granted. "Under the present demand for coal, I think he can have a good mine," he said. He estimated that about 250,000 tons of coal a year could be removed for 20 to 25 years, and that the operation probably would employ more than 100 persons.

Allison will appear before the Forests and Parks commission at its November meeting. The Board of Public Works will act after getting a recommendation from the commission.

Cost of living index for August was 108.2, a shade under July.

Rev. Sherwood

1785 and 1804. He was a regional research editor for the three volumes of annotated "Journal and Letters of Bishop Francis "Asbury" published a few years ago.

The History of Methodism in the West Virginia Conference contained in the recently-published "Methodist Ministers of the West Virginia Conference" was written by him.

The pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church of Oakland is a native of Ronceverte, Greenbrier county. He was valedictorian of his high school class.

Mr. Sherwood received his bachelor of arts degree with magna cum laude honors at Wesleyan in 1947 and three years later received from Garrett Theological Seminary the bachelor of theology degree with highest distinction.

He did further work at Northwestern University in comparative religion and won an archaeological fellowship to study in Palestine and to take part in the excavation of Jericho, but he was unable to participate in this.

Mr. Sherwood served as pastor of the Methodist Church at Petersburg, Grant county, from 1950 to 1956. The next four years were spent as pastor of Trinity Methodist Church at Glenville, where he also served as director of the Wesley Foundation at Glenville State College. He moved to Oakland in 1961.

The Oakland pastor is vice president of the national Association of American Methodist Historical Societies and he is area vice president of the Northeastern Jurisdictional Methodist Historical Society. Mr. Sherwood also is vice president of the Historical Society trustees of the West Virginia Annual Conference.

He has published a number of historical studies in addition to his major works. Of two printed in the West Virginia Quarterly Magazine, one told of John Jeremiah Jacob, an early West Virginia Methodist and the father of one of her governors, and the other was about Bishop Asbury's travels in the state.

An article on Methodist original manuscripts in his possession was published in the journal of the national Methodist Association of Methodist Historical Societies. His writings regarding Old Rehobeth Church was published in the West Virginia State Magazine and was part of the pamphlet of the "Ten Methodist Shrines" distributed at the recent Methodist General Conference.

Mr. Sherwood has been asked to contribute articles for the Dictionary of World Methodist now in preparation.

He has been a member for the conference board on ministerial training and has served as chairman of the section on approved supply pastors.

He married the former Hazel Steiding of Keyser in 1947. They have four children.

publican party. They are Bloomington, Republican by 10. Accident by 9, Deer Park by 14. Others have considerable majorities for Republicans. Sang Run has almost a 4 to 1 majority with 85 to 321, with Elbow and Bittinger over 3 to 1. Two to one areas are Swanton, Grantsville, East Oakland, West Oakland and Mt. Lake Park.

Of the 20 precincts in the county East Oakland has the largest number of voters with 909. West Oakland would have the largest except for the fact it is divided into two precincts with 673 in one and 702 in the other for a total of 1,375. Friendsville has 888, Mt. Lake Park has 868 and Grantsville has 805.

There are 45 persons registered that are neither Democrat or Republican. There are 17 independents, 27 undesignated and one socialist.

The tabulated figures appear in today's issue.

then hit Hinebaugh again with a pass for the conversion point. Roger Miller intercepted a pass and ran five yards for the Huskies' third score. Gary Buckel then dashed 11 yards for the fourth six-pointer. A pass from Edwards to Ohlen was good for the point. Buckel then sprinted 15 yards for the final touchdown. Two of their tries for extra points failed.

Southern's score came in the third period on a 20-yard run by Charlie Davis. The Highlanders had difficulty penetrating the Northern defense for any sustained drive, while in three of the four periods Northern made good consistent ground gains. Both teams had eight penalties with Northern losing 75 yards and Southern 80 yards in this category. Northern had some 157 yards in net rushing while Southern had just 12, with the totals in rushing 177 to 81.

It was the fourth defeat for the Highlanders against a single victory.

Southern lost two players, probably for the season. Rob Sharps sustained a broken bone in his right hand and Charlie Davis received a head injury. George Edwards sprained a leg muscle but after a short rest continued to play for the Huskies.

Northern is scheduled to play Mountaineer of Thomas on Saturday, October 17. It is a home game for the Huskies but will be played on the Southern gridiron. Southern Highlanders will meet Parsons at home on Friday evening, beginning at 7:30.

Paragraph Opinions

Memo To LBJ

The Federal Reserve Board's giant study of consumer net worth doesn't do much to unravel the problem of who's poor and who isn't. FRB findings on 1963 incomes show that 44 percent of all families earning less than $3,000 a year own their own homes; 39 percent have an automobile; 31 percent have some form of life insurance, annuities or retirement plans.

Twenty Billions

For no more money than the moon program is expected to cost, the country could do any one of these things:

Give every family in the United States more than $400.

Provide a transit system costing 100 million dollars for every city above 100,000 in population.

Build an anti-missile defense to protect every city in the country.

Pay off all the federal debt contracted in the last 2½ years.

Build 20,000 miles of superhighways across the country.

Retire the mortgage debt on every U. S. farm.

Make up the revenue loss, for nearly two years, from another cut in federal taxes equivalent to that voted in 1964.

Suspend all federal excise taxes for nearly 1½ years.

Pay the entire cost of military hardware procurement for 1½ years.

By picking Hubert Humphrey as his running mate, Lyndon Johnson become the first president to tap natural gas in Minnesota.

Gen. James Doolittle, retired, declared Barry Goldwater's candidacy was a "refreshing breeze on the American political scene." He continued: "We are seeing an effort to rally those who thought they might never see again a nominee of either party who would espouse and fight for the principles in which they believe. . . . to become associated with such a movement requires courage. The support Barry Goldwater has attracted and will attract in the days which remain is from those who share a belief that this may well be the last opportunity in our life time to restore some basic concepts to our body politic."

Goldwater Principles

The real issues of the campaign are defined by Sen. Barry Goldwater in an eight page advertisement in the October issue of the Reader's Digest. People who desire the truth may get it from there in condensed form. It should sway those wavering voters to vote for the Republican ticket in the November election.

Five Questions Will Appear On Ballot

Four constitutional amendments and one state-wide referendum will appear on the November ballot on which citizens will vote on Tuesday, November 3. They will vote either for or against these proposed questions whether or not they will become effective.

Herein is given an explanation of what these proposed amendments are about.

Question No. 1 proposes an amendment to Section of Article 11A of the Constitution and relates to the procedure for a county becoming a "charter county." This procedure includes the creation of a charter board which, under the present constitution has six months from the date of the election during which to propose a charter for the county. The amendment, if passed, would change the period from six months to twelve months and was proposed to give a charter board more time in which to prepare a charter for a county going through this procedure.

Question No. 2 proposes an amendment to sections 20 and 40 of Article 4 of the Constitution which would abolish the Orphans' court in Montgomery county and turn over its work to the judges of the Circuit court.

Similar proposals have been made on a state-wide basis in the past twenty-five years, people asserting most of the work was administrative and could be handled by the register of wills. All such proposals have failed previously but the present one concerns only Montgomery county.

Question 3 is an endeavor to amend Article 35 of the Declaration of Rights in the state constitution. The declaration at present says that no person at the same time may hold more than one office of profit which is created by the Constitution and laws of the state. The section applies to an "office" as distinguished from ordinary employment. The state department ruled last year a notary public was an officer within the meaning of the section and therefore a person so commissioned could not hold another office created under the constitution. The proposed amendment will say that the position of notary public is not to be considered an office of profit within the meaning of the article, and if passed would make it possible for one who held office under the constitution or laws of the state also could be a notary public.

Question 4 proposes to revise the present sessions of the general assembly. Since 1950 the General Assembly has had alternate 90 and 30-day sessions, with the long session in odd years and the short session in even years. The short sessions were established mainly for budgetary purposes. The legislature is recommending this change. Although supposedly limited to budget matters, the short sessions were used for much legislation which could not be adequately studied in the limited time. The legislature is recommending an annual 70-day session with no restrictions as to type of legislation. It would increase the days in session from 120 to 140 in a two-year period. The proposed amendment also contains provisions of salary change from $1,800 to $2,400, changing inauguration date of governor to fourth Wednesday in January, making nomination of civil officers appointed by the governor mandatory no later than the 13th day of the session, prevention of introducing measures in last 28 calendar days, and requiring governor to submit his budget on first day of the session, or in case of a newly elected governor, not later than ten days after convening.

Question 5 is a statewide referendum concerning adding a new section to the state code and repealing a section. The changes were passed by the legislature but the act was petitioned to referendum.

The law made it unlawful because of race, creed, color or national origin of any person to refuse or deny any such person any of the facilities or privileges of a place of public accommodation. Garrett county was one of eleven counties exempted from the 1963 act. The 1964 law would make it state-wide, would not prohibit denying service for failure to conform to regular requirements, regulations, so long as the denial was not based upon discrimination of race, color, creed, or national origin. It makes it unlawful to receive remuneration of any kind for participation in racial demonstrations.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Carolyn Sue Beckman, who passed away, October 8, 1962.
Quick and suddenly came the call,
Her sudden death surprised us all.
Dearer to memory than words can tell,
The loss of our granddaughter we loved so well.
In Heaven she will be waiting,
There to greet us in a little while and so
With the pain that goes with parting
It's a comfort just to know.
So sadly missed by her grandperents,
Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Emerson Thomas, Jr., who passed away 17 years ago, October 6, 1947.
Our family circle was broken when you were called away.
We will never forget the tragedy of that day
The years pass swiftly, life goes on
And the memory of the one we loved
Becomes more precious with each new dawn.
Time has not healed the heartache
Or filled the empty place
But God has helped us with his Divine Grace
We always think of you dear loved one
And say a silent prayer
That God will make our family Circle
Complete again in Heaven above.
Sadly missed by Mother and Dad

Fright Misplaced . . .

ganized opposition by Goldwater supporters to doctrines that were accepted when the New Deal came into power in the 1930's and have been dominant ever since with the exception of Eisenhower administration the belief in the majesty of big government as the cure-all of everything unpleasant. According to David Lawrence, editor of U. S. News, the New Deal wants to be left alone to spend and spend, borrow and borrow, tax and tax. Barry Goldwater and millions of others want to stop what they are convinced is a really dangerous trend for America.

Barry Goldwater's voice is "frightening" only to those who want to keep a strangehold on government by coercion so they can continue their fiscal irresponsibility, their softness on communism, their give-away programs, their trend toward an outright dictatorship; and utter disregard for constitutional methods.

And what could be more frightening than the knowledge that if Johnson were elected and something would happen to him, we would have Hubert Humphrey as president of the United States, one of the most liberal of all liberals, with outright socialistic leanings, a supporter of ADA? Just the thought of that possibility is extremely frightening and should cause every voter to think twice before casting their vote for the Democratic ticket this year.

America's Pharmacists Plan National Week-Long Observance

October 4 marked the beginning of the week-long observance, National Pharmacy Week, sponsored annually by the American Pharmaceutical Association. Many of the 123 thousand pharmacists in 54 thousand community pharmacies across the nation will feature special displays and exhibits explaining the role of pharmacy in the protection of the general public health. Pharmacists practicing in hospitals, government and industry will join with their fellow community practitioners in the week-long observance.

Robert J. Gillespie, immediate Past President, American Pharmaceutical Association, explained, "today's pharmacist is closer to the public than any other health professional, and he serves his patrons as a family health advisor as well as their medication expert." Pharmacist Gillespie pointed out that with the numerous health aids and proprietary preparations available without a prescription order, the public may often unnecessarily jeopardize its health. "By having a personal pharmacist," Mr. Gillespie said, "and obtaining all drugs including proprietary preparations from him, the average person can avoid this hazard."

Mr. Gillespie emphasized, "a personal visit with your community pharmacist during National Pharmacy Week will be an enlightening experience."

If you were to witness the control room activity of a missile shoot you might marvel at the dials, controls, connections and message-sending apparatus necessary to get the bird off its pad. However, the body you pack around so matter-of-factly contains a control and message system so complex as to make a missile effort look like kindergarten stuff.

The body contains billions of connections. Around the outside of the cerebrum, the largest part of the brain, are about nine billion neurons. Since it is necessary for each of these cells to make connection with several other cells, you can readily understand the fantastic number of connections involved in this one area of the human system.

You can readily understand, also, the growing importance of prescriptions in the cure or relief of human ailments. Prescriptions are a specialty at PROUDFOOT'S OAKLAND PHARMACY, 106 South Second Street, phone 334-3913.

Capitol Comment

By Rep. Charles McC. Mathias

The Mathias Report — — Four Years in Congress

As the end of this session of Congress approaches, slowly but inevitably, the time comes to report to the people of the Sixth District on the activities that I have conducted here in Washington on their behalf. This is, of course, one of the most important duties of a Congressman. Simply to be here in Washington and vote on various issues is only part of the job. It is essential in a Representative type of Government that the people of the Sixth District - my constituents, my friends who sent me to Washington — should share as much of the thinking and as much of the reasoning and logic that has gone into the action in Washington as is humanly possible.

The Mathias Report

At the end of a session and particularly when Congress is about to adjourn "sine die", there is a particular responsibility to make available to all of the people a report on my trusteeship during the time that I have been serving you. Accordingly, I have prepared a 30-page report on the four years I have spent in Congress. This report, I believe, is one of the most exhaustive studies that has ever been made available by a Member of Congress on activities of your Congressional Office in areas of constituent services. The things that we do for the Sixth District of Maryland to help them get along with their government in Washington.

Availability To News Media

It covers some of the information gathering activities which are necessary to an intelligent job in the Congress . . . some of the things which many of you have seen me do around the Sixth District in getting first hand impressions of the needs of our District and of our State of Maryland.

It includes a section on all of the major legislation upon which I voted or upon which I have taken some position. Obviously a report of this magnitude is difficult to produce in large quantities. Therefore, I am making it available to the communications media and the public information media throughout the Sixth District — every station, every television station, and every newspaper which has circulation in the Sixth District, will receive a copy of this report. I hope that in this way the facts and the actual events which have characterized my four years in Congress will be made available to you.

Four Year Record Covered

This report covers topics such as the record on Agriculture, on Governmental appropriations, on the Economy and Job Opportunities — which is a section of great importance to many parts of the Sixth District of Maryland. It covers my record with respect to Government Employees and to their conditions of employment including salary. It covers my record on the question of individual liberty — one of the most important questions in America today. It covers the record on International Affairs, on National Defense, on Natural Resources and on Preparation for Peace.

In the Report there is a section on my position on Reapportionment which, I think, is well known to most of you. . . .on Social Security and Health Legislation . . . on Veterans and Servicemen . . . and the Washington Metropolitan Area.

City Council Asked To Vacate Dump Site

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has been asked to vacate the city dump site as of October 15, it was learned Monday evening following the regular meeting of the council. The request was made by the Pennsylvania Electric company, from whom the property has been leased for about ten years. It was used for about thirty years prior to that time.

The disposal of garbage and refuse will be made at the site of the county dump on the upper road to Swallow Falls, or the Sang Run road, about four miles from Oakland. This area was used for a strip mine operation.

In other business Monday R. T. Thayer was before the council in regard to curbing around the site of the future facility for the Garrett National bank on Green street, where a drive-in place will be erected. Council also agreed to extend the city water line for 235 feet in the Davis Addition to the town, along Coolidge avenue and Sincell street.

A permit was granted for an addition in rear of the Leighton-Durst Funeral home, size 36 by 40, brick veneer, with an approximate cost of $25,000.

Mayor Russell Smith pointed out that chemists from the Chester Engineers had made a number of tests of the water within recent days and that all tests were satisfactory with the water clear.

Receipts for September totaled $2,156.81. There was $953.30 for income tax and $261.46 for road work. Expentures totaled $9,442.21, with $1,056 for street labor, $1,399.16 for street supplies, and $1,280.66 for water department supplies. The report showed a balance of $16,169.88 after September bills were paid.

Police Nab Pair; One A County Teen-Ager

A county teenager and a Baltimore man were being held this week by Maryland State police in connection with several minor larceny cases.

Being detained was Herman A. West, 23, Baltimore, and a 16-year-old Jennings youth.

Tfc. Bernard Chabot, criminal investigator for the Maryland State police, said formal charges were placed against the two.

The case developed last Saturday evening when Tfc. Chabot spotted the pair running along U. S. route 40, at Red Hill. The trooper stopped and grabbed West. However the teenager dashed into a wooded area and was arrested later walking along route 40 about a mile east of Frostburg.

Investigation revealed that the pair stole beer from the Foodland in LaVale; removed two bicycles from in front of Grant's store, LaVale plaza; took cigarettes from the Acme Market and the Village Dairy, LaVale shopping center; took an automobile battery from the Edwards Service center in this county; removed an auto tire and wheel from Lee Warner, of Baltimore Pike; stole two gallons of anti-freeze from a Meyersdale store and jacked up and removed two tires and wheels from a car parked in the LaVale shopping center, owned by Clarence Edward Kurtz, Cumberland.

Police said most of the stolen property had been recovered.

Mercury Dips to 17

The thermometer dropped officially to 17 degrees yesterday morning for one of the lowest temperatures in the area in at least 12 years for this season of the year.

Another drop last night made it three nights in a row for 20 degrees or lower. Some thermometers in the area registered 14 degrees early Wednesday. As a result leaves have been dropping profusely, rapidly depleting the trees of their foliage.

A quick run-down of the week's weather showed the following:

There was some rain on Thursday night with Friday starting off with the temperature around 50 degrees, and cloudy. There was a further sprinkling with alternate clearing and cloudy weather. The temperature got up to 77 by 4 p. m. Saturday was sunny and moderate, Sunday cool and cloudy. Weather continued cool on Monday with the mercury at 43 at 9 a. m. The air cleared and the thermometer dropped to 19 degrees Tuesday morning. Some thermometers went down to 15 degrees. Wednesday morning was again clear and cold with official reading of 17. There was some moderation during the day. This morning was again cold with the mercury down to around 20.

WVU enrollment topped 10,000 mark for first time. Figures included Morgantown campus, Parkersburg branch and Kanawha Valley graduate center.

More Autumn Glory Trips This Week-end

The second and third autumn glory trips are scheduled for this week-end with both excursions practically sold out.

The first excursion arrived last Sunday around noon with a full trainload. The tour went according to schedule except that when the visitors arrived at the Deep Creek Lake state park there was no ski-show, as planned, due to weather conditions. Skies had cloud cover.

One excursion is due Saturday at noon and another one Sunday at noon.

There were 778 persons on last Sunday's train. Some 500 are expected this Saturday and 832 on Sunday.

Four-H clubs will have cider, candy and turkey sandwiches for sale at a Swallow Falls booth.

To Construct Lime Reclamation Plant Near Bloomington

Officials of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke mill and the Mineral County (Commissioners), in a joint statement, announced plans for construction of a $4 million lime reclaiming plant in Beryl, Mineral County, West Virginia, adjacent to Bloomington.

The site preparation for the new plant will start immediately and construction will take some 15 months to complete with anticipated start-up time in the fall of 1965.

The big lime kiln is being financed and built under the provisions of the West Virginia state industrial development bond act.

The kiln itself will be a 13-foot by 320-foot rotating unit in which the lime used in the paper mill's pulping process will be reclaimed. The new unit will have three times the operating capacity of the present kiln. The entire group of structures will consist of the lime kiln and necessary tankage, lime slakers, clarifiers, filters and conveyors that must be built to supply the kiln. A siding off the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will be constructed into the site to provide for the necessary unloading facilities of limestone shipments.

The contract for preliminary grading and site clearance is expected to be let within a matter of days after which the contract for the necessary pile work will be let. The main contract for construction of the plant will follow.

The building complex, which will be owned by Mineral County, is to be leased to West Virginia Pulp and Paper. The revenue from the lease will be used to retire the bonds. West Virginia Pulp and Paper intends to purchase the entire bond issue.

Observe "Employ Handicapped" Week

Employ the Physically Handicapped Week is being observed in the county area October 4 to 11, along with other area throughout the country.

The local committee includes Hugh Denison, Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Milburn W. Mann, Charles L. Briner, Tom Butscher and Robert Stemple, Oakland; and C. O. Bender, Grantsville.

Mr. Denison said seventeen handicapped persons had been gainfully employed during the past year and that 23 were available at the present time for employment.

Governor J. Millard Tawes issued a proclamation on the week to focus attention to the need for a statewide support program designed to increase opportunities in employment for the handicapped men and women.

It was pointed out some 23,603 such citizens had been rehabilitated to productive employment in Maryland since the program began twenty years ago.

One Road Fatality In Two Counties

The August report of the Maryland State police listed just one fatal accident in the two-county area, the mishap occurring August 19 in this count.

Victim of the fatal highway crash was Lt. Col. Thomas B. Dunne, 46, army medical corps officer and one-time health officer in this county.

He was killed when he apparently lost control of his vehicle while negotiating a left curve on Lake Shore drive. Police said Col. Dunne's auto ran off the road, swerved back across the highway and rammed into a tree.

The report showed a total of 38 highway accidents investigated that month in Garrett county with 16 persons suffering personal injuries, aside from the fatal mishap.

In Allegany county 126 highway accidents were investigated with 57 persons injured, none fatally.

This county's fatal accident was one of 56 traffic deaths in Maryland in August. The eight month total now is 360, an eight percent reduction over last year's figure for the same period.

Congress adjourned its 88th session October 3.

Six Persons Killed On State Highways

Six persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Four of those killed were drivers and two were passengers.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths; speed in two; and "driver error" was present in all six of the fatalities.

The record up to midnight of October 4 is better than for the same period in 1963. This year 411 were killed, as compared with 450 last year.

Mathias Says Hanson Wrong on His Record

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, Rep.-Md., called a new conference last Friday to pass out to reporters what he titled "The Mathias Report" in reply to accusations made by his Democratic opponent. Mathias said his opponent, Royce Hanson, has been "outright wrong" in several instances.

Hanson, an American university political science professor, seeking to unseat the two-term Mathias in the 6th Maryland district, had listed what he said was Mathias' position on various issues in a campaign document which he called "Mac the Myth" sheet.

Mathias said he voted for the tax cut bill, the water pollution control measure, the minimum wage bill and the library services act and that he voted to set up the area redevelopment program but was against proposed expansion of this program because he thought the money was not being used entirely in depressed areas. Mathias said there has been no change in his position concerning Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee. In early August Mathias said he would support all Republican nominees. He said he believes it is his responsibility to work within the party for the things he believes to be right. "I believe my effectiveness would be reduced by leaving the party," he said. He declared "I am not a shirttail candidate. I am running on my own record." The Mathias report on his four years in congress runs 30 pages.

Owls Club Raided By West Virginia Police

West Virginia state police and deputies of the Sheriff's department raided three county clubs in Preston county last Saturday around midnight and confiscated a slot machine and quantities of intoxicating liquor. Corporal R. L. Mozingo set up the raids.

Aiding local authorities were a number of state police officers assigned to Kingwood for the Buckwheat Festival.

The three clubs raided were the Owls clubs of Corinth and Indian Rocks and the Fairfax Inn at Reedsville.

Five were arrested, entered pleas of guilty before Magistrate Jessie Wolfe, of Terra Alta, paid fines and costs and were released.

At the Owls Club at Corinth about a miles west of the Maryland line, a gaming device was found and also intoxicating liquors. Arrested were Willard Lee on a charge of having liquor for sale and also possession of a gaming device. He was fined $100 and costs for the slot machine and $150 and costs for possession of intoxicating liquor. Also arrested at the same place was Marie DeWitt for illegal sale of liquor. She was fined $150 and costs.

Maryland farmers received $290 million for their products during 1963. Government payments during the year added $5.2 million to the total.

MEDICINES AND DRIVING DON'T ALWAYS MIX
Consult your physician about the side effects of any medicine prescribed for you. They may affect your driving ability. Even certain commonly used drugs like antihistamines, cold tablets and sedatives may dull your reflexes or lessen co-ordination.
Avoid alcoholic drinks while taking medication. The double impact may dangerously affect driving skill. Do not ever take sleeping pills the night before a trip. Their effect may handicap you the next morning.

NOTICE

The Lord willing, a Bible study will be given in the Dunkard Brethren Church at Swallow Falls, Md., October 14 and 15 at 7:30 p. m. on The Mystery of the Church and Bible Discipline by Elder Ernest L. Miller of Harrisonburg, Va.

Please come, please pray for us.

WATCH FOR THE SIGNS

Mike was lucky! He lost his way completely along the thickly-wooded roads during his vacation last summer until suddenly he came upon a small service station. The friendly attendant told him he was only a short distance from the lake. "Just watch for the signs," the man said.

It's easy to get lost . . . it could happen to anyone. At times, our lives get so confused that we don't know which way to turn, and we feel that nobody cares. When that happens, just watch for the signs.

What signs? Well, there's the fragant beauty of a rose, the laugh of a child, the glory of sonrise, the sound of great music . . . signs all around that point to the constant presence of God who loves us.

The Christian Church is the most important sign of all . . . created solely to reveal a new and meaningful way of life to all who seek it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Why Jesus Came

Lesson for October 11, 1964

Background Scripture: I Timothy 1:12 through 2:15.
Devotional Reading: John 10:7-18.

WHEN we ask the question Why? we can mean either one of two things by it. One "Why?" looks backward the other forward. Imagine a straight line with an arrow at each end, one pointing right the other left. Let the straight line represent any event, let us say your grandfather's moving to Alaska. Now if I ask, "Why did your grandfather move to Alaska?" I can mean either: What was the cause of your grandfather's move? or, for what purpose did your grandfather move? Now, if we let that line stand for the coming of Jesus Christ to this world, "Why did Jesus come?" can mean What was the cause, What were the causes, or What was the purpose, What were the purposes? In this week's study we ask the second question. For what purpose did Jesus come?

Dr. Foreman

To save sinners

The first answer, which includes most others, is that Jesus came "to save sinners." Let's not skip over that as if we knew what it meant already. It suggests a great deal, and points up some of the differences between Christian and other religions. Some religions deny that man, any man, is a sinner. Communism, which is a kind of religion in reverse, gives up the notions of "right" and "wrong" for the simpler ideas of "correct" and "incorrect." Even if the words "good" and "bad" are used, they do not refer to God at all, for the communist recognizes no God. One may offend man but not God, they say. There are people who behave unpleasantly, but none who sin. For sin is a religious word, a word with God in the background.

To be a bridge

Another reason for which Jesus came—and comes every day—into this world, is to be a "Mediator." There is one mediator between God and men, Paul says,—himself man, Christ Jesus. The gulf between man and God seems too deep and too wide to be spanned. Man looked across and could see nothing but darkness and mystery. The Hebrews themselves, who knew much that is true about God when they built a temple, left one room in it without a window and without even a place to set a lamp. This dark room was God's room, its darkness symbolizing man's ignorance of God. It was written in the Old Testament that God said, "No man shall see my face and live." The Apostle John in the New Testament speaks of God as one whom "no man has seen at any time"; and in this same letter to Timothy God is one whom "no man has seen nor can see." (I. Timothy 6:16 How terribly discouraging this is. Unless somehow this gulf of darkness is crossed, we are doomed to be forever separated from God.

To give himself

Jesus, we say, revealed God. He did this in words, in his teachings. By the way he talked about God, yes and the way he talked to God, Jesus opens for all who will look, windows into the character and purposes of God. But the unique and amazing thing about Jesus is that he not only gave us information,—the prophets had done that; he gave himself. He was not merely a wise man who told us much about God we did not know. He offered himself as a sacrifice, for our sakes. He is the Bridge; one who is not only a sharer of wisdom and truth, but one who shares our sorrows and even takes on himself the burdens and shame of our sins. He gave his wisdom, his time, his courage, his faith, his love; and in giving these things he was giving himself. Christ, in short, belongs to us.

Colaw Is Probable Starter for Game With Pitt Saturday

Coach Gene Corum, of the West Virginia Moontaineers indicated earlier this week that senior Ron Colaw would probably start at fullback in place of Leftridge because of Colaw's standout performance against Rice Saturday at Houston, Texas, despite WVJ's 24-0 loss.

Colaw, a 200-pounder from Oakland, gained 85 yards in 19 carries to take honors as the game's leading ground gainer. He started largely because of Leftridge's knee injury, but Corum said Leftridge could have played if needed. He was not because Colaw was doing so well. Leftridge got in the game for just one play.

The West Virginians were unable to score against Rice even after it got a finst down on the five yard line, then couldn't punch it over on two plays from the two-yard line.

Saturday's game with Pitt will be the 47th in that series which has seen West Vihginia win five of the last eight games in Pitt stadium.

4 ways to take the strain out of city driving

1. Don't waste time trying to save time. A famous Indianapolis racing car driver once made a series of driving tests in cities all over the country. Each test included two trips over the same city route during peak traffic periods. The routes were between two and four miles.

On the first trip, he drove normally.

On the next trip, he used every professional driving technique in the book to save time.

The difference between trips averaged less than 60 seconds.

Moral: One of the best ways to ease the strain of driving in the city is simply, don't rush.

Allow yourself plenty of time to get where you're going. Then add an extra 10 or 15 minutes for traffic jams. If traffic is light, you might even get there early.

2. Take some of the stop out of stop-and-go driving. One trick is to look ahead and spot red lights before you are on top of them. If you start slowing down a half block away, many red lights will change before you have to come to a full stop. This is not only easier on your patience. It saves gasoline and brakes.

Progressive traffic signals on long avenues in many cities can save you even more stops. They are timed to let you sail through one green light after another just by maintaining a steady speed.

The secret is to find the right speed. Twenty-five miles an hour usually works. Sometimes the correct speed is posted right below the traffic light.

3. Don't be the cork in a traffic bottleneck. You'll get horns blaring at you from all sides if you get caught in a jammed intersection when the light changes. That's tough on your nerves—and risky.

Make it a point not to enter an intersection, even on a green light, unless you see you've got enough room on the other side to clear the pedestrian crosswalk.

Be careful when you are making a turn, too. With a lot of traffic behind you, signal early (at least 100 feet before you turn) and pull into the proper lane as soon as you can. Then, if you have to wait to turn, you won't bottle up the cars behind you, and start a horn-blowing serenade.

4. Watch for early warning signals. One of the tricks of safe city driving is to spot trouble before it starts.

In heavy traffic, watch for winking taillights on cars well up ahead—four, five, even six cars in front. They tell you somebody is putting on his brakes, and you may be in for a sudden stop.

Watch out for parked cars, taxis and buses. A smoking tailpipe, or a front wheel turned toward the street, may be the tip-off that someone is ready to pull out in front of you.

Let a Shell dealer take one big worry out of city driving. Nothing's more upsetting than car trouble in heavy city traffic. But at any Shell station we can help prevent it.

When we give your car a Shellubrication,® we inspect its vital running parts automatically. We scout for oil and water leaks, check brakes, tires, lights, battery.

So stop in soon and let us give your car a complete Shellubrication.
